Thousands Visit Roanoke Island

MANTEO, N. C., July 12.—The "birthplace of Virginia Dare," first child of English-parentage born in America, the "birthplace of modern aviation," where the Wright Brothers flew first in a heavier than air powered machine on Dec. 17, 1903 and "the graveyard of the Atlantic," the far-famed Cape Hatteras region where hundreds of ships have been lost through the years, are now National Park units attracting people from all over the country and world.

They came to the coast of Dare to visit Fort Raleigh, a National Historic Site, the spot where Virginia Dare was born, and where her parents and the little band of English men and women disappeared to become The Lost Colony. Last month more than 12,000 persons visited the National Historic site. Last year, more than 150,000 persons visited this shrine.

The historic site is near Manteo on Roanoke Island. Children were reared in Africa, attended college in the U.S.A. and at different times were members of the Ridgcrest Assembly staff.

Dr. and Mrs. Green spent the summers in Miami, Fla., and the summers at Ridgcrest. Captain N. L. Perkins, Jr., radar instructor with the U. S. Jet Force, visiting his parents here last week, left Sunday for a new assignment at Fairbanks, Alaska.

Mrs. Perkins and the children, N. L. Perkins III, Marybeth and John, returned to Miami, Fla., and the children, N. L. Perkins III, Marybeth and John, returned to Miami, Fla., and the children, N. L. Perkins III, Marybeth and John, returned to Miami, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Perkins at "Dreams End" until their housing can be arranged for in Fairbanks at which time they will join Captain Perkins. Guests last week at Dreams End were Miss Corabelle Ives, Mrs. Lucy Colerain, Mrs. Ethel Hooks, Smithfield, Mrs. Ben Gamons and son from Boston.

Mr. Jake P. Edmunds, secretary of the Department of Survey and Statistics of the Southern Baptist convention, brought a fine message to the boys at Camp Ridgcrest Sunday morning on the topic "What Shall I Take Down From the Mountains?"

Among other things he told the boys to take with them memories, achievements, appreciation, and above all and over all take Christ and let Him be our best friend. It was a great message by a great layman. This was the last Sunday morning service of the first session of Camp Ridgcrest for Boys.

Dr. John Maguire, secretary of missions for Florida, Jacksonville, was guest at our church Sunday. The attendance at Bible school Sunday was 174 at the church; 200 at Camp Ridgcrest for Boys; and 3,198 at the Assembly. The total was 3,568.

Guests of Mrs. Edith Beam and her sister Miss Mary Ward at the Galax Lodge this week are Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fore, Atlanta, Ga. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burnett returned last week from a visit with Mrs. Burnett's family in Vermont.

They traveled 3,000 miles by way of Raleigh, Norfolk, Richmond, Philadelphia, New York, the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania, Hyde Park, where they visited Roosevelt Library and mansion, saw President Roosevelt's grave and other interesting points along the way.

The staff boys at Nibble Nook played the boys of the kitchen crew Saturday night at the Camp Ridgcrest gymnasium. The score was 58-42 in favor of the kitchen boys. We guess the kitchen brand of ice cream carries more power than the Nibble Nook brand. Any way, something helped the boys from the kitchen.

Attendance at the Baptist Training union at the assembly Sunday night was 3,087. Camp Merri-Mac girls were a "Merry set" Saturday night when the last ball went into the basket to the tune of 55 to 22 against the girls from Ridgcrest assembly. If they keep that up we'll send our team of counselors from Camp Ridgcrest for Boys to play Merri-Mac.

Returning from Vermont, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burnett visited the Pocono mountains in Pennsylvania where Mr. Burnett goes once a year hunting deer. Not one deer did they see. Coming home they stopped at their Toe River camp on Mount Mitchell and while Fred was snoozing on a couch in the living room of the cabin, Mrs. Burnett's keen eyes saw through the window something bouncing along the path by the cabin. Taking a closer peep, she counted seven deer pass the cabin. "After all," she said, "there are no mountains like our North Carolina mountains, and no deer like the fawns that play around our Toe River cabin."

Mr. T. C. Crosland is recovering from a serious accident he suffered from a power mower which plowed into his hand one day last week. Mrs. A. F. Gardella, Long Island, N. Y., spent Saturday with her mother Mrs. Lillie Ballentine and her sister Mrs. Roy L. May. Guests Wednesday of last week of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jolley were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goodwin and Mr. W. T. Hall, Durham. Mr. and Mrs. Jolley spent Tuesday with his sister Mrs. Cordelia King in Brevard. Mrs. King observed her 70th birthday anniversary Monday.

The average price paid by North Carolina farmers for all mixed dairy feed was up five cents per hundred pounds during the month ended April 15, 1954.
