

Win or Lose, It's Still Our Team!

We don't predict an unbeaten record but we do expect the Owen High Warriors to provide their share of thrills for local fans before they ring down the curtain on the 1956 season.

It is a rugged schedule which the coaches and the players have arranged and they'll take some jolts between Hendersonville and Waynesville, but they will have the 100 per cent cooperation and best wishes of the community as they try to equal or to improve the 6-4 standing of 1955.

these teams Hendersonville, second in the state in 1955, Waynesville, Brevard, and Lee Edwards and you have a man-sized schedule in any league. It would be hard to pick out any team on the list and say, with any assurance, "We'll beat this team."

Owen should be stronger than last year, but so are all the other teams. We make no promise for the season except that win or lose they are still our team and we're backing them all the way.

on the Justice Department. It is due again.

Between Bill Horner and Bob Mason, the Sanford Herald is coming up these days with some mighty good reading. This one is about stirring mash.

Anybody who has been to Wake Forest college knows about the Harriane section of Wake county—a pretty rough area about three miles west of Wake Forest toward Durham.

They had this fellow up before the congregation for making liquor. They were going to church him—or kick him out. But he said he didn't make no liquor, didn't sell none, didn't drink none.

"But," he said out, "there's some holier—thou people that does meaner, and makes their living less honest, and raises their children worse than a man who feeds and clothes his family from the sweat of his brow a-stirring of the mash."

And, as he became excited with his talk, he placed one fist over the other and described a wide circle—as if pulling a dogwood pole through a vat.

At this point, the chairman of the board of deacons, sitting up front, leaned over to the clerk and whispered in an admiring voice that could be heard at the rear of the room, "He's got a right good stroke, ain't he?"

At the Church

On Sunday morning an uplifting message from Pastor Perry on "My Word" (Isaiah 55: 6-11, Matt. 24:32-36) with exceptionally fine music provided by guest organist Mrs. A. Lincoln Smith, whose husband is pastor of Congregational Heights Baptist church, Washington, D. C.

On Wednesday preceding, a wedding of interest to all Southern Baptists.

Miss Hewitt, Judson B. Allen Wedding Ridgecrest church was the scene of an unusually lovely wedding at six o'clock Wednesday evening, Aug. 22, when Miss Jacqueline Hewitt of Jackson, Miss., became the bride of Judson Boyce Allen of Nashville, Tenn. Dr. Clifton J. Allen, editorial secretary of Baptist Sunday School board, Nashville, and father of the groom, officiated using an original double-lever ceremony of deep spiritual emphasis and beauty.

The wedding music, all consisting of sacred selections and hymns, was presented by an assembly staff member, Miss Joan Stockstill of Hattiesburg, Miss., at the organ and Miss Barbara Gaaney of Jackson, Miss. soloist.

A very large arrangement of white dahlias and gladioli, flanked by ferns and lighted candelabra formed the altar for the ceremony. Ends of pews held lighted tapers, each adorned with a single large white rose. This made of the aisles lighted and fragrant paths.

The bride, wearing an exquisite heirloom gown and long veil of tulle and lace, was given in marriage by her father, Purser Hewitt, officiating with the Rev. and Mrs. Ledger of Jackson, Miss. Her flowers were white carnations and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Olive Hewitt, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Rosalind Allen, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. The attendants wore gowns of pink tulle and carried bouquets of orchid-colored asters.

Robert Moore Allen, brother of the groom, was best man, while a cousin, William Sherrywood served as groom's man. Jimmy Dale of Jackson, Miss., and Bob Edmund of Nashville, Tenn., were ushers.

After the wedding a reception was held in second floor parlors of Pritchelle hall. Here and There Early next week Dr. and Mrs. Eugene West are moving from their little cottage on Border street to Somerville, Mass., where, on the second Sunday in September Dr. West assumes the pastorate of Grace Baptist church. Since Somerville is a suburb of Boston, Dr. West expects also to do graduate work in Boston university toward his Ph.D. degree in music.

Ridgecrest will greatly miss these two returning to the "good old short while have sojourned here. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Harle and two daughters, Lydia Lee and Alice of Danville, Va., spent the week end with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. George Green.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter Pope Binn of Liberty, Mo., spent a day recently with Miss Mary Ward and Mrs. Edith Beam. Dr. Binn, who is president of William Jewel college, was en route to Roanoke, Va., with Mrs. Binn to witness the ordination of their eldest son into the ministry.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Madrey of Hillsboro are visiting Dr. and Mrs. Hight C Moore and Mrs. Joe Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil M. Perry, Ann Carr and Glenn on Friday enjoyed a pleasant day with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burnett in the Toe River Gap cabin of the Burnetts.

Miss Margaret Greenlee left for Youngstown, Ohio, on Saturday after a two weeks' visit in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Greenlee. Her friends are all glad to learn her health is steadily improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Jada Morgan of Raleigh were over-night guests on Wednesday in the home of Mr. Morgan's aunt, Mrs. W. M. Pate and Mr. Pate.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Truesdell recently had for a week each two highly honored guests who for many years were missionaries in China. They were Miss Addie Cox of Carrollton, Ala. and Mrs. T. J. League (nee, Miss Attie Bostie) of Shreveport, La.

Arab Patriarch Holds Fond Memories of U. S.

Boulos Maoushi, the patriarch of nearly a million Maronite Christians around the world, is a native Lebanese who spent more than a decade of his life as a parish priest in the United States.

The tall, grey-bearded prelate was appointed last year as spiritual head of the ancient Oriental Catholic community by Pope Pius XII. Although many Americans may not be aware of the size of the Maronite sect in this country, the patriarch estimates that there are 100,000 members now living in the United States.

"At the time I expected to stay on two years," he recalls, but his tour of duty was extended to 1934. During this period, almost all the Lebanese emigrants in America knew young Maoushi who devoted himself to community service. As a parish priest in Los Angeles, he launched a fund-collecting campaign to repay debts incurred by the local Maronite House and also managed to build the city's "Madonna of Lebanon" church.

"I could relax when I was called back to Lebanon in 1934 to become Bishop of Tyre," the 61-year-old prelate recalls. He succeeded Bishop Shukrallah Khouri, who died in the same year. A man with a broad international background, the patriarch was educated in Lebanon, Rome and Paris, and is the master of seven languages. During his eleven years in United States, he absorbed the values of freedom and democracy, plus the intrinsic dignity of the individual, and today stands as a staunch supporter of all these values.

L. B. Buchanan Dies In Hospital

Larkin B. Buchanan, 84, of Swannanoa died in an Asheville hospital Sunday, Aug. 26, after a long illness. Funeral rites were held Tuesday afternoon in the Swannanoa Free Will Baptist Church with the Rev. Wayne Smith and the Rev. Charles Smith officiating. Burial was in the Patton cemetery at Swannanoa. Members of the Swannanoa Masonic Lodge served as pallbearers and conducted graveside rites. Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Tisha Holt Buchanan; a sister, Mrs. Corrie Pressley of Swannanoa; a half-brother, Avery Buchanan of Swannanoa; and several nieces and nephews.
