Twenty Years of Military Duty

A unique product of our the Women's Army time. Corps, celebrates its 20th anniversary May 14. Its formation in 1942 was a part of the powerful wartime social re form that revolutionized our way of living. It marked the first time in our history that American women would serve as bonafide members of our military forces.

Its beginnings were meager misunderstood. As a Chief of Military History has stated, "The WAC did not always understand the Army-its customs and traditions, its organization and necessary chain of command. The Army did not always inderstand the WAC - its needs and temperament, and many other things that man, being the son of woman, should have known but did not, much to his continued
