Memorial Service For Dr. M. L. King

One of the most representative church gatherings ever held in this area, cutting across lines of denomination and race, took place on Sunday afternoon, April 7, when several hundred people crowded into Mills Chapel Baptist Church to take part in a memorial service for Dr. Martin Luther King, whose tragic death on April 4, shocked the nation.

The service was arranged by the pastor of Mills Chapel, Rev. Webster E. Lytle, in cooperation with the Ministerial Association of Black Mountain and Swannanoa. Presiding was the Rev. Thomas Dromps of St. James Episcopal Church, President of the Association. Others who took part in the service were Pastors Richard Shelor of Black Mountain Presbyterian Church, Edgar Ferrell of First Baptist Church and William Simpson of New Salem Baptist Church in Swannanoa. Mrs. Mable Lytle sang the moving spiritual, "Precious Lord," which Dr. King asked for on the night of his assassination. The benediction was given by the Rev. Calvin Thielman of Montreat.

Tributes to Dr. King were spoken by several of the ministers. The chief message was given by the Rev. Webster Lytle, whose remarks were in part as follows:

"We have come today to pay homage to the memory of one of the greatest human beings ever to walk across the earth. Dr. King was to millions of Americans and people of the world a man of dignity and Christlike dedication. When he was born in 1929, little did Martin Luther King's parents make any difference on God's Keyboards. And it was this principle that he gave his life for—the equality of all men. He taught the truth of the Scriptures, that God made all men in his own image—not the white first and then the black, not the black and then the white, nor the red and yellow and then the white and black. But as the Apostle Paul said as he stood one day on Mars Hill in Athens and saw all of their altars on one of which was written 'to the unknown God.' Paul went on to say that this is the One to whom we owe our allegiance, that this God has made of one blood all nations of men to dwell on all the face of the earth.

It was this same principle that prompted Dr. King to lament over the hatred and indifference of man to man. In his book Strength to Love he wrote: "The ultimate measure of a man is not where he stands in moments of comfort and convenience, but where he stands at times of challenge and controversy." No one can deny that his life since 1954 had been just that, one of continuing controversy. This was the start of a movement in our country to bring to reality the rights guaranteed to every citizen, the right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

It was Dr. King's conviction that this quest for freedom for all of America's citizens was to be won by "nonviolent resistance," that combines toughness and tender heartedness and avoids the complacency and do-nothingness of the soft-minded and violent and bitterness of the hard-hearted.

Dr. King described the soft-minded man as "one who fears change, feels secure in the status quo and he has an almost morbid fear of the new." The tender-minded person he described as "one who reaches a conclusion before he has examined the facts; one, in short, who prejudices and is prejudiced." To both of these conditions Dr. King laid the blame at the door of many politicians and even some clergymen, who with insidious zeal make inflammatory statements and disseminate distortions and half-truths which arouse abnormal

Student Council Names The Elementary School Library A Memorial To Mrs. Pollard

The Student Council of the Black Mountain Elementary School, under the leadership of Laurie Bailey, president, named the library in honor of the former librarian, the late Mrs. Nellie M. Pollard, and presented a large bronze plaque to the school with the inscription, "Nellie M. Pollard Memorial Library." The plaque was hung in the library.

At the dedication principal Jim Owen gave a brief history of the library dating back to 1956 when the P.T.A. under the leadership of Mrs. Daniel Nanney, did an amazing job with the existing books with parent volunteer work in which Mrs. Pollard spent much time and gave needed advice in cataloging. At this time the McDougle Fund was started and a bronze plaque naming the recording section of the library in honor of the former principal, hangs in the music section. A teacher committee for the library with Lou Lindsay as chairman and a committee of Ruth Gilbert and Ruth Cunningham aided in this project also and funds from all available sources poured into the library for its improvement.

Following a bid for accreditation with the N. C. Library, about 1962, the school was given funds for a full-time librarian and Sara Dillingham was employed in mid-year. She completed the year and shortly thereafter Mrs. Pollard, who had been librarian at Biltmore Elementary School for several years, came to Black Mountain.

Through the years after Mrs. Pollard came to the local school the library grew so that the committee felt that it must be moved into larger quarters. To house the expanding library three classrooms on the first floor were rearranged to accommodate books, audio-visual materials, music records and albums.

At the present time there is no finer library for school use than the one in this local school, it is one of the most modern material centers for student use in the state.

Dr. Cook retired in June, 1964, from 18 years of service as executive secretary of the International Convention of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ), one of the leading positions in the Brotherhood. He and Mrs. Cook recently have built an attractive home on the Assembly grounds.

Dr. Cook will bring to the assembly's chief administrative position a breadth of experience which will be of great value to the future development of Christmount. He is well known for his pioneering work in the formative years of the World Council of Churches and the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

He is now serving his fourth year as Chairman of the Board of Directors of Christmount and is intimately acquainted with the current program and projected plans. During these four years Dr. Cook has served also as interim pastor in the Christian Churches in Houston, Texas; Miami, Fla.; Knoxville, Tenn.; Black Mountain, N. C.; and is currently serving the First Christian Church in Pekin, Ill. He and Mrs. Cook will return to their home the early part of May where they will remain to participate in the events of the summer conference season at Christmount.

They are members of the Black Mountain Garden Club, the Swannanoa Valley Chapter of American Association of Retired Persons and the Friends of the Library. Mrs. Cook is a member of the local Women's Club and is active in the newly formed Art League. Dr. Cook is a member of the Black Mountain-Swannanoa Kiwanis Club, and has recently completed a year's service as chairman of the Western North Carolina Chapter of U.N.A.-U.S.A.

GAMMA PI

Gamma Pi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met in the home of Martha Rucker on Monday April 8. A pledge Ritual was conducted for new members Pat Koontz and Barbara Boltin. President Lydia Hicks discussed the Founder's Day Dinner and Dance to be held at Grove Park Inn on Saturday, April 27. Twelve chapters from the Asheville area will participate in this event.

The program "Nature" was discussed by Shirley Atkins. Observing Nature was man's earliest conscious pursuit on Earth. He organized his life after the living image of the world about him. He took the cunning of the weas and the power of the strong and made wings of his own in imitation of the swift.

Now, thinking he knows all the secrets he has turned away from his models...yet there are still those who seek knowledge and appreciation of nature in our forest and valleys, mountains and plains. What they observe they translate into words and pictures. Their discoveries arouse our desire for adventure and their knowledge our interest. But their patient endeavors awaken more than curiosity in us; they create a love of all living creatures, the beginning of understanding.

It isn't necessary to travel farther than our own backyards to study and observe Nature.
