The Arts and Crafts of Swannanoa Woman's Club will have their Christmas party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Huggins at 8 p.m. Thursday. Husbands are invited.
Church News
Next Sunday will be observed as White Christmas Day in Swannanoa First Baptist church when the members will take food and clothing to be given for the needy families in the community. The choir of the church went caroling on Tuesday night at 7 p.m. at the W. N. C. Sanatorium.

Free-Will Baptist
Tomorrow night (Thursday) the Youth Choir of the church will go Christmas caroling for the patients at the VAH at Oteen. All young people will meet at Horney Heights church in West Asheville at 6:30 p.m.
The church will give their annual Christmas program this Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. The play, "A Gift For The Christ Child" is under the direction of Mrs. Hazel Rice.

Presbyterian
Evening Circle No. 1 met with Mrs. Lester Conley Monday evening for their regular Bible Study on the Beatitudes taught by Mrs. W. H. McMurray, Sr. Members brought gifts for students at the Juvenile Evaluation Center.

Following the Bible Study and business presided over by Mrs. Clara Snyder, a social hour was enjoyed at which time gifts were exchanged. Husbands were invited guests.

Those attending other than the ones already mentioned were: Mrs. Winnie Young, Mrs. Dale Wilford, Mrs. Evelyn Statton, Mrs. Agnes Penland, Mrs. Eugene Lovens, Mrs. Pete Nelson, Mrs. Edna McCall, Frank Huggins and Lester Conley.
The Christmas motif was used in decorations and refreshments.

WCSB Has Christmas Party
The December meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service was held at the church Tuesday, December 11.
Mrs. Nellie Wilkins had charge of the short business session after which Mrs. C. Gwaltney gave the story of the Birth of Jesus from Luke 2.
The annual Christmas party followed with games appropriate for the occasion. Mrs. Ernest Herbert and Mrs. Elmer Griffin, dressed as Santa and his wife, gave out the Christmas gifts.

The fellowship hall of the church was beautifully decorated by Mrs. Griffin.
Hostesses, Mrs. Griffin, Miss Leal Mann, and Mrs. Connor served fruit cake, Russian Tea, nuts and mints to the eighteen present.

Mrs. Dunton Speaks To Circle
Mrs. Rupert Dunton was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Women's Circle of the Methodist church Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. Vance Robertson. She spoke most interestingly on her Bible Teaching work at Swannanoa. She also told of some of the experiences and her background before coming to Warren Wilson where her husband is on the staff.

During the business the members voted to give a gift of money to the lady at the Sanatorium whom the WCSB sponsors and also a gift of money to the Juvenile Center.

This was a covered dish luncheon and twelve members and visitors enjoyed the dinner and meeting. Gifts were exchanged and Mrs. Robertson had choir boys and girls as favors for the guests.

Methodist
The Methodist Youth Fellowship will present a three act Christmas play Sunday night at 7 o'clock. The play, "His Christmas Welcome" is being directed by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Franklin, counselors. Everyone is asked to bring a gift of food or money wrapped in white and present it at the altar for the needy families of the community at the conclusion of the play.

The monthly meeting of the Official Board of the church met Sunday night at 7 p.m.
MYF Sub-District Council meeting and MYF Sub-District meeting were held at Tabernacle church Monday evening with a good number attending from the local church. The Sub-district will hold a watch night service at the Swannanoa Church New Years Eve.

name, she may write "Mary Jones Smith."
This is the customary form of signature used by a married woman when she signs as maker of a promissory note or as drawer of a check. Government savings bonds, corporate shares, shares in federal savings and loan associations, shares of building and loan associations, deeds to land, titles to automobiles, and insurance policies are generally issued to married women in this manner.

Indorsements or transfers of ownership of property evidenced by writing should, of course, follow the form of name used in such documents. For example, if Mrs. Smith receives a check to Mrs. John T. Smith, she should indorse by writing "Mrs. John T. Smith."

There is nothing illegal in Mrs. Smith signing her contracts or documents as "Mrs. John T. Smith." They are not void if she does. In fact, many wives sign their checks in this form. Their signature cards at the bank are in this form. If such wives want to affect a change of signature at the bank, they should advise the bank.

A person can use any name or scribbling he wants as a signature. In business and legal matters, it is merely more correct for a married woman to sign her name as "Mary J. Smith" or "Mary Jones Smith." The prefix "Mrs." is not used as part of the signature.

Emily Post says: "The only times when a lady of quality signs her name 'Mrs.' are these: in a hotel register, to a business telegram, to a servant in her own employ, or to an order letter possibly to a tradesman. And then it must be 'Mrs. John Smith.'

The proper way for a married woman to sign a business or formal letter is to write "Mary J. Smith" or "Mary Jones Smith," and then underneath, in parenthesis, "(Mrs. John T. Smith)." The name underneath is for information only, and is not the signature.

In writing to friends and acquaintances who know perfectly well to whom she is married, she may simply sign "Mary Smith." To acquaintance who may possibly have difficulty in knowing actually to whom she is married, she may add under "Mary Smith," in parenthesis, "(Mrs. John T. Smith)."

Signatures of Wives
Mary Jones married John T. Smith. How could she sign her name to contracts and other legal documents?
The generally accepted legal way is for her to sign by simply writing "Mary J. Smith." If she prefers, or if the form of the contract specifies the full middle
