goodness, faith, meekness, temperance; against such there is no law."

The blessings bestowed on man by God, divine Spirit, will also be brought out in readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, including the following: (78:28-30): "Spirit blesses man, but man cannot tell whence it cometh." By it the sick are healed, the sorrowing are comforted, and the sinning are reformed.

From the Bible, the following passage will be among those read (1 John 4:24): "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

SENATOR LENNON REPORTS

WASHINGTON. — The Senate did not meet the original deadline of adjournment on July 31.

A Busy Week. The lengthy debate on the Atomic Energy bill ended after 13 days of discussion which included four all-night sessions. There were a number of amendments passed by the Senate, and I supported these amendments because I honestly believe they make the bill better and protect the public's interests, and at the same time they prevent government monopoly. The bill passed by a vote of 58-27. I voted for it.

Atomic Energy. This new secret of nature, atomic energy, has the greatest potential for good if we can prevent the world's greedy nations from using it for aggression. The great storehouse of energy in the atom must be used to help defend our way of life and at the same time it is important to further develop it for domestic peace-time uses.

The Tax Bill. We passed the tax bill last week after Senate and House conferees had worked out some differences that existed in the two versions of the bill. While there are a few minor features about the bill that I would like to have seen changed; it is, I am convinced, a fairly good tax bill on the whole. I had hoped for more individual tax relief than the bill provides. It was my opinion that reductions in foreign economic aid could offset any loss of revenue that tax relief would bring about. All in all, this problem of taxation and budget balancing is one that will plague future Congresses. It must be met and some way worked out to balance our national budget if our country is to remain free and independent.

Syngman Rhee. I attended the Joint Senate and House session to hear President Syngman Rhee of South Korea speak. He made a moving address, appealing to the free world not to trust communism at all and urging action now to eliminate the menace of aggressive communism. He is an old man. He has been tortured, but his eyes shine with the enthusiastic light of patriotism.

Homeward Bound. It now appears that the session will be ending soon. As this is written, there are a number of major bills yet to be acted upon. We are now debating Mutual Security. Next to come is the farm bill which will take some time.

I plan to return to North Carolina and visit among the people during the remaining months of my term as Senator, making necessary trips back to the office here in Washington. This will give me a little time to spend with my family whom I have missed so much during the past year.

This has been an eventful year for me. It is a difficult job to serve in the Senate. It is an honor that should not be taken lightly. I have sincerely tried to represent you to the best of my ability, and your patience and understanding have meant more than you know.
