Mills, Mrs. Sara Harrison, Mrs. Frances King, Mrs. Iva Nesbitt, and Mrs. Bea Conley; (Second row) Joe Hunter, Mrs. Katherine Craig, Miss Georgia Dudley, Mrs. Verlie Rankin, Mrs. Effie Barbee, Mrs. Arcie Brown, and Mrs. Maggie Miller; (Back row) Kenneth Evans, James Morgan, Charles Taylor, Leonard Ball, and James Moore.

Dr. and Mrs. Hugh S. Gregory of San Antonio, Tex., have a son born Sept. 21. Dr. Gregory is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Gregory of Swannanoa.

RALPH SINGLETONS

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard L. Langford of Port Chester, N. Y., are visiting Mrs. Langford's brother and family. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Singleton and daughters. Mr. Langford, a sanitary engineer, and eastern sales manager for Pacific Flush Tank Company, attended the national convention, water pollution control, in Miami, Fla., last week. Mrs. Langford is also an engineer and until recently was employed with the Atlas Missile Program.

Special Week Observes Hire Handicapped

The week of October 4-10 has been designated as the 20th anniversary National Employ the Handicapped Week. During this week we annually focus our attention on the handicapped by recognizing their accomplishments and inspiring them by efforts to place them in employment where their capabilities can be best used.

Tours have been arranged of the three workshops in Asheville by the special events committee. Mayor's Committee of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week.

So the public may become better acquainted with the facilities in the area, an "open house" is being held at designated hours so everyone may learn how the handicapped are trained to make a living despite their restrictions.

The newest in the area. Jobs for the Handicapped, 73 N. Market street, trains the generally handicapped. Their facilities will be open at 2 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 9 for those interested in watching the men work in small appliances, radio and TV, and the ladies learn to sew such items as beach bags, stuffed toys, shoe bags, and aprons to qualify them for paying jobs in industries requiring this type of skill.

No individual invitations are being issued, but it is hoped many in the Asheville-Buncombe area will participate in National Employ the Handicapped Week by seeing first hand how their community is attempting to train their friends and neighbors who have become handicapped to become self-supporting.

By advertising a product, a manufacturer sells more and by selling more he can cut unit cost in production, thereby making the product cost less.

Pilots View Training Of Seeing Eye Dog

"The Seeing Eye", a film depicting the training of the seeing eye dog, was presented to the Pilot club of Black Mountain at the program session, Mrs. Edna Stockton meeting Tuesday, Sept. 22 in the club room of the Black Mountain Federal Savings and Loan assoc. Mrs. Myrtle Eminger, chairman of the education and international committee, review the book, "First Lady of the Seeing Eye", prior to the film.

was welcomed into the club as a new member. Visitors for the evening included Mrs. Pat Price, Mrs. Ruth Neskaug, Co-Pilot W. E. Norwood, Rev. C. R. Stegall who supplied and operated the projector, Miss Pat Maynard, and Miss Jan Reese. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Paul Traywick and Mrs. Libby Morrison.

The Book Shelf

Books recently acquired by the Black Mountain Library are:

John Foster Dulles — The Last Year — by his sister, Eleanor Lansing Dulles, with a foreword by Dwight D. Eisenhower. Eleanor Dulles' access to family records, the Secretary of State's private archives and correspondence, and many revealing interviews with associates have given the narrative importance for the layman and the scholar.

Dr. Scott Surgeon on Call — Elizabeth Seifert. The Spire — A novel by William Golding (author of the Lord of the Flies) who is the most original and imaginative writer of this generation.

Black Like Me — by John Howard Griffin who undertook in the fall of 1959 a personal assignment to find out the hard way, possibly the only way a white man can, what it is like to be a Negro in the South. This is the record, offered in all its crudity and rawness, of this dangerous and often terrifying mission.

The Lonely Man — Faith Baldwin. The Stained Glass Jungle — Gregory Wilson. In this unusually frank novel about church politics a young minister challenges the regime of a ruthless machine boss and comes closer to an understanding of his own existence. Gregory Wilson is the pseudonym of a Methodist minister of long standing and excellent reputation.

Rampage — A novel by Alan Gailiou of two renowned big game hunters, who embark on a dangerous mission in the steaming jungles of Malaysia, to capture prize specimens for the Munich Zoo.

Grandparents and Their Families — A guide for three generations by Frank Howard Richardson, M. D. This book was given to the Library and autographed by our Black Mountain neighbor, Dr. Richardson. Don't miss this, every family needs this book today.

Reflections: A History of Drexel Enterprises Inc. 1903-1963. 60 years of progress in the making of fine furniture, very interesting, good illustrations.

Furniture South—May 1964 — America's first publication on furniture. Especially interesting feature on furniture styles, a series of tables and charts showing the development of countries and their furniture as well as the history of the furniture styles. Individual pages devoted to the 24 styles which are the basis for virtually all of today's designs. All fully illustrated.

Fiestas—Goytisolo — A drama of Spain today. Shadow on the Moon—Kaye — India is the background—at the time of the Indian Sepoy Mutiny of 1857.

Rogue's Harbor — Inglis-Fletcher—another "Carolina" novel set in the Perquimans District of North Carolina.

Stranger in a Strange Land — Heinlein—although certain of the techniques of science fiction are used, this book might be classed as philosophical fantasy or as an entertainment, or perhaps, as a cabalistic satire. A completely free-wheeling look at contemporary culture from the nonhuman viewpoint of someone from another culture.

Snow in the River — Brink The story of three brothers who emigrated from Scotland to the Northwest in the 1890's.

A Moveable Feast—Hemingway — Sketches of his early life in Paris in the 20's.

Look Who's Here!

Mr. and Mrs. William Rex Worley of Swannanoa, are parents of a daughter, born Oct. 2, in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard E. Hudgins of Route 1, Black Mountain, a son, Sept. 27, in Memorial Mission Hospital.

A daughter was born Sept. 29, in Memorial Mission Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Griffith of Swannanoa.

Star-spangled way to send a son to college

Educators expect a year of college will cost at least $2,500 by the time the class of '76 don their freshman beanies.

But you can get it for less—by buying Series E Savings Bonds now. That's because Bonds pay you back $4 at maturity for every $3 you invest.

Bonds are a good deal in another way, too. Because they help preserve your son's freedom to use his education. Uncle Sam makes good use of the money, safeguarding our interests around the world.

If you like, you can build your college fund automatically by buying Bonds on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

All you need is a Payroll Savings Application—and a promising youngster.

Quick facts about Series E Savings Bonds

- You get back $4 for every $3 at maturity (7 1/4 years)
- You pay no state or local income tax and can defer payment of federal tax until the Bonds are cashed
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
- You can get your money when you need it

Buy E Bonds for growth—H Bonds for current income
