

Christmas Will Be the Merrier For Having Observed Thanksgiving

We noted with pleasure and pride the decision of the local Chamber of Commerce and the Jaycees to delay until this week the placement of Christmas decorations in the downtown area. We have nothing but applause for the opportunity thus given to avoid "rushing" the holidays—thereby letting us savor the particularly American flavor of the earlier winter holiday, Thanksgiving, without using it simply as a launching platform for Christmas merchandising.

Christmas, we feel, will be all the merrier for all of us for having been allowed a proper time in which to observe a happy, grateful Thanksgiving. So, let other communities use Thanksgiving, if they wish, to stage their Thanksgiving parades designed to foster Christmas buying. We believe in setting aside Thanksgiving as a period for quiet family and religious observance—using it for a genuine period for genuine thanksgiving for all our many blessings. And now is proper time to get about our Christmas shopping and mailing.

Incidentally, we're doing our Christmas

A Good Man Dies

A Tribute to the Reverend Thomas E. Walters
By Mrs. Elbert F. Hardin

Long before the tragic going of Rev. Tom E. Walters on the morning of Nov. 29, many people had said in speaking of him: "He is such a GOOD man!" On the fateful morning of his death, telephones all over this section rang continually, and the one phrase most used as friends talked about him was: "He was such a GOOD man!"

In the passing of Mr. Walters this community suffers a loss not to be measured by weight of words or fancy phrases. From 1942 to 1948 he was pastor of Ridgecrest Baptist church. During these years he was a real shepherd to his flock, visiting them and sharing in their joys and sorrows. He baptized those who were won to Christ; married young couples; buried the dead; and gave of his time and strength and love as only a pastor can. These same things could be said of him in his several other pastorates over the state. But always his life could be summed up in those simple words: "He was a GOOD man!"

Last summer, having reached retirement age, he and Mrs. Walters came to live in what shopping right here at home. Our Christmas list is a varied one, but we know our local stores well enough to know that our list can be adequately "shopped" in our own community stores. You will note that many, many "brand-name" articles are carried in local store stocks—from foods and sweets and clothing and accessories, to appliances and home furnishings, to greens and flowers and decorations, as well as items which exemplify the attractive, original arts and crafts of North Carolina.

So, we're doing our Christmas shopping right here at home in the leisurely fashion that is possible because local merchants have a way of making every little purchase a nice, neighborly, friendly occasion—as well as an occasion that puts shopping dollars into circulation here, while keeping our own nerves unfrayed by metropolitan problems of parking and traffic.

Hence we say to our advertisers, "Merry Christmas, we'll be seeing you" and we believe you'll enjoy seeing them, too, as you make your Christmas shopping rounds.

had been their summer home, with plans to spend their remaining years in peace and quiet. Why this could not be, none of us can know. But we do know that the years of his life spent here have been good, useful, and to God's glory.

His life-long friend in speaking at his funeral said: "He was a good friend, a good husband, a good father, a good man." What higher tribute could be paid? Let others sing their praises of his accomplishments and attainments. Above all else this one shining grace lights up the very atmosphere of the world about him—"He was a GOOD man!"

Goodness is eternal. It lives now and forever. So, while Mr. Walters' physical presence is removed from us, this quality of his lives on in our midst to bless us and lift us upward toward the goodness of God Himself. His example will be emulated by young and old, and the world will be a better place because he lived among us.

Then, instead of the wording of the title of this article, well might we say of him: "A good man LIVES!"

RIDGECREST ramblings

Mrs. Elbert F. Hardin

Pastor Perry's sermon topics on Sunday were: "A Light for the Gentiles" and "The Messianic Mission," thus preparing hearts for the Christmas season.

Lovely white chrysanthemums in the church were placed there by the family of Rev. T. E. Walters, in his memory.

In the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Brown, members of the W. M. S. gathered on Tuesday, Dec. 3, to observe the "Season of Prayer for Foreign Missions." Decorations suggesting the true meaning of Christmas lent the right atmosphere for the meeting.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Cecil Perry the day was spent in meditation and prayer. She was assisted by Mrs. Charles Jolley, Mrs. R. E. Truesdell, and Mrs. E. F. Hardin in focusing attention on specific needs to be met by the Lottie Mott offering. A pause was made at noon for a "covered dish luncheon." For this period of fellowship the women were joined by Pastor Perry, S. C. Gill and E. F. Hardin. Two other men present for the whole day were the host and R. E. Truesdell.

At the close of the afternoon session Mr. and Mrs. Brown conducted a meaningful devotional by showing some lovely colored slides depicting the Christmas story and accompanied by recordings of Scripture and carols. More days like this are needed by all hearts to offset the mad rush of pre-Christmas activities and to make more real the presence of the Prince of Peace.

The Y. W. A. met Saturday night, Dec. 7, in the home of Mrs.

James Allison, Doris Snypes, president, was in charge of the program. The hostess served delicious refreshments to Evelyn Peek, Ann Carr Perry, Mrs. Martha McMahan, Doris Snypes, Emily Hollifield, Geraldine Anders and Mrs. John May.

With decorations and refreshments suggestive of the Christmas season, the setting was all laid for Intermediate Girls' auxiliary at its meeting Monday afternoon in "Hills of Home." After a business session the six girls present were led by Delores Melton in a reverent service observing the "Season of Prayer for Foreign Missions."

Meeting with their counselor, Mrs. Lillian Gallamore on Monday p.m. Junior Girls' auxiliary planned "big doin's" for Christmas. One thing arranged is a visit to Orthopedic hospital on Dec. 19, when they will take fruits, candy and scrapbooks to the patients and sing Christmas carols. The program on "Christmas Mailbox and Week of Prayer" was entered into by the following girls: Martha and Linda Allison, Linda Bradley, Deanna Belcher, Carolyn Brown, Sandra Hyder, Marie McMahan, and Sandra Wright.

Eight Sunbeams met with their leader, Mrs. Paul Turner, Monday p.m. When after-school-hunger had been satisfied with delicious refreshments, a Christmas program of stories and carols was given. Handiwork consisted of trees, stars, and other Christmas emblems. Those present were: Jerry Biddix, Buster Gray, Susie Lanning, Glenn Perry, Linda Snypes, Jack Turner, Teresa Turner, Ronnie Turner, and Mrs. Leonard Biddix, who is assistant counselor.

On Wednesday of last week, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Willis and little daughters left for their home in Dallas, Tex., taking with them Mrs. T. E. Walters, who will visit indefinitely with them.

On the same day, Mr. and Mrs. David Walters and little son returned to Fayetteville, accompanied as far as Raleigh by Mrs. Claude Gaddy who had visited for several days in the Walters' home.

Thomas Walters, who had returned to his home in Charlotte after his father's funeral on Sunday, came back Tuesday for a brief stay with his mother, and to assist in closing the home for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Pate returned Sunday evening from a delightful two weeks' vacation in Florida. On the first Sunday of their trip they worshipped in First Baptist Church, Deland, Fla., where Dr. Winston Pearce preaches four times each Sunday in order to minister to the large congregations.

When discovered in the audience, the Pates were pressed by the Peares to stay a couple of days in their home. Ten Ridgecrest staff members living in Deland were invited to the pastor's home also, after service on Sunday evening for fellowship with the Pates. Going on to Lakeland, they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Odom and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Craven.

Mrs. B. S. Meeks and Miss Edith Van Duzer, leaving Thursday morning for a Christmas vacation, will stop in Anniston, Ala., for a brief visit with Chaplin and Mrs. L. M. Jackson, then spend the week-end in Bessemer, Ala., with Mrs. Delmar McCraig, a friend

Mrs. George Sandlin was one of the McDowell county delegation attending a meeting of Gamma Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma at the Clyde Erwin school in Asheville on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas and daughter, Cheryl, of Greensboro, were week-end guests of Mrs. Thomas's mother, Mrs. Walter LeFevre.

Fred Martin of the Old Fort Finishing plant, has returned from a short vacation which he spent deep sea fishing in Florida.

Mrs. Ruby Swann, Mrs. Pearl Adams, Theary Kelly and Donnie Gibbs, all of whom have been patients in Asheville hospitals, have returned to their homes here.

Miss Carolyn McIntosh has spent the past several weeks in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Maude Stepper has returned from a visit at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Freeman in Gurney, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Hope Ansel and children of Virginia Beach, Va., were recent guests at the home of Mrs. Ansel's mother, Mrs. Burroughs Miller.

Perle Reynolds entered Moore General hospital on Monday for a check-up, but was discharged the same day, and pronounced greatly improved.

Don't forget the delicious fruit cakes in three and five pound sizes being sold by the American Business club for benefit of the school children's lunch fund.

Do you remember the winter of 1917-1918? Some of you do, most certainly. Dr. J. B. Johnson is one of them. He said that on Dec. 7, exactly 40 years ago, a snow fell which didn't leave the ground until early the following March! During those dreadful months of cold and death, the mercury dropped as low as 14 degrees below zero here. He says that some people in Old Fort have pictures of the old water tank that stood across from the railroad station. The photos show icicles as large as a man's body extending to the ground. Dr. Johnson says, too, that Andrew's greyser had a huge cone of ice around it 100 feet high.

So, let's not hear any complaints about the weather, folks. Remember, in those days there were no steam or oil heated houses in Old Fort.

Old Fort firemen have the business district lighted with colored Christmas bulbs again this year, but it is not quite late enough for the president to decorating to begin, although a few Christmas trees are glowing.

Have you seen her? She could be yours! We are speaking of the charming young lady on display in the window of Johnnie's Beauty nook. She is the doll the members of the Junior Woman's Club have out-fitted with a fabulous wardrobe. She is just waiting to make some little (or not so little) girl's Christmas the best ever.

She went on display Tuesday of this week. She is 30 inches tall, is blonde, and wears high-heeled slippers and pearl earrings and pearl necklace. The ladies of the club have provided her with an outfit for every occasion. They tell us she has aprons, dresses, slips, panties, skirts and blouses, a house coat, gown, evening dress and evening wrap, a jumper, slacks, shirt and a pink coat and matching hat. In addition, she will have a suitcase and coat hangers of her very own.

This doll and wardrobe will be given away. Each donation of 25 cents to the Worthy Project fund of the Junior Woman's club, entitles one to a ticket.

The Junior Woman's Club held its regular monthly meeting at the Eastern Star hall on Monday evening, Dec. 9. Mrs. Freddy Brown, president, was in charge. This year, as last, the club plans to sponsor an art contest and exhibit at the school, with pupils in the elementary and grammar grades eligible for competition. Cash prizes and ribbons will be awarded. Last year's exhibit brought to light a number of talented young artists. This year's exhibit, which will be held in February, is expected to attract even more attention. Mrs. Randy Hogan, Major Projects Chairman of the Club, will have charge of arrangements.

Friends of Aileen Gibbs and Harold Martin, whose wedding is planned for Saturday evening of this week, gave the bride-elect a miscellaneous shower, Friday evening, in the recreation rooms of the Old Fort Baptist church. Miss Anne Early, Mrs. Barbara Harris and Mrs. Fay Silver were joint hostesses. The Christmas motif was used in decorations, with candles, holly, and other greenery providing an attractive background. About 35 or 40 guests were present. Punch and a salad arrangements.

Even in the winter, Ridgecrest is the scene of many week end retreats for church groups. This was the case last Saturday when nine cars of people from Temple Baptist church in Gastonia came for the day and night in their cottage on Florida Avenue. Rev. Mr. Walker is pastor of the church.

On Sunday evening of last week pictures of Gorieta and Ridgecrest were shown by Mrs. W. K. Weeks in the Oteen Baptist church.

Jim Emery of Furman university, Greenville, S. C. spent one night last week with Mr. and Mrs. Weeks at the assembly.

Students taking part will be Martha Poarch of Draper, Va.; Ann Cox, Whitesburg, Ky.; Martha Robinson, Lincolnton; Noel Morse, Birmingham, Ala.; Eugenia Wooldridge, Buena Vista, Va.; Virginia Tolley, Clifton, W. Va.; Pat Shirah, Porterdale, Ga.; Min Soo Kim, Seoul, Korea.

Also, Carolyn Oates, Gastonia; Mary Lou Fortune, Black Mountain; Jack Jones, Corbin, Ky.; Mary Mangrum, Sherman, Tex.; Gladys Culler, Jefferson; Jane Taylor, Bear Creek.

NEW CAR LICENSE—

"The Motor Vehicles department cannot issue a new license plate until requirements of the new law are met.

"This means that every person seeking a 1958 license plate will have to furnish evidence of financial responsibility. For most of us this means insurance. However, as an alternative a person may deposit in cash $11,000 or post a $15,000 bond.

"For those of us who have a liability insurance policy, or plan to purchase one, we also must have at the time we go to buy license plates, a certificate of insurance, or a form FS-1, as it is called. Our insurance companies will give us this FS-1.

"It is necessary that purchasers have their FS-1, either when writing for or buying their tags in person.

"This is one point that cannot be overemphasized. The Motor Vehicles Department is mailing 1958 registration cards to owners now. Enclosed with the card is a leaflet describing in detail the new Vehicle Financial Responsibility act. I suggest all Buncombe county motorists read it carefully," Mr. Alexander said.
