

What's Goin' . . . At Owen

By Nancy DuPuy

The first six weeks of school are over, and report cards come out this week. To the freshmen this will be a new experience; to the seniors, we hope, an inspiration to do their very best this last year.

On Wednesday, the members of the Future Home-makers of America held their regular meeting. The program was the installation service of the new officers. An arrangement of roses, the club flower, and candles, representing the flame of home economics and the club purposes, were on a table around which the incoming officers were seated. Each girl in turn, rose, lit a candle and said one of the F.H.A. purposes.

The old president, Nancy DuPuy, led the girls in the pledge of office and turned the gavel over to the new president, Marlene Pyatt. This club is made up of girls interested in home economics, who are taking it now or have had two years of home-making instruction.

Fifty F.H.A. girls, their instructors, and several chapter mothers represented Owen at the F.H.A. district rally held Saturday, Oct.

11, at Lee Edwards High school, Asheville. All had a fine time and profited from the meeting. For our part of the program, a fashion show from Penney's was given. Several pretty girls modeled the clothes, and Mrs. Dorothy Keeling, clothes consultant from Penney's, was commentator. The models were Pattie Talbot, Dianne Nesbitt, Helene Nichols, Marlene Pyatt, Loretta Hall, Mary Lou Towe, Ann Moore, Fannie Sue Tath-anna, Olivia Penland, Mary Ann Ballard, Genevieve Brotherton and Janelle Ledbetter.

We now have a new teacher at Owen, due to the loss of one, William McAllister. She is Miss Joyce Simpson from Gray Court, S. C. She attended Winthrop college at Rock Hill, S. C., and is now teaching freshman English. Welcome to you, Miss Simpson!

Twenty-four juniors and seniors have been accepted into the membership of the Archibald Murphy Future Teachers club for 1958-59. Membership is based upon general interest in the field of teaching preparation, acceptable grades, worthy qualities of character and conduct, and preparation for college entrance.

The Junior Bible club has been organized, with Charles Smith as sponsor. The October meeting was held last week with Rev. W. R. Klein as guest speaker. His topic was "Tragedy in Literature, and Tragedy in Life". The club greatly benefited from his talk and has many plans for the year. The officers are: president, Ruth Ann Holt; vice-president, Alma Watson; recording secretary, Lorraine Slagle; minutes secretary, Peggy McElrath; Student council representative, Jo Tomlinson; reporter, Bruce Edwards. The church representatives are: Methodist, Betty Pollard; Presbyterian, Wilma Hall; Free Will Baptist, Bruce Edwards; Missionary Baptist, Rita Shook.

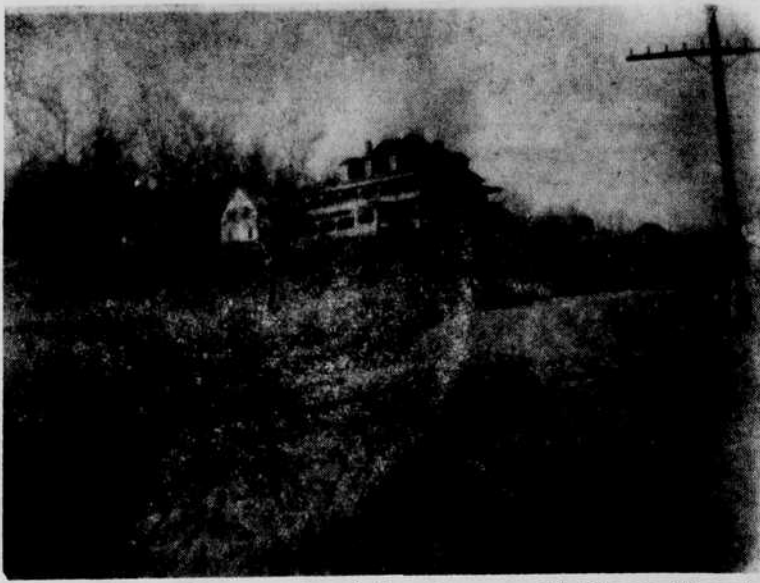

One of the most exciting things which happened this week and which created confusion in each room was the taking of school pictures. Everyone tried to look his or her best and the result was amazing! It gave the whole school a new appearance, especially with those senior boys in their white dinner jackets!

The annual this year has been announced. It was chosen by several members of the faculty from a list of those interested. We have many plans for this year, and quite a bit of progress has already been made. Nancy DuPuy is editor, and Emilie Alexander, assistant editor; Ann Perry, business manager; Barbara Ellis, staff artist, and Dave DuPuy, photographer. The advertising staff is made up of Tommy Blizard, Jim Page, Carolyn Hudson, James West, Mary Ann Ballard, Eileen Sims and Gwen McAfee.

An editors' round table was held Oct. 10-11 at Western Carolina college, Cullowhee, sponsored by the college and the Asheville Citizen-Times. There were representatives from many of the schools in Western North Carolina, and Anne Woodcock, editor of the school paper, and I from the annual staff attended the sessions Saturday. We hope that what we learned will benefit the paper and the annual this year.

U.N. CAMPAIGN INCLUSION

Why aren't campaigns included in the United Appeal? The United Fund maintains an "open door" policy and all campaigns can apply for membership. If the admission committee feels that an agency will benefit the community in any of the three categories, health, welfare of character building, the application is accepted.

This is a photograph of the former old Black Mountain Inn for summer tourists, made by M. W. Young, who reminds that earlier in the century it was located on the Blue Ridge road just east of the intersection from Blue Ridge assembly. He reminds that it was owned by Alfred Stevens and that the building caught fire and burned to the ground one fall day when Mr. Stevens was raking and burning leaves, preparatory to closing the inn for the winter season. The establishment commanded a beautiful view of the Craggies.

Swannanoa News

By Mrs. B. C. Burnette

Representatives of the five son, and little Martha Royal of troops of Swannanoa Girl Scouts of Denton are guests of Mrs. Duckett Oct. 9 to elect Mrs. Lewis Semerson Rev. and Mrs. Duckett are moving from Denton where Fred is pastor of the First Baptist church, neighborhood. Mrs. Rodger Strick to South Hall, Va., where he will be the new pastor for the First Baptist church beginning on Nov. 18.

Come to the Swannanoa clubhouse Saturday night, Oct. 18, at 7:30 p.m. The Bee Tree Christian church is sponsoring a benefit early Hallowe'en carnival and square dance to raise money for our new church building fund. There will be a hula hoop and other contests, and prizes awarded. We'll have cakes, lemonade and sandwiches; cakes, pies and candy will be on sale, and a fish pond is sponsored by the junior class.

There will be an admission charge of 75 cents for adults, children who come with their parents will be admitted free. A meeting of the Swannanoa Valley Inter-Church Youth Association was held at Swannanoa Presbyterian church Sunday night for sandwiches and a movie titled "Younger Brother".

As a project for their building fund, children of Swannanoa Presbyterian church are bringing money for a brick each week. The junior class of Bee Tree Christian church serves as reporters for this column to help sponsor their building fund. We would like ideas of ways and means of youth church sponsors of other churches.

A Home Demon. club meeting was scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 16, at 11 a.m. at the home of Mrs. D. M. Connelly. Reports for the year were asked. Special emphasis is being placed on the United Nations this month. On Friday evening, Oct. 24, Mrs. Oswald Lord, U. S. Representative on the Human Rights council, will speak at the U. N. mass meeting. This will be at 8 p.m. at Central Methodist church in Asheville.

Mrs. Addie Burnette and Mrs. Carrie Shope of Bee Tree, are feeling better. Laurence Howie of Bee Tree, is in Memorial Mission hospital suffering from an accidental fall while working at Beacon.

Mrs. Fred Duckett and daughter, Joyce Ann, of Denton, are spending some time at their new home in Summer Haven while Fred is holding a revival in Charlottesville, Va. Mrs. Gertrude Carroll, Mrs. Jennie Davis, Mrs. Ellen John-

Read the Labels in Your Buying

More than ever school and casual dresses—and piece goods—are labeled "wash and wear," "drip dry," "needs little ironing," and "wrinkle resistant."

Vat dyes are the best dyes. They are used on cottons and rayons. A dress labeled "Sanforized," "Rigmel," or "will not shrink more than 2 per cent" should not shrink out of fit.

A dress fabric that has been given special finish and labeled "crease resistant," "wash and wear," "drip dry," or "minimum care," will not shrink out of fit, either. Some names of these finishes you will find on labels are Regulated, Disciplined, Perma-Pressed, Minicare, and Wrinkled for cottons; and Avocet for rayons.

Mercerized means that the cotton has more luster and is stronger. Combed cotton means more luster. It keeps its smooth feel through washing and wearing.

Some corduroys are machine washable, and others are only hand washable because their colors won't stand up under the hot water in the machine. If you expect to machine wash, look for "machine washable" on the label. Never take it for granted. Wrinkle-resistant finishes are new for corduroy. They work.

Save the Label: It's a guide for care. It may give you detailed directions for care.

RED CROSS FUNDS

Why does the Red Cross maintain disaster reserves when the federal government uses tax money for community or area emergencies?

The federal funds go only to restore public facilities. Without the Red Cross money and trained Red Cross personnel, the stricken families would go without food, medicine or shelter and there would be no restoration of homes and neighborhood services.
