Warhorses Nip Black Hawks Here, 25-0

The Owen Warhorses, fighting to stay alive in the tough Buncombe County Conference, nipped the North Buncombe Black Hawks to their liking Friday evening and romped with a 25 to 0 victory. It was their first win of the season and leaves the locals with a 1-3-1 record.

WAYNESVILLE NEXT

Friday evening the Warhorses will travel to Waynesville to take on the Mountaineers in a Blue Ridge loop game.

Selected as one of the favorites at the start of the season, the Mountaineers have faltered and lost their last two games, both to teams from Tennessee.

Two weeks ago they dropped a 20-19 game to Young High of Knox county and then last Friday were shut out by Oak Ridge, 35 to 0. Oak Ridge is rated as one of the top clubs in ET. For the Waynesville encounter Coach Bill Stanley hopes to have his team back in top condition.

LAYER OF WEEK

These include Dan and Nancy, fleet halfback, who scored two touchdowns against North Buncombe and won.

New TV Outlet Brings CBS to Community

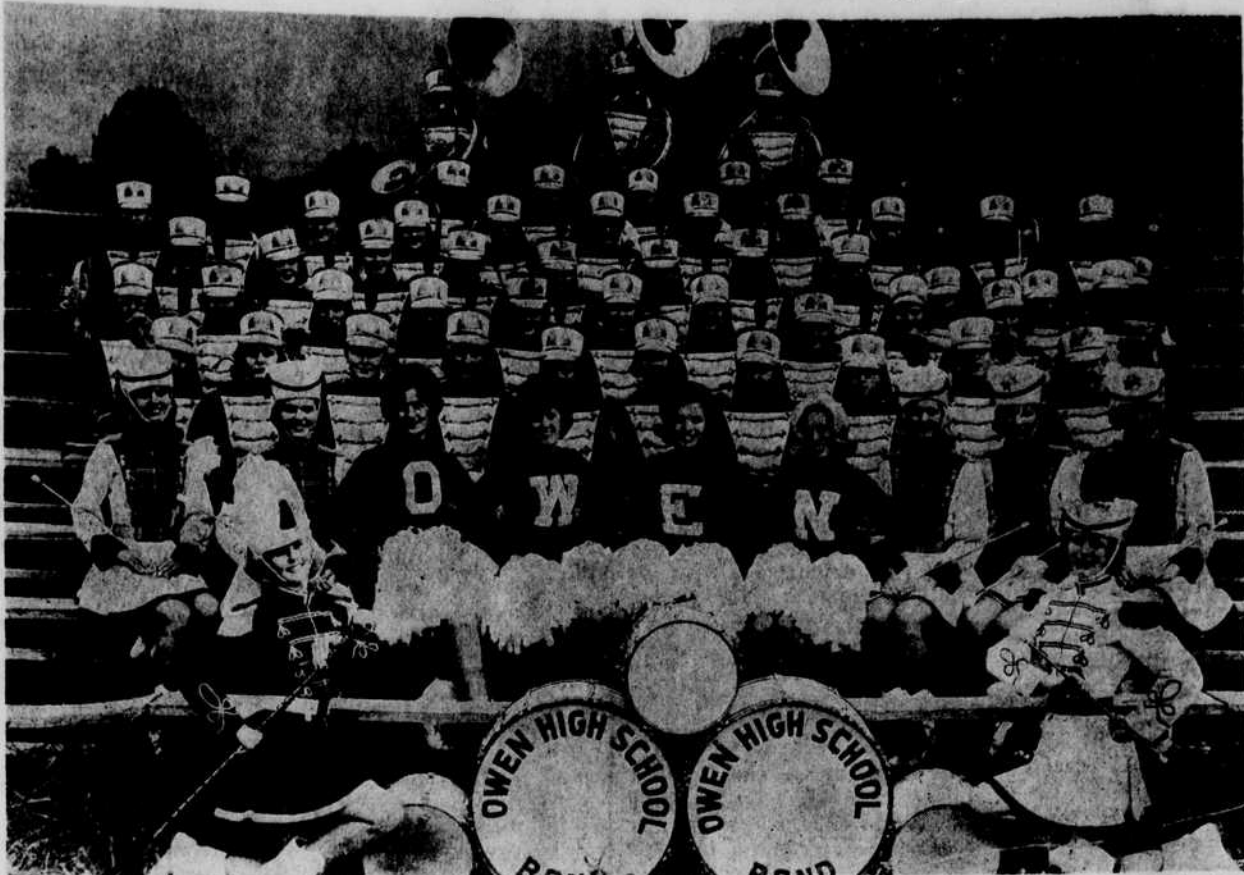

The WSPA-CBS television program is now available to vision viewers in the Black Mountain area on a translator station broadcast over Channel 10. The translator station picks up Channel 7 programs from main Hogback Mountain transmitter above Spartanburg and translates them on Channel 10 from Big Allen Mountain.

The range of the translator varies according to terrain, but a clear picture is available in Black Mountain, Montreat, Ridgecroft, Swannanoa, and some parts of the area. Reception here is from Otten.

We are delighted to bring additional television service to people of this area," Walter J. Brown, president of WSPA-TV declared. "We want to thank the citizens of this area who have cooperated in making it possible for us to locate this translator on Big Allen Mountain," Brown asserted.

Channel 10 is a newly located facility, Mr. Brown noted, and some sets may need adjustment by a television serviceman and for the pictures, antennas should be pointed toward Big Allen Mountain, 1.7 miles north of Black Mountain. WSPA-TV now has six translators on the air, bringing CBS programs to areas covered by nearby mountains which are in line of sight to the main Channel 7 translator on Hogback Mountain near Tryon. WSPA-TV programs are on Channel 9 in Waynesville and Clayton, and on Channel 8 in Brevard, and Channel 10 in Black Mountain.

Owen Band Prepares For Marching Contest

The Charles D. Owen High School Band will journey to Bristol, Tenn.-Va., Saturday, Oct. 3 to participate in the Southeastern States Marching Show. The band, 65 strong this year, is busy preparing a show which will exhibit both marching and playing abilities.

Richard Hipps, director of the band, says he is especially happy with the quality of work being done by the band this year and is impressed with the spirit and enthusiasm shown by them in rehearsal. If determination means anything, this year's band should show up well in the contest.

The band will leave Owen at 4 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 3, and return at approximately 3 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 4. A very busy day is planned for the youngsters, including a parade and the competition on the marching field. Approximately 5,000 high school musicians will be competing for trophies and awards. The bands are judged against a standard rather than against each other. Trophies are awarded for top division ratings in both band and majorette competition.

This is the largest festival of its kind in the Eastern United States and provides an excellent opportunity for bandsmen to see other bands in performance and to be rated by nationally known judges.

IMPROVE HOMES AND SCHOOLS PROFIT SAY SPEAKERS AT PTA

The Black Mountain Parent-Teachers Association held the first meeting of the 1964-65 year with a very good attendance to hear the impressive president's message and to ask questions of Dr. Frank Richardson, the speaker for the evening.

Rev. Henry Schum, pastor of the Swannanoa Presbyterian church, gave the devotions in which he asked for strong physical, moral, and safe homes from which to send the children to our schools.

The board, which had met on Monday, presented the budget for the year for $1310, which was approved by the assembly.

New teachers introduced by their principals were: Mrs. John Newton, Mrs. Beatrice Hampton, and Miss Ruth Gilbert at the primary building; and Mrs. Pauline Hunt and Frank Watkins at the elementary building.

Robert Gray, local PTA president, gave a most interesting message. He further carried out the idea introduced by Mr. Schum in asking that the homes be made a more ideal place for growing children; that parents particularly set a good example for their youngsters to emulate. In providing thus a good background the work of the teacher becomes not only more pleasant but more effective.

Mr. Gray further emphasized the important position of the teacher in the community, stressing the respect with which they should be treated for the tremendous job they do in guiding and directing our children.

Announces

Clyde Roberts has announced his intention to wage a lively campaign for the Congressional seat now occupied by Democrat Roy A. Taylor.

Launching his campaign at a rally in his home town of Marshall, Mr. Roberts told the gathering that the needs of this area will not be recognized by either the state or national governments because they are already assured of mountain support.

He further stated that the mountain region will never share in the progress of the rest of the state or nation so long as the voters remain "in the bag" for the Democratic party.

The GOP candidate, who only the night before had shared the platform in Charlotte with Sen. Barry Goldwater, was the principal speaker at the rally. A $5-a-plate dinner preceded the speeches.

Mr. Roberts is a Marshall attorney and former member of the State Senate.

C. D. Owen Says Beacon Plans To Diversify

"Diversification seems to be the answer to the problems of plants such as ours", Charles D. Owen, Sr., chairman of the board of directors and treasurer, told members of the Black Mountain Chamber of Commerce and their guests at the Monte Vista last week.

The Owen family recently sold a fifty per cent interest in Beacon Manufacturing Co. to Alamo Polymer Corporation of Bartlesville, Okla.

Alamo Polymer Corporation is jointly owned by Phillips Petroleum Company and National Distillers and Chemical Corporation.

The speaker explained that a new corporation has been organized to which the assets formerly owned by Beacon have been transferred. The new company will continue to carry on business here as Beacon Manufacturing Co. The Owen family will retain a fifty per cent interest in the new company.

Citing the advantages of the new arrangement Mr. Owen explained that the new company will have access to all the research facilities of both Phillips Petroleum and National Distillers. Already they are experimenting with a new type fabric, Polypropylene, which Mr. Owen described as a "Poor Man's Nylon".

Caudill's Book To Be Reviewed By Dr. Kester

The Friends of the Library announce their good fortune to secure Howard Kester to review Harry M. Caudill's important book, "Night Comes to the Cumberland". That will be on Wednesday, Oct. 7, at 10:30 a.m. in the community room, the Black Mountain branch of the Asheville Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Harry M. Caudill, an attorney of Whitesburg, Ky., writes of what mechanization of coal mining has done to three-fourths of the workers in his own Eastern Kentucky; he also brings to us a vivid picture of what mechanization and automation will do to us nationally if, along with these processes, America does not deal with man's social and spiritual life. Far too many are becoming the victims of a materialistic social order which venerate efficiency and wealth above all other things and largely disregard social and human consequences.

Members of the Friends of the Library program committee say they can think of no one who could bring to us more adequately than Howard Kester the timely message of this book. Much of his pro.—Turn to Page 10

OCTOBER 5-10 TO BE OBSERVED AS WEEK OF FIRE PREVENTION

Fire Prevention Week, beginning on Monday Oct. 5 and ending on Oct. 10, will again find the WNC Sanatorium the scene of exciting events which bring closer home to the observer the ever-present hazards presented by fire.

Fire departments from both Swannanoa and Black Mountain will participate in the demonstrations as well as the fire chief from Otten. The program planned for Oct. 8 will take place in the auditorium of the Sanatorium and everyone interested in the best and latest methods of preventing fires and lessening their danger, once started, is invited to attend. The proceedings will start at 2 p.m.

Techniques for patient evacuation and fire fighting technique will be demonstrated along with the various types of carrying methods. Dr. C. D. Thomas wishes to see that stress is placed on patients and others with clothing on fire. With this in mind a most unusual and spectacular demonstration will be carried out with a subject whose clothing is actually on fire. This should make a lasting impression on all who see it and since so many persons throughout the state do lose their lives because of burning clothing, the invitation is extended to all to attend.

Also of interest to the homemaker is the problem of grease fires, bed fires, and waste paper basket fires. These will be demonstrated and means of extinguishing them as well.

Many of the personnel from the Sanatorium will take part in the demonstrations. Chaplain Skelton will give the invocation and welcome remarks will be given by Joe Wallin. Frank Wade is expected to start the program rolling with his pointers on fire hazards and extinguishers.

Each year Fire Prevention Week is observed in order to direct public attention to the tremendous annual loss of life and property resulting from fire and to the safety measures which must be taken if these losses are to be reduced.

In the last decade fire has killed more than 100,000 persons and burned and disfigured many hundreds of thousands more. Each year about 12,000 Americans die needlessly in fire and more than twice that number are severely burned or disfigured for life. Old people and preschool children are the principal victims.
