Ted Jones, regional director of South Carolina of Columbia, was director of the conference. They held the morning worship service in Anderson auditorium. Dr. P. D. Miller, executive secretary of extension church of Atlanta, Ga., preached on "Man Without Miracles." Other speakers at the conference were Dr. Manford G. Gutzke, professor of English Bible and Christian education at Columbia Theological seminary, Decatur, Ga., who gave the address at the 9:30 a.m. session on Sunday. He spoke on "Man's Place in Christian Education." The Montreat College chorus sang special music. There was mass singing at 7:30 on Saturday, led by the Rev. Archie C. Graham with the Rev. Thomas W. Horton at the organ. Dr. Patrick D. Miller spoke on "Extending the Church." This address was followed by election of new officers. Ernest W. Evans president of the Synod council presided.

The Montreat church held their worship service at 11 o'clock in Gaither chapel with the pastor, the Rev. Stanley Bennett, in the pulpit. The college chorus sang an anthem then left to sing in Anderson auditorium. The Junior choir sang an anthem and the choral response after the prayers. They did well and showed good training. The Junior choir will not have any more rehearsals until fall. They have been a good addition to the church service.

MARINE CADETS' PROGRAM REVISED

RALEIGH.—Good news for college undergraduates came from the Marine Corps today. Now college men who have completed two years are eligible to apply for the Marine aviation cadet program and earn the coveted "Wings of Gold" of a Marine aviator and the bars of a second lieutenant. In the past all Marine pilots have been required to complete four years of college prior to being assigned to flight training. For those men with a sincere desire to fly, this is no longer necessary. Cadets will receive 15 to 18 months of pre-flight, basic flight, and advanced flight training.
