Personals
"How good it is to be back!" And now that I am back, may I take this opportunity to thank "You my friends" for your many, many kindnesses to me and to my family during my illness.
The Lord has surely been good to me. Having a wonderful christian doctor, Dr. Jesse P. Chapman, and all of you who prayed, sent messages called and visited me, certainly made my shut-in days cheerful ones.
I am most grateful and I pray that I can in some small way be a better Witness for our Master.
Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Belle of Ossing, N. Y., arrived here Monday afternoon for a visit with Mrs. Belle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Inabinet. Mrs. Belle is the former Miss Ora Lee Inabinet.
Mrs. Ruth Thompson and little daughter Paulette moved recently from their home on Carver Ave., to Philadelphia

Congressman Roy A. Taylor Reports From Washington

Congress observed October 7th as Free Enterprise Day. It was my pleasure to present the following remarks in the House of Representatives out of conviction that we in America should never lose sight of the benefits of America's free enterprise system.

"Free enterprise like other freedoms, should be appreciated and cherished by every American citizen. If America's greatness can be attributed to a single cause, it is, in my opinion freedom of individual enterprise of thought and action.

The United States, with six percent of the world's population and seven percent of the world's land, produces 50 percent of the world's goods. We are the best fed, clothed and housed people in the world—a standard of living unequalled in the world.

The strength of our economic system lies in its freedom and spirit of competition. These factors have combined to produce increased efficiency in production and distribution methods.

World progress has been synonymous with those systems of government whose economics are founded on free competition and recognition of individual initiative.

Our various branches of government must not do for our people those tasks which they can better perform themselves. Such lessens individual initiative and is a dangerous procedure. Basically, I favor as little government regulation and control as possible. I do not favor the federal government rendering services which can be rendered by the states and local units of government.

During the last few days, entire communities in West North Carolina have joined with business and industrial leaders to celebrate Free Enterprise Day. I commend these citizens for their effective action in helping tell the free enterprise story.

From time to time in our history, other systems of government have attempted intrusions and, like unwelcome guests, have asserted with unrestrained propaganda that other ideologies are superior to free enterprise. Today, I believe we are witnessing the deterioration of these systems of economy and government. The Soviets are admittedly in economic trouble. So are the Cubans and Red Chinese.

So long as we in the United States continue to recognize the rights of the individual and his right to compete freely with other individuals, according to his own dictates and abilities, I believe we will continue to offer our citizens a trusteeship to a promising future.

To this purpose, we rededicate ourselves."

MISSION STUDY—

luncheon at 12:30, followed by a speaker, Miss Zula Terry from the Brooks-Howell Home for retired missionaries and deaconesses of the Methodist Church. She will review a portion of the text "Christian Issues in Southern Asia" by P. D. Devanandan.
Anyone in the community who is interested is cordially invited to attend one or both of the meetings.

CALENDAR DRIVE—

Oct. 17, Leon Williams, chairman, announced today. All Lions having listings must submit their final reports by that time. These may be left with Mrs. Williams at the William Oil Service or at 121 Church street.
This is very important because the master copies must be in Kansas City by Oct. 21. After the reports are received they must be re-typed on a master sheet and prepared for mailing to the publisher.
All Lions are urged to cooperate.
Anyone wishing to list names, anniversaries, or meeting date of clubs on the big 1964 Lions Birthday Calendar may do so prior to Thursday at either the Black Mountain News, at the William Oil Service, or with any Lion.

as successful, but added that a series of events would continue so as to get started on a building for the coming year. He urged all families to continue their pledges until the project is finished.
After the business hour, two men of the Swannanoa area, Laurence Daugherty, and Howard Dillingham became members of the club. Mr. Hamilton also stated that a complete financial statement will be issued before the new year.

Authorities On Family Life To Speak Oct. 24

The Friends of the Library announce proudly that they will present for their second evening meeting, Dr. David Mace and his wife, Vera Mace. This will be at 8:00 o'clock on Thursday, Oct. 24, in Fellowship hall, First Baptist church. The public is invited.

The Maces are an internationally known husband-wife team in the Family Life field. At present they are joint executive directors of the American Association of Marriage Counselors, with headquarters in Madison, N. J.

For the Black Mountain program the Maces will review their latest book, "THE SOVIET FAMILY," published this year. They will also tell of how their material was gathered for the book and show slides of their three-month study and unguided tour of the Soviet Union. They were asked by a publishing company to write this volume; and after two years of study of the Russian language and much reading on life in the Soviet Union, they made their unhurried journey for first-hand information. Their volume on the Soviet family is the first of its kind to appear in the United States.

The Maces have traveled in over 50 countries of the world, teaching and counseling in the field of family relations. They are natives of England but have lived in the United States for the past 13 years. David Mace has probably written more articles on marriage than any other author in the world. With eight books to his credit in this area of interest, he presently contributes to McCALLS and the READER'S DIGEST. He and his wife are co-authors of a very valuable and popular volume, "MARRIAGE EAST AND WEST," published in 1960.

The Maces spend a part of every summer in England. This year a niece of Vera Mace, along with her husband, returned with Dr. Mace and Mrs. Mace. Dr. Mace has a speaking engagement at Appalachian State Teachers college, Boone, while in North Carolina. The Maces and their relatives will be guests of the Ralph Bridgman and the William Morgans while in Black Mountain.

BLACK MOUNTAIN LIBRARY HOURS
Monday — 6 p.m.—8 p.m.
Friday — 10-12 a.m.
Wed. and Sat. — 3-6 p.m.

New non-fiction books about North Carolina now at the Library are:
Carolina Gardens by E. T. Shaffer. In this reissue of a classic work which has been unavailable for two decades, Mr. Shaffer presents the history, romance and tradition of the notable gardens of North and South Carolina over a period of 200 years and gives the reader a fascinating and authentic general background of the colonial culture which began the garden tradition. The description and photographs of famous as well as representative gardens show how the cultivation of beauty has been kept alive and thriving into our own times.

The Independent Man—The Story of a Highly Personal Journalist and His Delightfully Different Newspaper by Keith Saunders. Recounts the trials and tribulations encountered in publishing his newspaper, The Independent, at Elizabeth City, N. C. from 1908-1937.

STORY HOUR FOR CHILDREN
The Library Board will present a series of Story Telling hours for children three and one-half to six years of age at the Black Mountain Library on the five Fridays in November. The series begins on November 1, at 10:00 a.m., and is under the experienced leadership of Dr. Eleanor Behre, Mrs. James Robson, and Mrs. Ralph Brigman. Parents are invited to bring their children for a real treat.
