STATE AGAINST STATE—Increasing taxes is—as everyone knows—especially the members of the Legislature, very unpopular. When sugar-coated with bits of evidence that the money is being intelligently spent, taxes are still unpopular. The taxpayer wants to know that all economies possible are being effected before he is hit for additional money.

An incident that happened recently makes it all the harder to write an additional tax dollar out of the pocket of John Q. Public.

The Federal Government, under the surplus property program turns over to the State of North Carolina thousands of dollars worth—$39,000,000 worth within the past eight years—of equipment and materials each year. The State, in turn, passes this valuable property to the schools, hospitals, and other State institutions for many long years of good usage.

In this way, the taxpayer really gets a good break, because the equipment—which was bought by him through Federal taxes in the first place—is put to good utilization instead of merely being kicked away for junk.

Sometimes, when the State is out there at work, it finds itself in conflict with the State.

INTERESTING INCIDENT—A short while ago, the State of North Carolina was given, among other things, a large truck, or bus, and a State employee was sent down to the Marine base down on the coast to bring the vehicle to Raleigh, where it will in time be given to one of the State institutions, schools, or hospitals, for any use they care to make of it in their day-to-day operations.

On his way to Raleigh the driver was arrested by a State highway patrolman because the truck did not have proper clearance lights for the size of truck it happened to be. It had been used at the Marine base, and probably already has been, or will be, used by some State institution where the special lights requirements will not be necessary.

EMPLOYEE VS EMPLOYEE—Nevertheless, one State employee was cited to court by another State employee for a violation of the law

TALL TALES—Personal note to Everett Cass: Don't you believe it when Jim Weaver says it didn't hurt.

MRS. J. L. POTTER IS HOSTESS TO CIRCLE

The Lucy Wright circle of the First Baptist church met Tuesday, Feb. 8, in the home of Mrs. J. L. Potter. Mrs. W. H. Tipton, chairman, presided during the business meeting. Mrs. W. B. Kyles opened the program with prayer, followed by Mrs. J. J. Johnson's giving the devotional taken from Numbers, 21 chapter and the 9th verse. This verse is the circle's watchword for the year. Mrs. Tipton closed the worship service with prayer.

Mrs. Marshall Mott gave a most interesting study on "Under the North Star," a study of Alaska by the Rev. H. E. Die. Mrs. Mott also showed colored slides of scenes taken in Alaska.

Miss Lizzie Waite, a personal friend of the author, gave a brief account of his life.

During the social hour refreshments were served by the hostess. Others present were: Mrs. F. P. Arnold, Mrs. J. I. Cook, Sr., Mrs. Phil Glenn, Mrs. Claude Gilbert, Mrs. W. H. Lindsey, Mrs. Annie Kinsey, Miss Ethel Simmons, Mrs. M. J. Robinson, Mrs. August Johnston, Mrs. Frank Hogan, Mrs. Edna Wall, and Mrs. Head.

The Mayor's Proclamation

The proclamation issued by Mayor Dempsey Whitaker of the Town of Black Mountain, follows: WHEREAS, World Day of Prayer will be observed this year in many places throughout the world where humble peoples, living against a background of universal tension and uncertainty, will bow their heads and lift up their hearts to Almighty God in prayer; and

WHEREAS the United Church Women of Black Mountain will join on this occasion with Church women throughout the nation and the world to form an articulate and inspiring chain of human prayer; and

WHEREAS, the troubled peoples of all the world need Divine guidance as never before.

NOW THEREFORE, I, Dempsey Whitaker, Mayor of Black Mountain, do hereby request that all our citizens heartily join in this observance on Friday, Feb. 25, by prayer in your homes, in churches, schools, and hospitals. You are invited to leave your homes and
