land, Black Mountain, and Mrs. Lois Tracy of Asheville. Exhibits of Mrs. Poulitin's paintings are now on display in the left corridor of Lee hall at Blue Ridge assembly, and in the dining room of the Monte Vista hotel. Mrs. Berger has had training and broad experience in many kinds of crafts, having received special instruction in Canada and at the Penland School of Crafts. She had charge of instruction in the district of the Chicago Park district. Her work for a number of years was centered in Hamlin Park on Chicago's north side. In more recent years she has been sharing generously her knowledge of art and crafts with interested groups in Florida and Western North Carolina.

The program as described is designed to create greater local interest in the arts and crafts in preparation for an Arts and Crafts Fair which the local AARP chapter is sponsoring to be held in Black Mountain this coming October. Summer visitors who are members of AARP chapters elsewhere as well as other people in the valley especially interested, are most cordially invited to be present.

will be accepted for all classes up to two hours ahead of show time in each performance. Richard Stone, mayor of Black Mountain, J. Herbert Coman, president of the Black Mountain Chamber of Commerce, and Coke Candler, chairman of Buncombe County Board of Commissioners, will give a word of welcome on Friday and Saturday evening performances. Performance time is at 1:00 and 8:00 p.m. each day. Admission for each performance is $1.00 for adults and 50¢ for students. The show grounds are ready, the horses will be there, and the Black Mountain Charity Horse show committee extends a hearty welcome to all who may enjoy a first rate horse show this week end.
