RECREATION PROGRAM IN FULL SWING AROUND LAKE AREA

These pictures show individual groups at play and two vacant chairs waiting for two fishermen who must wet their bait either early in the morning or late in the afternoon.

These youngsters are only a small portion of those who are taking advantage of the varied sports offered. For more details see Town Topics, inside.

Donations are continuing to come in from residents, businesses, and summer visitors who know that a busy child is a happy child. There is something offered for every age and with the lighting of the basketball court, games will begin in the evening soon.

Another excellent program pertaining to arts and crafts has been arranged for AARP members by the program chairman, Robin Amoss. The next meeting of the Swannanoa Valley chapter has been scheduled for Friday of this week, July 10, and will be held in the conference room of the Asheville Federal Savings and Loan building in Black Mountain.
 Coffee will be served at 10 a.m. with the program beginning at 10:15. Mrs. Clara Mulloy Pultin of Black Mountain will be present with palette, paints, and brushes to illustrate how a beginner may achieve early satisfaction as he begins dabbling in oils and watercolors. Mrs. Emma Berger, also of Black Mountain, with pictures and through demonstration will reveal the intricacies of the skills involved in card weaving. One practical advantage of card weaving for most retired persons is that it may be done without a loom. The main purpose in bringing these two talented persons before the group at this time is to create further interest in the art and craft as a way in which retired people may use their time creatively which in turn contributes to the continued well being of the individual so occupied.
 Mrs. Pultin has studied in Washington, D. C., Florida, and Asheville. She has had special instruction in watercolors with Elliot O'Hara, well known artist. Her background for oil painting was enriched through study with Mrs. Laura Bess Locke of De-

Playhouse To Present "The Prisoner"

Theatre Montreat will present "The Prisoner" by Bridget Boland at the Graybeard Playhouse on July 15-17 at 8:00 p.m. "The Prisoner" has achieved popular acclaim on both the American and English stage and was an outstanding British film. The drama presents the encounter between an official interrogator of a European state and a priest. The interrogator applies the insidious methods of a trained psychologist instead of the usual method of physical torture in an attempt to break the will and spirit of the priest. The interrogator's purpose is to make the priest confess a confession that will make a confession of the churchman's public image, which has opposed the state.
 "The Prisoner" is based on the life of Cardinal Mindzenty and was played by Sir Alec Guinness on the London stage. At the Graybeard Playhouse the role of the prisoner will be played by Robert Martin, a graduate of Waynesburg college in Pennsylvania. Mr. Martin is a member of the honorary dramatic fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega and is presently studying for a master's degree at the Presbyterian School of Christian Education. The role of the interrogator will be played by Mr. Narramore, a second year graduate student in drama at the University of Texas. In addition to his roles in production at Austin college, Mr. Narramore has appeared in television films and has directed several plays.

Rev. Farrior Briefs Club On Chinese State

Rev. S. C. Farrior, many years a Presbyterian missionary in China, was guest speaker before the local Kiwanis club at their luncheon meeting at noon on July 2 at the Monte Vista hotel.
 Rev. Farrior gave an enlightening review of Chinese history before, during, and after the Communist takeover. Before the Communists, China was in a state of deep depression and humiliation, due largely to foreign aggression and also the corruption of the Manchu reign. The country was therefore receptive to the promises of better living by the Communists who were under the direction of the Russians, who worked mostly with receptive student groups.
 The takeover really began after the Japanese surrender and was completed by 1950. Land was taken over and former landlords executed. Where land was redistributed it was then taxed so highly the new owners could not hold it.
 There are few Christian churches, as such, left, although there are many staunch Christians in the background who have had to go underground with their religion. Education is a function of the government and so parents are not allowed to even teach religion to their children.
 The program was furnished by member George Ensminger. Seven guests were present.

Covers for the season's use at Theatre Montreat are adorned this year with the silhouette designed by Nancy Maurer.

The knesling figure depicts the giving of talents for Christian service through art and drama as a medium to relate the relevant message of the twentieth century church.
 The show grounds, nestled in a mountain cove and looking out toward the Blue Ridge mountains and Mount Mitchell to the north, receive high praise. The outside hunt course where the hunter classes are held on Friday and Saturday afternoons is one of the finest in the south and attracts an unusually large number of entries. Equitation, western and pleasure classes are held in the ring simultaneously with the classes on the outside course.
 Evening performances on Friday and Saturday nights in the lighted ring are devoted to jumping, gaited and walking horses, with the championship classes held on Saturday night. The 42 classes comprise 11 divisions, of which Glenn Lanning of Chester, S. C., will judge the saddle

In fact the day of the home built for summer use only is nearly gone, stated Mr. Wood. New home construction in Black Mountain township now approaches a million dollars per year.
