Baptist Retreat Okays Supreme Court Decision

Ridgecrest Baptist assembly opened its 1954 retreat with the Baptist Student Retreat June 2. There were 1600 students registered for the conference, its 28th annual meeting.

Highlights of the conference were: the majority approval of a resolution upholding the recent Supreme Court decision regarding racial segregation; the institution of a Frank H. Leavell Memorial Fund with $1000 contributed here as the initial basis for the fund.

The South Carolina Baptist Student Union was given special recognition for their sales campaign in behalf of the Baptist Student.

Nine Baptist students were honored for their "well rounded contributions to all college areas and loyalty and devotion to the college church." The students, who were pictured in the Baptist Student throughout this year are: Don Dunlap, Va.; Libba Penick, Tenn.; Haimon Miller, La.; Hobart Grooms, Ala.; Mary Monday, Mo.; Jerry Dempsey, S. C.; Peggy Saturday, Ga., and David Moore, Mo.

SENATOR LENNON REPORTS

WASHINGTON. — Shortly after noon last Friday, Judge Sam J. Ervin, Jr. of Morganton, became a United States Senator from North Carolina.

THE CEREMONY
Following the prayer which opens the Senate each day, I obtained the floor to announce that Judge Ervin's credentials were being sent forward, and I asked permission that he be given the oath of office.

We then walked down the middle aisle together to the President's desk where Vice President Nixon gave Judge Ervin the oath. Our new Senator then entered his name in the book of the Senate. It was feared for a moment that Mr. Nixon would be delayed and the President Pro-Tem, Senator Styles Bridges, was on hand to give Senator Ervin the oath. But the Vice President made it just as I was asking that Judge Ervin be sworn in.

SENATOR ERVIN
After completing the brief ceremony, it was my pleasure to introduce Senator Ervin to his colleagues. He has had service in the Congress and was already acquainted with a number of the Senators. At the back of the Senate was the North Carolina delegation of the House of Representatives to congratulate the new Senator. He certainly is well qualified to fill the office. He brings ability, dignity, character, poise and a judicial temperament to the Senate. He is eminently well prepared for service to North Carolina and the nation. It will be an honor for me to serve with Senator Ervin during the coming weeks.

LEGISLATION
It seems that the Senate leadership is now ready to move forward on a number of important bills which will be of interest to all the people of North Carolina. The important tax revision measure is soon to make its appearance on the Senate floor after having been studied for many weeks in the Finance Committee.

FAVORABLE ACTION
The Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce ordered favorably reported H. R. 8357, to amend the Standard Container Act to provide for a three-eighth-bushel measurement for fruits and vegetables. A great many people in North Carolina had favored this measurement.

LEGION MEETING
The Capitol is expecting a heavy turnout of North Carolina Legionnaires for the annual convention of the American Legion. It begins on August 30. It is estimated that this will be the largest Legion convention ever held. Reservations should be made early for this convention, Legion officials advise.

Here is a story of startling experiences for every lover of adventure. It gives a wealth of information, summed up for the reader in an appendix: plant life, fruit and other food plants, flowers, birds, animals, dangerous snakes, medicines, and an Indian vocabulary. There are maps, pictures, and an index.

This easy-to-read book is found in the Memorial section of the Black Mountain library.

The Story Behind Great Inventions by Elizabeth Rider Montgomery.

A few weeks ago, we gave you the Story Behind Musical Instruments. This week we have, for young readers especially, another Montgomery book, The Story Behind Great Inventions. The story covers a rather wide field of entertaining information on the development of the means of communication that we enjoy today, on the growth of our great industries, and on the amazing progress in transportation by land, on water, and in the air.

The book is not technical; the author calls it an introduction to some of the marvels of invention and discovery. She wants to give young people "a speaking acquaintance" with the inventions that affect nearly everything we use in our daily lives.

Those readers interested in going into the subject of inventions more deeply will find at the end of the book a general bibliography of 36 sources that directs readers to more intensive study.

The combined value of lint and cotton seed for North Carolina's 1953 cotton crop, at $83,606,000, was down 29 per cent from the $118,488,000 value of the 1952 crop.

United States farmers placed 47 per cent of the 1953 wheat crop, 41 per cent of the cotton crop, and 29 per cent of the peanut crop under the federal price support program.

DELEGATION
A large delegation of friends from Burke County and other sections of North Carolina, as well as here in Washington, were on hand to witness the administering of the oath. They were seated in a special section in the gallery along with the family of Senator Ervin. It is a splendid tribute to a person when his home folks back him up. Following the ceremony, a luncheon was given in the Capitol in honor of the new Senator and his family.

Senator Ervin has been assigned to the Senate committees on the District of Columbia and Government Operations.

LIBRARY NEWS
The Rivers Ran East by Leonard Clark.
Last month we introduced to Black Mountain readers The Silent World, a story of daring feats by three "men fish." In contrast, we have for you now a story of breath-taking exploits in South America in the largest unexplored regions on earth, the Gran Pajonal of Peru and the disputed territory of the upper Amazon region. Leonard Clark, the author and explorer, an employee of our government in World War II spy work, is making a search for the gold region made famous as Eldorado by 16th-century Spanish explorers. He takes the longest way around and makes a study of savage life, particularly of the medicines used by the witch doctors. The reader travels with him from Lima, Peru to La Merced by train and thence by dugouts and rafts, shooting rapids along the Gran Pajonal jungle, to Atalaya where there is a bit of respite in a Franciscan mission; thence by easier stages north to Iquitos where the going becomes rough again on the Amazon, through the land of headhunters to Borja and across the Andes to Bellavista.
