MOTHERS JUST KNOW

Mothers just know, and we don't have to tell them. What is the source or the depth of our woe.

Do doubts assail us? The way to dispel them. Mothers just know. Potent their balsams for every blow!

No medicine pellets or potions excel them. When the pale tide of our vigor runs low, Others that love us, their big hearts impel them. To weep for our troubles; but isn't it so?— Vainly they seek for the power to quell them; Mothers just know!

—Edward W. Barnard. "Mothers Just Know" was sent to your chairman years ago by her son on one "Mothers Day."

THE SALVATION OF THE DAWN

Look to this day! For it is life, the very life of life. In its brief course lie all the verities and realities of your existence

The bliss of growth, The glory of action, The splendor of beauty. For yesterday is but a dream, And tomorrow is only a vision; But today well lived makes every yesterday a dream of happiness And every tomorrow a vision of hope.

Look well therefore to this day! From the Sanskrit. Anne Kendrick Sharp, Chm. Poets Corner, Creative Writing Club.
