WOMEN'S CLUB NEWS CORNER

The Junior women won first place for their year book, which is a complete outline of the program for the year including the budget and all other necessary data. Also, the Junior women second place for their scrap book which includes news clippings and other evidence of the previous year work. This is not the first time the club has won these awards, for many years past they have won recognition in both these endeavors.
The next activity for the active Juniors is the Harvest Moon Ball sponsored by the Ways and Means committee of which Betty Brown (Mrs. Bob) and Alice Turner are chairmen. The Juniors all over the state are very large contributors to the state projects and to the local civic organizations as well.

This week, because several have asked for them, the breads and coffee cake recipes will be printed (space permitting.) The Cranberry Nut bread is suggested for the Christmas holiday table, the Swedish Nut Cake is so delicious it is probably intended as dessert although it makes a luscious coffee cake for a guest breakfast, morning circle meeting (when what to serve is a major problem), or it too, would be nice for the holiday season.

BREADS
Cranberry Walnut (or Pecan) Bread
Mrs. Carl Bowness
2 cups flour, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 tsp. soda, 1/2 tsp. baking powder.
Sift dry ingredients together. Put into measuring cup the grated rind and juice of one orange and 2 tbsp. shortening, add enough boiling water to make 3/4 cup. Beat 1 egg very well, add liquid, then dry ingredients sifted together. Last add 1 cup chopped nuts, 1 cup sliced raw cranberries, bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

Swedish Nut Cake
Mrs. A. J. Schneider
Mix: 1/4 lb. margarine, 2 eggs, 1 c. sugar, 1/2 tsp. almond extract, 1/2 tsp. vanilla extract. Sift 2 c. flour, 1 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. baking soda, pinch of salt. Add this flour mixture to the egg mixture. Add 1/2 pint sour cream. Mix 1/2 c. sugar, 1/4 c. pecans (ground fine), 1 tsp. cinnamon.

Pour flour and egg mix into a tube cake pan, cut nut mix with a knife. Bake 40 minutes at 375 degrees.

Chunk O' Cheese Bread
Mrs. W. M. Styles
1 1/2 cups water, 1/2 c. corn meal, 2 tsp. salt, 1/2 c. molasses, 2 tbsp. butter, 1 pkg. yeast, 1/2 c. warm water, 4 1/2 c. sifted flour, 1 lb. American cheese, cut into 1/4 inch cubes.
In 2 qt. sauce pan combine water, corn meal and salt. Bring to boil, stirring constantly, cook until slightly thickened. Remove from heat, stir in molasses and butter. Cool to lukewarm.

Soften yeast in water in large mixing bowl; blend in corn meal mixture. Gradually add flour to form stiff dough. Knead on well floured surface until smooth and satiny, about 5 min. Place in greased bowl and cover. Let rise in warm place until light and double in size. 1 to 1 1/2 hours.
Line two 8 or 9 inch round pans with 14 in. squares of foil, edges extending over pan; grease well. Place dough on surface sprinkled with corn meal. Work cheese into dough, 1/4 at a time, until cubes are evenly distributed. Divide into two parts.

Cheese-Poppy Seed Spoon Bread
Mrs. Walter Davis
2 cups water, 1 cup white uncooked rice, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 2 tsp. prepared mustard, 1 c. grated sharp cheese, 1 c. milk, 1 egg beaten, 1 tbsp. poppy seed, 2 tsp. margarine or butter, 1/2 tsp. paprika.
Early in the day put water, rice, and salt in pan; boil over high heat, turn to low, cover and simmer 14 min. Remove from heat, let stand 10 min. Stir mustard, black pepper, 1/2 c. cheese, milk and egg into hot rice. Spread evenly in well greased shallow casserole. Sprinkle on the poppy seed and remaining 1/2 c. cheese. Butter over top, cool, cover and put in refrigerator just before serving. Bring to room temperature, sprinkle with paprika, heat and brown. (More to come)

WBMT - 1350 ON YOUR DIAL FOR GOOD LISTENING!

Dr. Eli M. Nadel, Assistant Director, National Cancer Institute, will speak on "Recent Advances in Cancer Research" at the Medical & Scientific session of the Annual Meeting of the American Cancer Society, North Carolina Division, Sir Walter hotel, Raleigh, Nov. 5-6.
Dr. Nadel is a native of New York and a graduate of City College and Long Island College of Medicine.

Sen. Erwin Says:

WASHINGTON - I happen to believe this declaration of the Constitution of North Carolina: "All persons have a natural and inalienable right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences." For this reason, I regret the undue emphasis being placed upon the religious issue.
NO CENSURE - We ought to be slow to censure any man because of his religious affiliation. Not one man out of ten thousand acquires his faith by investigating and weighing the evidences of its authenticity. Birth and environment ordinarily determine our religious affiliations. We accept without question the beliefs of those among whom we are born and reared. If one is born of Catholic parents in a Catholic home, he is virtually certain to be of that faith. If one opens his eyes to the light of day in a Protestant home, he is virtually certain to be a Protestant.

SOME OBSERVATIONS - If we are to face squarely the religious issue and its implications, we will do well to recall some observations made by the late Chief Justice Stacy, one of North Carolina's wisest sons of all time, in the opinion which he wrote for the Supreme Court of North Carolina in State v. Deal (189 N. C. 278.)
Chief Justice Stacy said in that opinion:
"Of some reason, too deep to fathom, men contend more furiously over the road to heaven, which they cannot see, than over their visible walks on earth"; and "It would be almost unbelievable, if history did not record the tragic fact, that men have gone to war and cut each other's throats because they would not agree as to what was to become of them after their throats were cut."

WASHINGTON - This nation is on the eve of one of the greatest blessings of democracy. It is the selection by secret ballot of its public officials.

This, of course, is not a partisan appeal for votes. It is simply a hope that qualified voters will not shirk their responsibility on November 8.
NO EASY PERFORMANCE - Campaigning for office is one of the most strenuous, yet rewarding, of all pursuits. One comes face-to-face with the greatest friendships, loyalties, and, unfortunately, some of the less desirable characteristics of humankind. Such is the lot of the person who asks the people for their votes. As a consequence of long hours, loss of sleep, lack of rest, and the manifold requirements made of candidates, campaigning is not easy. In this way, the people are given an opportunity to see the candidates, learn their views, support the nominees and then party with the realization that the secret ballot is not to be taken lightly.

AWFUL RESPONSIBILITY - The citizens of this country have, as never before, had an opportunity to see the candidates, debate the issues and be reminded of the fundamental truth that the voter has the awful responsibility for saying who is to have charge of affairs in the offices, from the top to the bottom. It takes a few minutes to vote, to stand for something. Many will not, for one reason or another, feel that they can give democracy a hand by taking this time. Moreover, there are qualified voters who habitually find criticism of the performance of their officials but who never assume the civic responsibility which is so vital to our freedom.

WHAT IS THE ANSWER? - Whatever it is that makes citizenship responsibility take a back seat on election day for so many, it is a bad thing. There seems to be no answer to the dilemma of a republic whose citizenry will not discharge its responsibility.
In any event, this is to urge all North Carolinians who are qualified to vote to respect this great blessing of democracy.

Medical Aid For Aged

The recently adjourned session of the 86th Congress passed some significant amendments to the Social Security Act. One of these amendments now offers approximately 12,000,000 old people a promise of some help in paying their medical bills. Briefly what this newly passed amendment to the Social Security Act means is that the Federal government will offer medical help to the needy aged in every State that puts up money of its own to match the Federal contributions. This medical plan was worked out in Congress as a compromise to one of the hot political issues of the year.
In effect, this new program will be simply an addition to the existing Federal-State welfare system. If all the 50 States adopt their own programs and put up money to participate about 12.4 million people, 65 and over, will be eligible for these new benefits.

The 2.4 million people now on "old-age assistance" rolls will qualify automatically to meet federal requirement for participation. However, whether or not these people will receive additional benefits under the new program will be determined by the extent to which the individual States through their own legislative process decide to participate in this new grant-in-aid medical program. States that already pay some medical bills for old people on relief are counted on to expand and liberalize their plans to take advantage of these new Federal grants. States without such plans are expected to adopt medical care programs.
For those not on public relief but whose medical bills exceed their ability to pay, much will depend on the programs adopted by the individual States. The system approved by the Congress leaves the States a free hand in deciding how "hard up" its aged residents will have to be in order to qualify for medical aid. Each State will write its own regulations and its own "standards of need."

Another big decision by the States will be to decide as to the kinds of medical expenses that will qualify for Federal-State aid. Congress put no limits on this phase of the program.
