GREENVILLE, S. C. - The now famous Apollo 11 astronauts' insignia were printed entirely by the new Questral system of printing inks, developed by Roma Chemical, Division of United Merchants and Manufacturers, Inc., of New York. Both insignias are identical in design, but different in size. One insignia is approximately ten inches in diameter and the second about four inches. Each of the NASA-designed insignias show an American eagle clutching an olive branch and approaching a landing on the lunar surface. The fabric used in printing the insignia was a specially woven material made from Owens-Corning's Beta Fiberglass coated with DuPont's Teflon by Engineered Yarns, Inc. of Coventry, Rhode Island. Screen Print Corporation, also of Coventry, Rhode Island, printed the insignia. Contacted at his Greenville office, Joseph W. Houth, Vice President of United Merchants and Manufacturers, Inc. and President of Roma Chemical in Greenville, said that he was pleased that the new system was selected for this printing. "Naturally, we are delighted that our new inks developed especially for screen printing were selected for this most significant of all space slights." Special representatives of Roma, including General Manager, Julien Paul and Richard Lyons, Assistant Technical Manager of the R & D Division in Greenville, worked with the screen printer in supervising this development.

Seminar For State Employees

ASHEVILLE, N. C. - The University of North Carolina at Asheville will hold a six-day seminar for key supervisors of the state's technical and professional employees, starting Sunday, August 1.

This is the second year for the seminar, a management development program under the direction of Dr. Lester F. Zerfoss, research professor of developmental psychology at UNC-A, but the first time that the course has been limited to state employees. Last year's session also included industry representatives.

Some 40 supervisors are expected to attend this year's session which opens with a 6 to 8 p.m. registration Sunday followed by the opening session at which participants will be welcomed by Dr. William E. Highsmith, UNC-A Chancellor, and Gardner B. Parker, management development officer for the State Personnel Department.

"We are seeking to establish a work climate in state government which encourages the growth, development and effective utilization of people in a planned, systematic way," Parker said. "The seminar is designed to equip participants with some of the management skills which will enable them to operate more effectively in a 'developmental work climate.'"

Gardner warned the supervisors not to expect "pat answers" to specific problems. "What you should expect is to return to your job after the week is over with some new ideas, new thinking, new attitudes, which will help you to improve your own immediate work climate, to accelerate the growth of your subordinates and, not least, of all to achieve additional self development," Gardner said.

The manufacturing facilities for Roma Chemical are located in Fall River, Massachusetts. Roma Chemical is the color manufacturing division of United Merchants and Manufacturers, Inc., 1407 Broadway, New York, New York 10018, with the Sales and Textile Printing Ink manufacturing plant located in Chester, S.C. Old Fort Finishing Plant of Old Fort, North Carolina, is a Division of United Merchants and Manufacturers, Inc.

Flat Rock Playhouse

W. C. (Mutt) Burton, currently playing Inspector Malcolm in "Not in the Book" at Flat Rock Playhouse, is in his 18th successive season with the Yagabond Players on the rock. He started the year the Playhouse was established at its present location. In those days the Playhouse was cloth. It was an old Toby show tent and the dressing rooms were flaps.

After a rain someone had to take a long pole and push up the water pockets or the water would seep through the canvas and drip on the cash customers. Burton played a variety of roles and when not handling a role he sometimes handled a pole. Burton impressed the audiences at Flat Rock with the poise, assurance and conviction with which he handled the pole as a water-pocket pusher-upper. From this came the widely-held opinion that no other actor could touch Burton with a ten-foot pole. That was because Burton wielded a 15-foot pole.

Times have changed. The Playhouse is now an established institution, the State Theatre of North Carolina, and has a fine waterproof roof. On the other hand, Burton's roof has not improved. On the contrary it has become very thin, shows no signs of permanence.

He no longer handles a pole but his roles have improved. He is remembered for such parts as the desperate father who tamed the hippies in last season's "What Did We Do Wrong?", as Gramps in "On Borrowed Time," as Grandpa

Vanderhof in "You Can't Take It With You," as Elwood P. Dowd in "Harvey" and as the Stage Manager in "Our Town," among many others.

Burton, a Sunday writer and columnist for the Greensboro Daily News, takes his summer vacation play-acting at Flat Rock Playhouse and at Parkway Playhouse in Burnsville, where he played Willy Loman in "Death of a Salesman," before coming to Flat Rock.

In discussing his role as the police inspector in the current British blend of murder, mystery and monkeyshines, Burton explained "The inspector is a fine-looking man with ease of command and a well-organized mind. When I play a part like that - that's acting."

Annual Music Camp

GREENVILLE - More than 200 junior and senior high school students from throughout North Carolina and the Atlantic Seaboard Friday completed activities in the 16th annual Summer Musical Camp at East Carolina University.

Sponsored by the ECU School of Music, the camp hosted a staff of ECU administrators, music faculty, students and many leading high school band directors and fine arts teachers.

For 12 days the enrollees participated in major activities in band, piano and choir, and minor activities in stage bands, ensembles and art. They also received instruction in arranging, conducting, composition theory and music styles.

The program, according to camp director Herbert L. Carter, was designed to provide the students a well-rounded aesthetic musical background. During their stay at ECU, the students lived in campus dormitories and participated in many campus activities.

Highlights of the camp were concerts by the three main student bands and three choirs, and by a stage band. A concert Friday night officially concluded the two weeks of activities.

Those attending from Buncombe County were: David Armstrong, Jr.; Paul Bulgrig; Ethelyn R. Burton; Marsha Carson; Vicki Cassada; Evelyn C. C. Kelly; Randall Doud; Mike Driscoll; Leslie Glenn; Tom Lawrence; Richard McMahon; Cathy Manley; Kenny Lantitsy; Corey Sims.

Parkway Playhouse

On July 30, 31, August 1, 2, the Parkway Playhouse will present the funny American comedy THE SHOW-OFF. This delightful comedy is reminiscent of YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU and LIFE WITH FATHER which will provide a fun filled evening for children as well as adults.

Originally produced in 1924 with great success, the play found an even larger audience and more favorable critical response only last year in New York. Clive Barnes, noted drama critic of the New York Times stated, "This is unquestionably the best American play seen on Broadway for some season..." This year the New York company toured all over the country with equal success.

The play is about a family household who are suddenly introduced to an extremely talkative man who the young daughter of the family wants to marry. Trouble begins as the young "show-off" gentleman is rejected by the family for his foolish pranks.

Members of the cast for this production include Mike Coyne, Ellen Woods, Barbara Wolff, Valerie Nalman, Michael Dyer, Johnny Clontz, Nelson Allison, Tom Bates, and Eric Perkins. Originally Anise Verbel was to play in the leading role of Mrs. Fisher. However, she became very ill and Ellen Woods will now play the part. Most of these actors have appeared in previous Parkway Playhouse productions this season such as

DEATH OF A SALESMAN, SPOON RIVER ANTHOLOGY, and THE MISER.

Guest directing this production will be Bob Versteeg from Louisburg College in Louisburg, North Carolina. Bob, an associate professor, is the director of drama at Louisburg where he has taught for seven years. Bob holds a degree from Ohio Wesleyan and has also attended Northwestern University.

The show provides an extremely entertaining evening for the entire family. Children as well as adults will laugh at the escapades of THE SHOW-OFF. The play is an honest and humorous look at American life, rare in the theatre today. Don't miss this witty, clever show that has made American theatre history. For reservations or information call 682-3231.

Tourist

Big game fishing has been outstanding, and Cape Hatteras National Seashore had 196,707 visitors in June for 16.5 per cent increase over June, 1968.

The Battleship North Carolina at Wilmington had 36,914 visitors in June compared with 35,578 during the same month last year.

Visitors have flocked to the mountains, and Hugh Morton at Grandfather Mountain reports excellent attendance. Some 939,700 persons visited the Great Smoky Mountains National Park during June. This represents a three per cent increase over last year's June total. The Blue Ridge Parkway had 1,552,011 travelers in June, a 4.6 per cent increase over last year. Over four million persons have already visited the Parkway in 1969.

State Parks have had an attendance this year of over 676,000. Over 220,000 have visited Fort Macon, 29,061 to Hanging Rock, 40,973 to Mount Mitchell, 27,967 to Pilot Mountain, and 142,041 to the William B. Umstead Park.

Over 195,000 persons have stopped at North Carolina's two Welcome Centers, located on Interstates 85 and 95 at the North Carolina - Virginia line, in 1969.

"In terms of attendance at our top attractions," points out Hensley, "We are most pleased with the summer so far."

Mini Train Installed

A mini-version of the famed Six Flags Over Georgia "Dahlonge Mine Train" began operation this week at Six Flags Over Georgia and was appropriately named the "Yahoola Hooter."

Angus G. Wynne, Jr., president of Great Southwest Atlanta Corporation, operators of Six Flags, commenting on the new ride, stated, "We installed and designed this ride especially for those children five years of age and younger that could not ride the 'Dahlonge Mine Train' because of their size."

The "Yahoola Hooter" track runs for 800-feet crossing over the "Dahlonge Mine Train" track in two places. The six-cars, which carry 24-guests, make the almost leisurely trip in a fast minute - and a-half.

Both the "Yahoola Hooter" and "Dahlonge Mine Train" are located in the Confederate section of the 200-acre family entertainment center.

The single main gate admission, $4.50 for adults, $3.50 for children, entitled guests to enjoy all Six Flags rides, shows, and attractions as many times as they wish for the entire operating day. The only additional cost is for food, beverages, and souvenirs.

Six Flags is located 10-minutes from downtown Atlanta on I-20 West and is open daily 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. After Labor Day, Six Flags will be open Saturdays and Sundays only until November 30.

VA News

Q - May a veteran receive Social Security retirement credit for military service during World War II?

A - Generally yes - A veteran may receive $60 wage credit for each month of military service during World War II duty if he was released from service under other than dishonorable conditions and had at least 30 days of active service. However, there are exceptions. The government will not give the veteran double credit. For example, if a veteran's World War II time is counted for military or civil service retirement he cannot also receive Social Security wage credit for the time. Your nearest social Security office will be glad to answer any questions you may have.

Q - How long does one have to serve in Viet-Nam to be eligible for the G. I. Bill to return to college, and how much would a married veteran with no children receive each month?

A - Actual service in Viet-Nam itself is not a requirement for benefits (including educational assistance) under the G. I. Bill. The law requires that the veteran must have at least 181 days active duty, any part of which occurred after Jan. 31, 1955. (Active duty for training purposes cannot be counted towards the 181 days.) A veteran in full-time training (at least 14 semester hours) would receive training allowance of $155 monthly if he has one dependent.

Bundles

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Seller of Swannanoa, Route 1, are parents of a daughter born July 21, in St. Joseph's Hospital.

A son was born July 21 in Memorial Mission Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Eugene Kilby of Swannanoa, Route 1.

The Asheville area was selected, according to Dr. W. R. Wagoner, president of the Children's Homes, as the site of the new venture in services because of the demonstrated interest of residents of Asheville and Buncombe County.

Trustees and administrators of the Homes have been planning with various leaders in the Asheville area for the establishment of the new ministry which will begin operation soon.

A recent survey conducted by the development department of the Children's Homes indicated that maternity home services in North Carolina are inadequate to meet the needs of unwed mothers and their offspring. The survey revealed that there are only three such homes in the state with a combined capacity for approximately 114 girls at any one time.

The Home for Unwed Mothers will become a part of the family services of the Baptist Children's Homes. These include group care of dependent children, foster home care, a program for emotionally disturbed children, promotion of work services for preschool children and their families, and family counseling by qualified casework personnel. Dr. Wagoner states that this newest endeavor will offer for unwed mothers residential care, medical services and counseling and rehabilitation programs.

The house in Asheville, located on a three acre tract of wooded land and is well related to needed community services. Renovation of the building will begin this summer to conform to safety codes of the city of Asheville and the state and to provide maximum use of the property.
