Jacob Weaver and Lady, Reems Creek, and written by a son, J. T. Weaver, while be-ginning school at Burnsville. Anyone who might be able to obtain information on the history of Burnsville, might be able to add more interesting information about that area. For instance, some interesting stories which have been passed from generation to generation concerning the old whipping post, or the jail, or per-haps the old school, would be most welcome. Written on November 13, 1852, the letter following was delivered by post. "I now seat myself in our room, situated about 100 yds. distant from the jail and whipping post, and 20 yds. south of M. E. Penland's hotel, being a small house on the premises of and be-longing to said Penland, with two beds in it, the house weather-hoarded and sealed with 2 doors boarded and sealed, with 2 doors and two glass windows, a good fire place, and a book case, 2 tables, a wash pan, pitcher of water, towels and etc., and thus situated hasten to write to you a note.
