Girl Scout News
Intermediate Troop 5 is planning an Easter egg hunt for Thursday, March 29, at the club house honoring the two new Brownie troops: Troop 150, Swannanoa, leader, Mrs. Herbert Turner, assisted by Mrs. Talmadge Burnette, and Mrs. Ray Sorrells; and Troop 144, Mrs. W. E. Padgett, leader, assisted by Mrs. Paul Allison. The meeting for Troop 5 on Tuesday was highlighted by a talk by Mrs. Bessie Carr, who discussed how to prepare for emergencies. Mrs. Carr represented the Red Cross.

Boy Scouts
Talmadge Burnette, former Cub Scoutmaster, is at present teaching a training course on leadership for Cub Scouts in Black Mountain. Bill Blaine and Hugh Rutledge are taking a training course for scoutmasters, each Tuesday night at the Central Methodist church in Asheville. This course will continue for four weeks, after which they plan to take the Scouts camping at Camp Daniel Boone in Haywood county. The day planned for the tree planting and observation turned out too wet for planting, but not to be outdone the boys had a wonderful time on the grounds of Oerlikon Tools and Arms Co. arrowhead hunting. It is reported they found nearly one gallon of arrowheads, though not many were perfect.

Arts and Crafts Club
The Woman's club met Thursday night, March 22, with five members present. Miss Ruth Bunker was hostess. Members had an enjoyable time designing and making place cards to be used at the dinner meeting, April 3, at the club house. The following were elected to office: Mrs. Willard Darby, chairman; Mrs. Kenneth Davidson, vice-chairman; Mrs. James Ward, secretary; Miss Ruth Bunker, treasurer. Present were Mrs. Kenneth Davidson, Mrs. H. L. Capp, Mrs. Harold Patton, Mrs. Oliver Penland, and Miss Bunker.

Baptist church met Tuesday,ing circle on Easter Sunday and the month following. This month's program was presented in a most interesting manner by Mrs. W. A. Ward. The program was a play "Week of Prayer for Home Missions". The program consisted of these parts: (1) Place of Prayer of Cuba; (2) Prayer Under the Northern Star (concerning Alaska); (3) Missions Among the Indians (4) East St. Louis Good Will center. Each of the 12 members present took part in the program: Julia Smith, Carolyn McKinney, Mary Lou Towe, Judith Wilson, Leatha Pressley, Frances Roberson, Wanda Allen, Rita Pittman, and Patsy Lee. The girls enjoyed taking fruit and visiting with Mrs. McElroy on the same evening. Each enjoyed the treat they received.

Tape Recorder Valued
The diversified uses of the tape recorder is really "catching on" in these parts. It is well that it should, for I can think of no other late invention which could be of more service to our churches. Joe Moore of the First Baptist in Black Mountain is making good use of one, as is Willard Darby in our community. Services on Sunday are recorded and taken to those who cannot attend church. Through this playing of the Sunday services to the shut-ins is not entirely perfected yet, plans are being made along that line, whereby more people will be able to listen to their own church service. Rev. John Cansler, Free Will Baptist, also makes good use of the recorder. On Monday night, March 20, they had a beautiful choir praise. Songs they had sung were recorded and played back to the youth. As this was being done each member marched around the microphone, confessing to be Christian, testifying and asking people across the valley for their prayers. Songs are recorded and carried to the sick also.

Young People's Banquet
Young people of the N. C. district of the Church of the Nazarene attended a banquet held in their honor at High Point, Friday, March 23. Betsy Sue and Edna Stamey, Edna Pruitt, Duane Bogan, Fred Williams, Charles Spivey, represented their church, leaving around noon for the banquet which took place at 7 p.m. Speaker at the banquet was Dr. William M. Greathouse, dean of Trezeche Nazarene college, Nashville, Tenn.

Free Will Baptist
The Josephine Mumpower auxiliary of the Free Will Baptist gathered in the home of Mrs. Perry Buckner, Tuesday, March 19. Mrs. Louis Medcalf, president, presided. The program opened with a hymn and prayer by Mrs. T. A. Pittman. Mrs. Cline Messer read the scripture taken from Psalm I. Theme was "Our Need for such a Time as This". Topics for reading and discussing: (1) "Following the Will O' Wisp", given by Mrs. Howard Gardner. (2) "Children Reaping Parents' Woe" by Mrs. Bruce Ray. (3) "Naomi's Repentance" as given by Mrs. Buckner. (4) "The Blessing of Repentance" told by Mrs. Austin Andrews. The hostess served refreshments to: Mrs. Ray Ledford who was visiting, Mrs. W. L. Moretz, Mrs. Edward Mumpower, Mrs. W. H. Smith, Mrs. L. B. Buchanan, Mrs. A. L. Wilson, Mrs. John Ogle, Jr., Mrs. Willard Wilson, Mrs. Lee Hutchins, Mrs. Melvin Biggs, Mrs. Harold Nichols, Mrs. John Cansler, Mrs. Ray Nichols, Mrs. R. L. Ballard, Mrs. Claude Foster, Mrs. Austin Andrews, Mrs. Howard Gardner, and Mrs. Nay. The next meeting will be at the church and the Young Auxiliary will meet at the same time, under leadership of Mrs. Austin Andrews.

W. S. C.
Nineteen members were present for the regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, which was held Wednesday evening, March 21, at the Methodist parsonage. Mrs. J. M. Powles, with Miss Laura Shuford taking a part, gave a very inspiring program on "Ventures in Discipleship". Mrs. Nellie Wilkins and Mrs. Whitt Gibson served refreshments in a most attractive Easter arrangement. During the business session, conducted by Mrs. C. W. Bates, president, the three groups had a total of $227.01 a result of their "money raising" contest during February and March. One announcement, especially interesting to the women, was that the men are going to cook and serve a supper to the women at their April Men's club meeting, Wednesday, April 4. Instead of being served themselves. Everyone is looking forward to the occasion. Members present, in addition to those already mentioned were Mrs. J. V. Brignon, Mrs. R. C. McClure, Mrs. W. G. Harrison, Mrs. Elmer McBrinh, Mrs. G. H. Farris, Mrs. Lovice Warlick, Mrs. Jeanette Gwaltney, Mrs. Ernest Holbert, Mrs. Elmer Griffin, Mrs. C. C. Allen, Mrs. Ted Smith, Mrs. Mildred Scott, Mrs. Grace Johnston, and Mrs. Pearl Jarrett.

Picnic
Just about every spring when the first robin flies in from the south, you can figure it's time for S. Fred Davidson to take his Sr. Young People's class of the Presbyterian church on a picnic to Catawba Falls. Seems to be a habit, and I would think a very delightful one, as I hear about it long before hand. Scottie Porcher, David Young, Lynn Nichols, Wendell Hewitt, Miranda Young, Norma Ann Stephenson, Wade Talbot, Faye Rice, Steve Campfield, Lynda McGraw, George Talbot, Mr. and Mrs. Davidson and G. B. Talbot left Friday afternoon for the falls. The climb to the falls is about a mile, or could it be shorter, but just a little steep? At any rate it's a good climb to get in shape for future outings. Hamburgers were in big demand.

Presbyterian Women
Mrs. W. H. McMurray, Sr. was hostess for the Presbyterian Women's meeting, March 19, assisted by Mrs. McMurray, Jr. "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" was the hymn for the program's beginning. Mrs. T. J. Hunter read the scripture from Ephesians. Mrs. McMurray, Sr. told of the meeting in Asheville of the evening circles for this district of Presbyterians. Their subject was "World Missions", and it was heartening to learn of the contributions made, as well as the spirit which existed at the meeting. Thirteen members from the evening circle represented the church. The business was conducted by Mrs. Eugene Loven, president. Mrs. W. A. Ward is chairman for the men's supper this month. Plans were made for the district meeting on April 13. Flower arrangements will be the responsibility of the Evening circle on Easter Sunday and the month following. This month's program was presented in a most interesting manner by Mrs. W. A. Ward. The program was a play "Week of Prayer for Home Missions". The program consisted of these parts: (1) Place of Prayer of Cuba; (2) Prayer Under the Northern Star (concerning Alaska); (3) Missions Among the Indians (4) East St. Louis Good Will center. Each of the 12 members present took part in the program: Julia Smith, Carolyn McKinney, Mary Lou Towe, Judith Wilson, Leatha Pressley, Frances Roberson, Wanda Allen, Rita Pittman, and Patsy Lee.
