By Eula N. Greenwood
Sanford's Law Partners

When he moved the 60 rolling miles from Fayetteville to Raleigh last week to become the property of North Carolina for four years, he left behind two active members of his law firm.

They are Donald McCoy and L. Stacy Weaver.

McCoy is of the Scotland County McCoy's, all-wool-and-a-yard-wide, salt of the earth, very closely tied in all that makes Scotland county and Laurinburg great. They are the ones who helped make Laurinburg recently an All-American City. There a building is Presbyterian college. Now as to young Weaver, this is the late Chief Justice of the N. C. Supreme Court, Walter P. Stacy, was his great-uncle. Dr. C. C. Weaver, whom many remember as a great Methodist minister and a great Methodist administrator, was his grandfather. Atlantic Coast Conference Head Jim Weaver is his uncle. Phil Weaver, superintendent of Greensboro City Schools, is his uncle.

His father, Stacy Weaver, was as a young man connected with Rutherford college, was principal of Jonesville High School in Yadkin County, was later superintendent of the Statesville and Durham City Schools, and is now president of Methodist College, now operating but still under construction.

One of the greatest helps this school had was Terry Sanford.

So, our new Governor, who has assured us of a New Day for public education in North Carolina—and was elected on that premise—was closely tied in with privately supported institutions, both Presbyterian and Methodist—and surrounded with it from law partners!—before he ever actually got into the race for Governor.

Not The Same
We had never seen Terry Sanford wearing glasses . . . until he easily slipped them on a scant 10 minutes before taking that oath . . . aged him ten years, too . . . and made him look like a movie FBI man who had just found the clue.

But the man who attracted the most neck-stretching was that cute little redhead, Bob Kennedy, who was recognized at first by very few . . . because of his youthful appearance . . . and the fact that his hair was shorter and brushed much better than we have seen it on television.

More Inaugural Notes
Prize for best-dressed young wives of State officials likely must go to Mrs. L. Y. Ballentine, wife of the Agriculture Commissioner . . . a golden gown for the Inaugural Ball . . . and a big flowered hat for the inaugural ceremonies. Very chic . . . and a beautiful ensemble.

Retiring Lt. Gov. L. Bernhardt had to miss the events because of a recent operation . . . Backler Edwin Gill and Wade Bruton, who recently lost his wife, had niece and sister, respectfully, as partners in the Grand March.

A Beautiful Byrd
Although some eight years the senior of Gov. Sanford, Lt. Gov. Cloyd Philpott looks young for his 51 years . . . The daughters of several members and former members of the Legislature were among the lovelies presented as Inaugural Ball sponsors . . . and just a lot of them looked like their pappies . . . and were still beautiful!

One of the most attractive of them, we thought, was Byrd Satterfield, who has the same name as her father, who has been representing Person county for a spell . . . and is back for his sixth term. One of his biennial opponents was the late R. Harris, who though he had been an excellent Lt. Gov. could not become the master of Satterfield.

Face-Lifting Needed
This marked the seventh time—the first was in 1936—Secretary of State had been sworn in . . . and Thad Eure's remaining those years . . . I've thought often . . . kept us from having an unusually good Governor. As they took their places—rather tiredly, we thought—on the stage . . . we had the same feelings about L. Y. Ballentine and Edwin Gill.

Memorial Auditorium here used for all the official out-of-the-Mansion changing of the guard last week . . . real-

SHOPE CREEK

By Mrs. Thelma Buckner
(January 5)
Traditional blackeyed peas, hog jowl and collard greens were among the items of food on our table on New Year's day.

On December 21, the Intermediate class of Berea Baptist church entertained us with Christmas carols, and presented Mom with a large basket of ruits. We praise them for their courage to come out on a night like that—snow covering the ground and the mercury down to 12 degrees. Those in the group were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chapman, Linda Kay Allen, Jean Stevens, Patricia and Wanda Lawrence, Ned Green, Danny Marlow, Ronnie King, Johnny and Leona Ballew and Charlie Sanders.

Members from three of the churches in our community got together on Dec. 22 at the Riceville Community Center for a program of Christmas carol singing. The churches taking part were: Bethel Methodist, Berea Baptist and Riceville Presbyterian. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served.

Out of town guests here for the holidays were: Mr. and Mrs. Carl O. Shope of Missouri, spent their vacation here with relatives.
Mr. and Mrs. Thad A. Gregg of Flint, Mich., spent Christmas with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeter Rhew of Oakley and Mrs. Jennie Gregg, Shope Creek.
Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cordell and children of Cleveland, Tenn., were holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cordell of Dillingham circle.

Miss Norma Gregg left for Flint, Mich., last week. Going home with her uncle and aunt, the T. A. Greggs.
Mr. and Mrs. George Creaman and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gilliam ate New Year's dinner at the Royal Steak House in Fletcher, then went to open house at the new Air Port. They also visited the new Christian church at Bee Tree. The members of this church had their first services on Sunday, Jan. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Edmonds of Swannanoa were guests of the George Creaman family on Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Creaman, Ronnie and Cathy King of Jones Cove, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Creaman and Danny of West Asheville were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mildred Bartlett and boys of Black Mountain on New Year's eve.
Newlywed husband: "What are we having for New Year's dessert, dear?"
Bride—"Sponge cake. I sponged the eggs off Mrs. Smith, the flour from Mrs. Jones, and the milk from Mrs. Brown."

BLUE RIDGE BRIDGE CLUB WINNERS GIVEN

Thursday night, Jan. 5, at the Monte Vista hotel winners in the Blue Ridge Bridge club were: North-South, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Brady; second, Mrs. Max Woodcock and Lowry Covin; third, Mrs. Claudia McGraw and Miss Peggy Dennis. East-West, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. White; second, Joe Reynolds and Douglas Jones; third, N. C. Shuford and Don Livingston, officers and board members for the new year are: president, Lowry Covin; vice-president, Mrs. R. T. Greene; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Max Woodcock; director, Max Woodcock; asst. director, Charles Ross; board of directors, Mrs. Douglas Jones, Woodrow Beddingfield, and W. C. Field.

TEA AND TOPIC HEARS REPORT ON MOSS HART'S "ACT I"

The Tea and Topic club met on Jan. 9 at the home of the president, Mrs. A. F. Tyson, Jr. A report was made on the Christmas project, 42 families were remembered thru money from the United Fund, with supplementary funds from the club treasury. The members voted to give $50 to Operation Youth and $12 to the March of Dimes.
Mrs. Max Woodcock gave a delightful review of Moss Hart's book "Act I", which is the story of a poor boy who with determination and hard work rose to fame in the theater world.

Others present were Mrs. Byron, Mrs. Cooley, Mrs. Greene, Mrs. Greenwood, Mrs. Leeman, Mrs. Oulahan, Mrs. Ferley, Mrs. White, and Mrs. Wright.

What Is Aid To Dependent Children?

By Bernadette W. Hoyle
Public Information Officer
North Carolina State Board of Public Welfare.
(This is the third of a series explaining public welfare in North Carolina)
What is aid to dependent children?
It is a money payment for needy dependent children who have been deprived of parental care and support because of the death, physical or mental incapacity, or continued absence from home of one or both parents—natural, step or adoptive.
Where can one obtain full information about this program?
From the county department of public welfare.
Who may apply for financial assistance under this program?
Any parent or relative who is providing parental care and guidance, including a home, for a needy dependent child.
What are the eligibility requirements?
The child must have been in North Carolina for one year prior to the date of application, or, if less than one year old, the parent or other relative with whom the child lives must have lived in North Carolina for one year prior to the birth of the child. The child must be without adequate means of support. The child must be under 18 years of age.
Who is responsible for providing the information in the application?
The individual who applies.
What information is necessary?
Proof of age of the children to be included in the payment, residence of the children, kinship of the children to the applicant, verification of the fact that the children have been deprived of care and support from one or both parents and that the applicant is maintaining a home for the children. The caseworker will help when the applicant has difficulty in getting the necessary information.
What is the responsibility of the applicant?
To supply correct and truthful information, to discuss with the caseworker the family situation from time to time in order to determine whether eligibility still exists, to notify the caseworker of any change in address or any other change in the situation such as an increase or decrease in needs or income.
Where does the money come from for the payments?
From Federal, State and County funds.

WOMEN'S CLUB NEWS CORNER

The executive board of the Senior club met in the home of Mrs. Carl Bowness with Mrs. Gordon Greenwood assisting. Items of business included a summary of the annual report of club work to be submitted to the district for summation with other clubs for the state report. Although these items will be included in the Club Newsletter for the month of February there will be an account in this column so that others may know of the club's activities for the year.
Mrs. Greenwood was appointed chairman of the nominating committee for this year, two members at large to be elected from the general meeting this month. Mrs. Edna Johnson, Mrs. Albert Jern, Mrs. M. J. Wyrick and Miss Edith Van Duzer have served their two years in their respective offices and will need to be replaced for the coming year. The slate will be presented at the February meeting.

CP&L Region Industries Show Growth

The year 1960 closes on record-breaking industrial growth in the two-state region served by Carolina Power & Light Company.
Dan E. Stewart, CP&L vice president in charge of area development, revealed in a year-end report this week that announced expenditures for new and expanded industrial plants in the CP&L region total $101,402,700—nearly $26 million over 1959, which was a record year.
This growth will add some 12,675 new jobs and $38,390,180 in new payroll to the region's economy. Diversification is a keynote of the report: projects cover the spectrum of industrial enterprises, from missile fuels to electronics, glass, metals, chemicals, food processing, drugs, textiles, cement, wood products, and others.
The report covers 167 industrial projects, 69 of which are new plants representing investments of $45,757,000.

more regular meetings which the program chairman wished to have at the set times, the new time for meetings, at 2:30, passed at the November meeting, will not go into effect until next September. The March meeting, the style show, will be in the afternoon due to the number of children participating, and the May meeting is the Anniversary Luncheon for which Mrs. Bowness and her committee have not set the time, as yet.
There have been several withdrawals from the club, largely due to the members moving from the area. There are nine new members who have been accepted into the club this year.
Mrs. M. J. Wyrick, chairman of the Style Show, in March, wishes all women in the Black Mountain area who see, to participate in the program by making an item to model. Any hand-made item of apparel will be of interest and many who do not wish to model their clothing may enter it for display.
