TYSON'S ANNUAL TRADE-IN SALE!

MOST communities, in their own way, have attractions for some kind of industry. When a new industry employing 135 people begins operating in a community, according to The United States Chamber of Commerce, $787,000 more personal income per year, $480,000 more retail sales, $360,000 more bank deposits, 395 more people, 232 more workers employed, 146 more households, 68 more school children.

It can also mean job opportunities at home for graduates of our colleges and high schools who are now leaving the State. What kind of industry is best suited to your own community at this time? It might be a large, highly technical operation. It might be a supplier to other industry. It could be a handicraft operation, or tourist attraction.

Ask for the free booklet on Community Organization for Industrial Development. It lists scores of ideas for products which may be manufactured to advantage in various communities of the State.
