The average age of Uncle Sam's more than 22 million living veterans now is 38½ years. Veterans Administration said the extremes range from 109 for the oldest veteran to under 18 for the youngest.
The oldest veteran on VA rolls until recently was Albert Woolson, recently deceased, of Duluth, Minn., the lone Union Army veteran of the Civil War who celebrated his 109th birthday on Feb. 11, 1956.
The youngest group of veterans, those under 20 years who served during the Korean Conflict period, number 34,000. There were only 4,000 veterans who are 85 or over.
The largest group of veterans, most of those of World War II, fall within the 30 to 34 age bracket. That group numbers approximately 5,158,000. The next largest group, approximately 4,081,000, is in the 35 to 39 age bracket.
Based on a VA survey as of Dec. 31, 1955, following is a breakdown by war showing the number of participants, number of deaths in service, estimated number of living veterans and their average age:

KOREAN CONFLICT PERIOD—
6,807,000 participants (includes 1,476,000 who served both in World War II and during Korean Conflict period); 54,000 deaths in service; 4,346,000 living veterans (includes 843,000 who served both in World War II and during Korean Conflict period); average age 27 years.

WORLD WAR II—16,535,000 participants (includes 1,476,000 who served in World War II and during Korean Conflict period); 409,000 deaths in service; 15,391,000 living veterans (includes 843,000 who served both in World War II and during Korean Conflict period); 36½ years.

WORLD WAR I—4,744,000 participants; 131,000 deaths in service; 3,105,000 living veterans; 62 years.

SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR—392,000 participants; 11,000 deaths
