WASHINGTON—Earl O. Shreve (right) is sworn in as National Director of the United States Savings Bonds Division by Treasury Department by Chief Justice Warren. Holding the Bible for the ceremony is Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey.

Introducing the Chief Justice at the Treasury, Secretary Humphrey said: "Chief Justice Warren's indicative of the support of the Savings Bonds program at the very highest levels of the Government. More than 40 million individuals own $6 billion in these Bonds. The continued American investment in these Bonds through the sale of public debt and so contributes to our goal of sound money. It also develops the virtues of thrift and savings—virtues which have made America great."

Mr. Shreve, of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, formerly vice-president of the General Electric Company in charge of sales and of customer relations, came out of retirement to serve the Nation in the promotion of thrift through the sale of Savings Bonds. Among his many public services were two terms as president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Night Driving Is Dangerous

"Beware of the man who claims he makes better time driving at night," J. T. Outlaw, executive vice president, North Carolina Motor Carriers association, warned today.

"I don't mean you should try to make a liar out of him, but before you try to follow his example, find out just how he does it."

Mr. Outlaw explained that the trucking industry sponsors a year-round courtesy and safety campaign and for October this campaign deals with night driving.

"The lighter traffic at night misleads many drivers. The only advantage it offers is to reduce the time needed to get through larger cities where daytime congestion is a major problem and source of delay," he continued.

The man who uses lighter traffic as an excuse for higher speed at night is headed for trouble. The record shows that the night fatality rate is consistently three times the daytime rate. Reduced visibility at night increases the chances of a serious accident," he observed.

Before tackling an all-night drive, Mr. Outlaw advised drivers to weigh any advantages offered by light traffic against:

1. Reduced visibility resulting in less warning of impending danger.
2. The probability that you will not get sufficient rest before starting, thereby increasing the danger of falling asleep at the wheel.
3. The necessity of holding speed to a point where you can see danger in time to stop.

"Sub-Zero" Steels

Pressure vessels for chemical processes operated at temperatures as low as 150 degrees below zero Fahrenheit are made of nickel alloy steel since ordinary steel becomes brittle at such low temperatures. Other special nickel-containing materials permit the use of such vessels at temperatures below minus 300 degrees Fahrenheit.

Rice Selects His All-Time Backs

Selected by Grantland Rice, dean of American sports reporter, this is the all-time all-American backfield.

It is headed by James C. Thorpe, the Carlisle star who is still ranked by most experts as the world's greatest athlete.

The selection: Jim C. Thorpe. Possibly the greatest all-round athlete in American sports history, Jim Thorpe starred as brilliantly in football as in track or baseball. Playing for the Carlisle Indians in 1908, 1911 and 1912, he was a fast, crashing ball carrier and a bruising tackler. Selected All-American in 1911 and 1912, he racked up 198 points in a single season (1912)—a record exceeded only once in modern football.

George Gipp.

Notre Dame 1917, 1918, 1919, 1920. Two weeks after the "Great Gipper" was selected by Walter Camp as Notre Dame's first All-American he died of a strep throat in South Bend, Ind., cutting short one of the most amazing football careers in history. Gipp, a reluctant football recruit, starred in his first game when, against Kalamazoo, he drop-kicked a 62-yard field goal. From then on his great running, passing and kicking led Notre Dame teams culminating in a smashing 27-17 win over Army in 1920. In 1919 and 1920, Notre Dame was undefeated and rated Champions of the West.

Bronko Nagurski.

University of Minnesota, 1927, 1928, 1929, 1930. Nagurski was one of the hardest runners of all time—so hard, that it has been said he ran his own interference. His 230 pounds pulverized some of the best lines in history. Nagurski has the distinction of having been picked as All-American for two positions, both full-back and tackle, on the same team in 1929.

Clint Frank.

Yale 1935, 1936, 1937. One of the great Yale backs of history, Clint Frank was an outstanding broken-field runner and passer—and played a rugged game of defense as well. During his three years of varsity play, Frank completed 59 passes, scored 20 touchdowns, and gained a total of 2135 yards. In 1937, against Dartmouth, he completed 9 passes for a total 132 yards and, in the same year he ran 79 yards and 51 yards against Princeton in the driving rain—both for touchdowns.

Sam (Slingshot) Baugh.

Texas Christian University, 1934, 1935, 1936. I rate Sammy Baugh as one of the smartest quarterbacks that ever played as well as one of the greatest passers. In 1935 Baugh's passing figured in the scoring of every game TCU played. In steady action for 20 years—going from college to stardom on the Washington Redskins—he has stood up under more rough

Vicar's Corner

The Rev. W. Scott Root.

One hears so much about sin in modern times; there is so much depression and anxiety springing from feelings of guilt and self-condemnation; and yet God has given so much grace to withstand sin and so much forgiveness to overcome it that I want to write a few words about sin and forgiveness.

Sin, with a capital 'S', means, quite simply, separation from God. In other words, individual sins, with a small 's', are those actions or thoughts which separate us from God, no matter what they may be. For example, our Lord said it is easier for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the Kingdom of heaven. This is not a condemnation of wealth, but rather a warning that a person concerned only with the accumulation of things in this world is putting something between himself and God. It is separating him from God, if he puts possessions first.

So with any sin—the seriousness of it may be measured by the extent to which it separates the sinner from his God, from God's will for him.

But there lived a man once who did nothing at any time which separated him from the Father. His will and God's will were at all times one and the same. He was the God-man, Jesus. Now because He was always One with God, and because He is our representative, and because He died on a cross and offered Himself for us, we can have the same unity with God that He had—not perfect of course, but potentially so. That's what forgiveness means—reuniting ourself with the power of Christ.

This power Christ gave to men for all time in the extension of Himself, the Church. It is in the Church that we may find forgiveness through the Sacraments and the Word.

And it's absolutely free!

FEWER FARM FOLKS

...but more farm telephones

Since the end of World War II, rural telephone construction has surged ahead at a record-breaking pace. Today over half a million rural phones are served by Southern Bell, and new ones are going in at the rate of 6,500 a month.

This record of rural progress is even more amazing when you consider that the South's farm population has actually decreased, largely due to mechanized and more efficient farming methods.

But farmers need and use the telephone more than ever before. That's why providing them more and better service is one of our most important jobs.

BIG SHEETS

up to 8' x 14'

WHY HAVE CRACKED OR FALLING PLASTER?

The average wall is covered in one piece by a single Big Sheet of Homasote. You gain structural strength and high insulating value. You have a perfect base for paint or wall paper.

Perhaps most important of all, your home is forever free from annoyances and dangers of cracked or falling plaster.

Let us give you the full story of Homasote—the oldest and strongest insulating and building board on the market—one of the most useful of all building materials. Permanently weatherproof, you can use it for interior walls, for exterior finish and for every sheathing need.

Here's the modern way to sheathe a wall

Why use 6-inch or 8-inch strips— or even 4-foot widths—when you can sheathe an 8-foot by 14-foot area with one piece of material? Think of all the extra handling operations, all the unnecessary nailing operations that can be saved! And—fewer joints mean less air leakage, a tighter house.

When you sheathe with Homasote Big Sheets, you also gain in structural strength. Homasote sheathing is 270% stronger than conventional horizontal sheathing.

Let us give you the full facts.
