REFLECTIONS—

From Page 1

Two weeks ago when Dr. and Mrs. F. W. M. White of Halifax, N. C., were here to spend a day or two at their home on Montreat road, you may have noticed that he was growing a beard. And he didn't just forget to shave that morning. It is all part of the Bi-centennial celebration for Halifax county and the commemoration of the signing of the Halifax Resolves.

The main event is scheduled for May. By that time the men of Halifax should have beards to tickle the heart—and chin—of any miss.

With all the talk of politics the youngster was puzzled. He didn't know just what was meant by all this talk of parties, and voting, and campaigning.

There was only one way to find out, ask, he did.

"Mother," he called, "am I a Republic or a Democratic? I mean am I a mule or a jackass? On account of I'd rather be a mule than a jackass."

After all is said and done, it's usually the wife who has said it and the husband who has done it.
