REFLECTIONS
 By Gordon Greenwood

STARTLED!
 When Mrs. S. P. Frazier of McCoy Cove road, Black Mountain, attended the Northside Methodist church in Cincinnati on Sept. 30, she was thrilled because her son, Donald Babcock, was choir director and his wife organist.
 But Mr. and Mrs. Babcock had a few surprises of their own in store for Mrs. Frazier.
 As the organist started playing the anthem, Mrs. Frazier thought it sounded strangely familiar. One look at the church bulletin and she was sure. The choral anthem was an original, "We Beseech Thee", written by Mrs. Frazier, and this was the first time it had been used in a public service.

TWO-WAY SYSTEM
 The two-way system in football is nothing new. In fact, Swannanoa High school in pre-war days had three boys who were three-way and did a fine job.
 Louie Joyner, Dick Stone, and Poss Patton not only played outstanding games on the football team, but they doubled in brass by rushing from the field to the stands at halftime, grabbing their musical instruments, and furnishing entertainment for the spectators.

It is rumored that on days when things were not going too well and the off-tackle slants didn't work, the boys went straight from the field to the stands and didn't bother to check with the coach for the briefing which the other boys received.

MORE OF THE SAME
 Our recent comments on language which sounds strange to the outsiders brought a generous response. E. B. Kimsey, 78, suggested that the word "passel", or that is what it sounds like, is an expression that was at one time in common use in the county of Macon. You could add Buncombe to the list without stretching the truth very far.

One expression that amused Mrs. Austin Dickens when they first moved to the mountains was our way of answering when someone asks if we want something. "I don't care if I do", makes sense to me but I can understand that it might be confusing to some.
 Another one that confuses the non-native one end is our way of saying when we want to compliment someone:
 "That's the best football game I nearly ever saw."
 My friends from the flatland had a lot of fun with me about that one. They would wink at one another and then ask in a serious tone:
 "Now let me see, do you mean you saw the game, saw part of it, or didn't see it at all?"

It took me quite a while to convince the doubters that it WAS the best game I nearly ever saw. What's wrong with that?
 However wrong I might have been on some, I found after travelling all the way to England that I was right on the word prize.

I like to prize a stump or rock out of the ground, but some of my friends pretended not to know what I meant. They maintained that I meant pry.
 But I did mean prize and was glad to learn that the word is in common use in English newspapers. In fact, it's the fifth usage given in Webster's Dictionary.

EVENING IN MANSION
 The first time he went to Raleigh several years ago, Mark Bennett, candidate for the House of Representatives from Yancey county, spent the evening in the Mansion as an uninvited guest.
 He was supposed to pick up a friend at a hotel in downtown Raleigh. Being unfamiliar with the city he sighted the Mansion all lighted up and thought it was the hotel.

Going in and finding no one around, he took a seat in what he thought was the lobby and waited and waited.
 Finally a man dressed for all the world like a hotel porter appeared on the scene and asked his name.
 As the man disappeared through a door through which the sound of many voices indicated that a meal was in progress, it suddenly dawned on Mark that he was in the wrong place.
 He waited only long enough to hear the butler ask,
 "Governor, are you expecting Mr. Mark Bennett?"
 Mark never did know what the answer was. He was in orbit and on his way to the right place before the answer came.
 Looking back on the experience, Mark opines:
 "I could have carried half the building off and no one would have known it!"

And that is the unique advantage of the flameless electric heat pump.

Since there is no flame, there are no products of combustion such as moisture, soot, grime or smoke. The electric heat pump consumes no oxygen thus insuring a clean, constant, healthful supply of filtered air. It is the truly modern way to "climatize" your home the year 'round.

Using no fuel except electricity, the same unit cools you pleasantly in summer—keeps you comfortably warm in winter. If you are wondering how the electric heat pump compares in operating cost, just ask your CP&L representative to show you case histories and actual operating records. In this way, you can prove to yourself that this unique cooling and heating system costs no more than competitive systems.

Remember—only flameless electricity provides matchless Medallion Living.
