Straight Talk

Editorial comment by Carl Ballard

Well folk, now that our town election is over we can sit back and watch our newly-elected town elders and their few, few supporters. It seems to us that the opportunity to vote while totally oblivious to the pertinent issues and then revert to nothing but constant complaints about the powers that be is a convenient device which finds too much use among the citizens of Black Mountain. Now that the electioneering is over it is time to clear the smoke and look around to see exactly where we are. We have placed the responsibilities of the town in the hands of four fine, responsible men. Why don't we forget about their responsibilities and start complaining? Or should we??

The next few years will be growing years for Black Mountain, and the work of these chosen few, no matter how hard, is just not going to be enough. Many of you will agree with the decisions our elders make and, of course, many will not. Regardless, it does no good to tell Aunt Martha about it. She cannot help anyway. The question is not what you will say

For Parents of Little Boys

BY UVA MIRACLE

Do you have a little guy between 9 and 12? Did he proudly march home with a little League Base Ball Uniform this week feeling about six feet tall?

Sure it's only Little League but to him — "His" — team is the top of the Majors.

Now — What are you going to do about it. Are you going to be there to see him get that first hit or strike out that first time.

Sure, you've got dinner to cook, Mom and Dad you're tired at the end of the day — But you're his public — You're his number one fan.

What I'm trying to say is get out to see your boy play.

Rejoice with him when he's winning. Comfort him when he loses. Don't expect him to be a Joe Dimaggio BUT BE THERE. Let him know you're interested.

After all he's your boy and he won't be a "Little Guy" long.

CHILDREN CAN REJECT VIOLENCE

Are children today really victims of society? Do many of them simply reflect the violence, anger, and frustration they see on television or witness in the home?

Not necessarily. Thousands of families are finding that children can just as easily reflect the love, peace, and satisfaction of their creator, God... if given the chance.

How? Listen this Sunday to a program entitled "Helping Children to Reject Violence."

It is part of the Christian Science Radio Series heard on
