ELEMENTARY SCHOOL ROUND-UP

By Charles Thompson, Jimmy Page, Revonda Griffin, and Carolyn Stroud.

This starts a new year of Elementary School Round-up news. The reporters of the Round-Up will try to do their best to bring you the best news of the school.

After the change in January the Elementary school will consist of two buildings. The first, second, third and fourth grades will be in the old Elementary school building. The fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades will be in the old High school building. The ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades will be in the new school building located near the VA hospital.

First Grade.
The children in Mrs. Whitaker's first grade were saddened by the death of their classmate Laurence Rollins. They will miss him.

For the past week the children have been learning about good breakfast foods. Tuesday they had fresh orange juice that they had squeezed and strained themselves. Wednesday they had whole wheat cooked cereal, sugar and cream. It was cooked on a hot plate in their room. Thursday they had whole wheat toast, butter and jelly. They shared this with Miss Williams, their Bible teacher. The lunch room ladies toasted the bread in the lunch room kitchen. Friday they made hot cocoa. It was lots of fun and they plan to do a lunch unit soon.

Marion Levine sent some coconuts to them from Florida by Mr. Allen, one of the policemen. They all tasted the fresh coconut.

Mrs. Trickett's first grade have six girls and three boys who have not missed a day of school. They are Nancy Weaver, Elizabeth Ann Wright, Barbara Wheeler, Emily Glenn, Alice Fay Padgett, Pat Gibson, Arnold Carter, Johnny Maret and Frank Holcombe. They are very proud of these boys and girls.

Second Grade.
In Mrs. White's second grade all the children are back to school after the Christmas holidays. They have one hundred per cent in attendance.

From Miss Shuford's second grade class Ann Hall moved to Marion. The class is sorry that she is gone.

Some of the pupils gave a puppet show. They were as follows: Mary Morris, Lynn Hemphill, Becky Burgess and David Clements.

Fifth Grade.
During the Christmas holidays several girls and boys from Mrs. Rice's fifth grade went on trips. They were Judy McAfee, Judy Evans, Edwin Davis, Bruce Cook, Pallie Sue Tatham, Don Stubbs, Wesley Worley, and Ann Moore.

This past week the class room club elected new officers as follows: president, Pallie Sue Tatham; vice president, Barbara Page; secretary, Robert McKinney; assistant secretary, Dennis Pope; reporter, Margaret Ruth Mundy.

Here is a poem written by one of Mrs. Rice's pupils, Kaye Greene: When I wake up on a Sabbath morning to hear the church bells ring; When I wake up on a Sunday morn; To hear their ting-a-ling. They seem to say this happy morn. Go to church and to its school, Wake up always with the golden rule.

—Kaye Greene.

Sixth Grade.
Mrs. Beddingfield's sixth grade has been studying and collecting insects for science. The few insects they have are black widow spider, wasp, cricket and stink bugs. They plan to mount them. Elizabeth Clark and Nana Beha, reporters.

Miss Tipton's sixth grade class are glad to see each other after the Christmas holidays, especially Gerald Grant and Randy Kelly who had been sick before the holidays.

They welcome Jerry Hogan who came from Brasstown to join their class. Jerry is now living at Blue Ridge.

Some of the boys are making puppets. They are as follows: Dennis Summerlin, John Ferguson, Curtiss Wilson, Randy Champion, Eugene Smith, Mike Stewart and Kenneth Snelling.

Judy Raines and Cecelia Wyrick, reporters.

Seventh Grade.
Miss Lindsey's seventh grade wishes to send get well wishes to their classmate, J. D. Roberts, J. D. fell last week and injured his arm seriously.

They are looking forward to being transferred to the high school building.
