The Work Camp Held In Buckeye Cove Was a Good Beginning!

The news that 22 young people from univeloped to provide a conference ground An open letter to Beacon Manuversities and colleges in 10 states participated in the World Council of Churches Work Camp in Buckeye Cove during July and the early part of August will be news to many here in the Black Mountain-Swannanoa community who did not know that the newest religious assembly had opened.

These 22 young people came from five countries and the United States to take part in this work camp which was held partly in preparation for the Evanston meeting of the World Council of Churches. The program was made possible by funds provided by the Congregational-Christian Service Committee of the Congregational Christian Churches in
