IN THE SMOOKIES

Mount Clingman and his ancient peers
Suggest a brotherhood of majesties
Forever changeless through the years.
But yet, but yet, however old,
Their contour's slow development
Has not been shaped in final mold.

HERE FOR HOLIDAYS
Marvin Durrer has returned to Charlottesville after spending the holidays with his aunt Mrs. James Cox.

Tomorrow's storm can open wounds
That centuries will fail to cure,
For seed one season germinates
May take a thousand to mature.

And so, through aeons yet to be,
The Architect's unerring eye
That needs no chain or rod or rule,
Will scale and check and multiply,
Till Nature's every ageless tool
Shall rest in ultimate release.
When God shall say "It is enough"
And bid the cycling season cease.

REFLECTIONS—

From page 1
I was born one morning when it was cloudy and cool;
I picked up my register and headed for school;
I wrote 44 names on the home room roll,
And the principal said, "Well, bless my soul!"
I got 44 kids and 32 seats;
Twenty-eight are talking while sixteen sleep.
I can hardly get 'em all through the door,
And if I don't watch out they'll send me some more.
The last bell rings and I start for the door;
My head's a ringing and my feet are sore;
I taught six full hours, my day is made,
But I still have 100 papers to grade.
You teach six full hours and what do you get?
Another day older and deeper in debt.
I'll go to St. Peter, but I just can't stay—
I gotta come back for the P.T.A.

MONTREAT

Montreat is still full of visitors, many are still in their summer homes and others came for the Labor Day holiday. The Sunday morning worship service was held in Gaither Chapel with a large crowd in attendance. The pastor, the Rev. Stanley Bennett, preached. The chorus and choir director were on vacation, but with a full house the congregational singing was beautiful. We are sure that the visitors in Montreat know how to sing.

At 3:30 p.m. the Lakey Gap Presbyterian church was organized by a commission of the Asheville Presbytery. Richard E. Bethune, a student from Union Theological Seminary, has been supplying the pulpit during the summer. This was the last Sunday that Mr. Bethune would be here as he returns to his studies in the Seminary this week. One of the leaders in the work of the Lakey Gap Sunday school is Miss Lyde Wilson, a long time resident of the community. She is glad to have this chapel organized into a church.

Field, Jr., Knoxville, Tenn.

The men of Montreat met in Assembly Inn for the supper on Monday, Sept. 3, at 6:30 p.m. The guest speaker was Dr. Douglas L. T. Robinson.
