Leaders Need Help Lesson for July 26, 1964

Bible Material: Exodus 15:22 through 18:27.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 20:1-9.

PRIMA DONNAS are hard to get along with. It's hard to be in the same house with one, hard to be on a committee or a team with one. A real original prima donna is a singer (the name means First Lady) who does soprano parts at the opera. They are notoriously tem-peramental. They make it rather hard for the other members of the cast. They don't like to share a scene,

Dr. Foreman they want to dominate it. Now prima donnas in ordinary life are like that. They the office of said Clerk on OF THE POWER OF SALE have plenty of talent, perhaps even genius. But they do not work well on a team. They are star performers and they know it. But there is a difference between a superior performer and a performer who can't forget that he

But if they don't all try to do the same, he's not a leader. A leader is followed. Now some of the greatest mistakes in history have occurred when leaders have tried to be prima donnas, or vice versa. Hitler was a first-class prima donna; but he called himself a Leader. He seldom would listen to advice.

congregation to help the minister? It was true of Moses too. There was a man of God if ever there was one: immortal in human memory as one of the greatest leaders in all history . . . yet even he was tempted to play prima donna. Because he could do anything better than most others, he tried to do everything. Because he was a good judge, none better, he made the attempt to judge everything. Now every man has his limitations. No man, for example, can do more than he has time to work in. Even if his powers were un-limited, which they are not, he cannot do in ten hours what calls for twenty hours to do it right. Ministers have been known to suffer nervous breakdowns because they thought they did not need help; and Moses was headed for the same kind of trouble, till old Jethro gave him the advice which saved the situation. The humility of a leader

Moses was one of the best educated men of his time, and immensely superior to the other Israelites. Jethro, his old fatherin-law, was on the other hand, one of the most ignorant of men. He had never lived, so far as we know, outside that rocky wilderness. When he ventured to give Moses advice on how to handle the crowds that came before him from dawn to dark, demanding his decision on innumerable problems large and small, Moses did not brush him off. Moses listened: one of the humblest acts recorded of any leader in history. It was a humble thing old Jethro advised him to do, too. Appointing subordinate judges to help solve the people's problems would be, in a way, governing by committee, and we can imagine Moses had no great liking for that. But the mere admission of others (none in his class, either) to the administration of national affairs would be admitting he could not do it all. Well, even the greatest have to admit it: they are not superhuman, and though they are God's men, there are no more hours in a day for them than for any one else. The great man may accept help grudgingly, but God's leaders accept gratefully. They take helpers as God's gift and

LOVE FOR ALL

When Mrs. Calvin Coolidge was in the White House, a magazine writer interviewed her and among other questions asked, "What are your favorite books?" She replied, "People." Then she quoted the lines of a jingle that ran:

> The short, the fat, the lean, the tall, I don't give a rap, I love them all.

That was the way she felt about people.

The real test of Christian love is how wide it is. Does it include every person you know? Anyone can love his friends or the people who agree with him in customs, ideals, traits, and interests. But how do you feel toward a person who differs from you in personal habits, speech, disposition, religion, or social philisophy?

Christian love encompasses your enemies, those who have hurt your friends, those who are peculiar, those who misunderstand you, and those who are unlovely. Nothing so breaks down barriers as love. It makes you get acquainted with people. Robert Browning says,

Yes: and "Love'

Is a short word that says so very much! It says that you confide in me.
