By Mrs. Thelma Buckner Rt. 2 — Asheville, N. C.

"It came upon the midnight clear that glorious song of old, from angels bending near the earth to touch their harps of gold. Pea on the earth, good will to men."

It is that time of year again to sing the old, old story. Old yet ever new. Time once again to ever new. Time once again to wish our many friends and all peoples of the earth, peace and good will and a very Merry Christ-mas. A time to be thankful for the Prince of Peace who made Christmas possible, who gave us life itself, and all things to en-

"gone away." Yes, Christmas is a time of remembering and a time when the very best that is in us shines out, a time of sharing, of festivity and activity, a time to push aside the many complexities of life if only for a little while, families will be reunited and the very goodness of Christmas will be radiated by rich and poor, old and young alike. The city sidewalks now are busy sidewalks with last minute shoppers. I am one among them. I went to Arden on Wednesday night and took Mrs. J. W. Buckner

(my mother-in-law) her gifts. Mrs. Ray Robinson honored her little daughter, Janice on her sixth birthday with a party at her home Monday evening, Dec. 12. Games were played and she received sev-eral nice gifts. She had a lovely cake iced with chocolate, with green and yellow trimmings, and 'Happy Birthday Janice" across the top. With this cake was served ice cream to the following children: Jean and Gary Aiken, Bruce and Alfred Elkins, Chris and Lana Plummer, Connie and Tommy Nichols, Danny and Judy Plem-mons helped Mrs. Robinson with

HOME LIFE MAGAZINE HAS ARTICLE BY DR. F. RICHARDSON

Dr. Frank Howard Richardson, of the Children's Clinic staff, Black Mountain, is the author of an article, "The Teen-Ager and His Parents," in the January issue of Home Life magazine.

Dr. Joe W. Burton, editor of Home Life, said that the article offers suggestions for the parents and teen-agers and advises parents to allow their growing children to make as many decisions as they can without interference.

Outdoor Ad Co's Receive Warning From H. Dept.

In an effort to stop the unlawful cutting of trees and shrubs on the highway right of way by outdoor advertising companies, Highway Chairman A. H. Graham recently wrote to all the outdoor advertisers reminding them of the State's statute prohibiting cutting.

The statute provides that no tree or shrub on any State road or State highway right of way-other than streets not maintained by the Highway Commission in cities and towns-shall be trimmed or removed without a written permit from the Highway Commission.

A year ago, in December, 1954, Graham wrote the outdoor advertisers asking for their voluntary compliance with the law regarding roadside cutting. In the eleven months since, he reported, "there have been frequent instances of cutting or trimming of trees or shrubs on highway right of way-opening views to commercial advertising signs—without permission from the Highway Commission.'

Effective immediately, he wrote, "permission for cutting or trimming of trees or shrubs on highway right of way must be obtained from the landscape supervisor for the Divison involved." From now on, any permissible cutting or trimming must be done in the presence of a landscape supervisor or his representative.

One night, an impatient driver eager to get home got right behind Charlie.

Anyone who cuts or trime trees without permission on the highway right of way will be subject to
