Touches Many Topics

Graham Stops At Home For Press Conference

By JIM AYCOCK

A busy Billy Graham stopped off in the Swannanoa Valley on Tuesday for a press conference at home and touched on many subjects, and toes, along the way.

Speaking before TV cameras and microphones set up at Radio Station WFGW, Montreat's world famous evangelist commented on pornography and obscenity, bussing of school children, campus unrest, federal aid to parochial schools, and his own family's security problems.

He also released details of his busy schedule in coming weeks, including the fact that he will be the first clergyman ever to serve as Grand Marshal in the Tournament of Roses (Rose Bowl) Parade on New Year's Day.

Briefly, Graham's comments can be summed up as follows: —The President's Commission on Pornography and Obscenity has released the "worst and most diabolical" report ever issued by a specially drawn up commission and fact finding group. No Christian can support the findings of this two-year, two-million dollar effort. An "underworld conspiracy" is behind the pornography business, run by dirt merchants who are dedicated to human degradation. Statistics from Denmark, now open to pornography sales, are at best deceiving and at worst completely false when they are used to indicate a recent drop in sex crimes there. He (Graham) hopes states and cities will be given authority to enforce local obscenity laws.

—Revolt would occur if children in Los Angeles, Chicago, New York City and Boston were bussed around those cities under the same standards as those enforced in Charlotte. "I am proud of the way the south has obeyed these laws," Graham said. He advocates retention of neighborhood schools.

—Graham said he agrees with most of the findings of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest. He warned that a Utopia (of peace) cannot be expected. We must distinguish between dissent, which is acceptable behavior, and violence, which is not acceptable. He feels that the commission's report did not place enough emphasis on that point. He does not agree, he said, with the conclusion that the Vietnam War is the chief cause of dissent and violence. President Nixon cannot remove causes of dissent, nobody can, he added.

—The Southern Baptist Assn. should consider setting up a massive system of parochial schools and apply for federal aid if such financial help is approved, Graham said. Many parochial schools will close without it, he added. These schools must be integrated, he continued, their implied purpose being to return spiritual values to education, and not to achieve segregation.

Graham said he and his wife will spend this weekend at the LBJ ranch in Texas visiting the ex-president. He begins a major crusade next week at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge, similar to the recently completed campaign in Tennessee.

Other plans for upcoming weeks include dedication of the Mendel Rivers Library in Charleston, S. C., 18 major addresses in Europe and activities at Plymouth, Mass. in connection with the 350th anniversary of the sailing of the Mayflower, lunch at Monte Carlo with Prince Ranier and Princess Grace, and the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

"I am glad to have this chance to speak before press representatives in my own home community," he said. "It is not often enough that I do that."

The Montreat celebrity, for that is what he is, pointed out that his position as a public figure had caused his family some problems. Security has been tightened and his travel arrangements more carefully concealed. As late as last week, he said, police had arrested two persons attempting to get to him.

He said one had made a bomb threat, and was found to be emotionally disturbed. The man's family had called Graham, he said, to thank him for the way the matter had been handled. The evangelist did not comment on the second man he said had been arrested.

Annual Kiwanis Event

Pancake Supper On October 30

By JAMES C. BARTHOLOMEW

The fall season of activities in the Swannanoa Valley will be ushered in with the annual Pancake Jamboree sponsored by the Black Mountain-Swannanoa Kiwanis Club.

The date is Friday, Oct. 30, in the Owen High School cafeteria, between the hours of 5-8 p.m.

There will be plenty of pancakes for all who come, served with butter and syrup to suit the taste. Well seasoned sausage, coffee and milk will be available to make the meal complete. The pancakes will be prepared by members of the Kiwanis Club who have become expert "chefs" after several years of Jamboree experience.

This annual pancake supper is regarded as a most worthy community enterprise. Not only does it provide opportunity to take the whole family and guests out for an evening meal at low cost, but the proceeds are used to help support the year round organized youth activities of the Swannanoa Valley, the Youth Center, plus gifts of registered heaters to members of 4 H Club.

A good attendance is expected at this year's Jamboree. Persons who come may get all they can eat for the following prices: adults and youth $1 each, children under 10 years 50c each.

Kiwanis Club members are selling tickets in advance. Persons unable to purchase tickets in advance may pay as they enter the cafeteria at Owen High School.

Now is the time to reserve the evening of Friday, Oct. 30, for members of families to have an evening meal and to take part in the festive occasion where you will meet your neighbors and friends, all happy to unite in a worthy cause designed for the betterment of our youngsters.

A football game will follow, the last home game of the season, against North Buncombe.

THE LOVELY LADIES above are pictured wearing fashions for their age groups. Mrs. Billy Ed Wheeler models a navy midi with the new wet look boots, ideal for Young Misses. Miss Susie Proffitt shows a navy and white three piece knit slacks suit for the Junior Miss. Mrs. O. B. Smith is lovely in bright blue Butte knit coat and dress ensemble for Misses. They will be modeling fashions from Pegg's in the Junior Women's Fashion Show and Bridge Benefit on Nov. 3.

all Festival Weekend

Fall Festival Weekend beginning two traditional events—Homecoming and Homecoming Week—has been scheduled for Oct. 17-18 at Montreat-Anderson College.

Scheduled together this year for the first time, the two events are expected to draw alumni and parents from over the country.

Previously, Homecoming weekend has been held at Montreat but was moved to the October date to take advantage of the fall colors.

A full schedule of activities has been planned to give both alumni and students a chance to participate in campus activities.

The schedule will include a talent show and a Homecoming Queen coronation from a court of 15 who will be crowned during half-time of the football game.

Scott Reviews Kiwanis Aims

Cliff Scott, new president of the Black Mountain-Swannanoa Kiwanis Club, presented the program at the first meeting of the new year Thursday, Oct. 8, at noon, in the Monte Vista Hotel.

Scott said each administrative year Kiwanis International selects a theme, several objectives, and one or two major emphasis programs. Combined with the six constitutional objectives of Kiwanis, these provide the focus and guidelines for Kiwanis service during the administrative year, he said.

For 1970-1971, there are three objectives, he pointed out:

Garden Division Of Woman's Club To Meet Monday

The Rhododendron Garden division of the Black Mountain Woman's Club will hold its October meeting on Monday, Oct. 19, at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Glenn Bryan, 122 Church St. Mrs. Dinmore Crawford will be co-hostess.

Junior College Workshop At MA

Representatives of independent junior colleges in the South will take part in a workshop to be held Friday and Saturday at Assembly Inn, Montreat.

The workshop is sponsored by the National Council of Independent Junior Colleges and the American Association of Junior Colleges' Program with Developing Institutions. Educators from several states will appear on the two-day program, covering a wide range of junior college-related subjects.

(1) Improve the quality of our response to the objects of Kiwanis International.

(2) Improve the quality of our lives by increased emphasis on Operation Drug Alert.

(3) Improve the quality of our environment through individual and community action.

Scott again emphasized the local club would use as its main project this year, community wide, the immediate development of the Medical Center.

Secretary Joe Bullock pointed out the need for committee chairmen to file accurate and complete reports each month.

James Bartholomew, chairman of the Pancake Jamboree, gave tickets to each member and told them to get out and sell them for this is their major money making project.

Jr. Classical League Meets

On Oct. 8 the second meeting of the Owen High School chapter of the Junior Classical League was held.

President Phii Martin called the meeting to order. The North Carolina J.C.L. convention held each year in Chapel Hill was discussed. This year the convention will meet for two days.

Also, the annual auction of slaves was held. A one dollar limit was placed on all bids. A total of $8.10 was received for 12 slaves.

The Junior Classical League will meet again on Nov. 12.

Gets 3 Years For Car Theft

A sentence of up to three years in a Youthful Offender camp was given a 16 year old boy from Swannanoa Thursday by Superior Court Judge Sam J. Ervin III.

The defendant plead guilty to theft of a 1970 Chevelle valued at $3,700 on July 8, from Harry N. Huntsinger.

Dwarfs Gather At Travel Eze

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Turner were hosts at a meeting of the Little People of America on Oct. 9, 10 and 11 in Black Mountain. The Little People made the Travel Eze Motel their base of operations while here.

On Saturday Mrs. Katherine Smith, coordinator for Dr. V. McKusicky of Johns Hopkins Hospital, who does research in all types of dwarfism, conducted an examination and survey in the measurement of bone structure of the Little People at the Turner home. These Little People are doing all they can to help science understand why they are dwarfs.

A banquet was held at the Travel Eze Restaurant Saturday evening, followed by a dance at the Black Mountain Club House. A number of local people were invited to the dance.

Mayor Richard Stone extended a welcome to the Little People on behalf of the Town of Black Mountain.

The Little People come from

We're Sorry It's Left Out

The Black Mountain News apologizes to local churches and sponsors of the church listings page for not running their space this week.

Production problems indicate that next week's paper will have to be 10 pages, unusually large for this time of year, so the News ran only six pages this week. This made it possible for us to hold out some items for use next week that would have been used this week if we published eight pages.

In order to get all this week's news and retail advertising in only six pages it was necessary to omit the church listings, which do not change from week to week.

Fashion Show

The Junior Women's Club of Black Mountain will present a Fashion Show-Bridge Benefit, with styles from Pegg's Fashions on Tuesday, Nov. 3, in "The Lodge" at Christmount Assembly at 7:30 p.m.

Aldermen Meet Next Wednesday

The Black Mountain city aldermen will meet in regularly scheduled session on Wednesday, Oct. 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall on State Street for conduct of the town's business.

WW Pushes Building Fund, Names Four New Trustees

Four new members were nominated to the board of trustees of Warren Wilson College at the fall meeting of the board held in Swannanoa during the weekend.

The new trustees are: William Bannerman of Yardley, Pa., Dr. Robert C. Holland of Morristown, N. J., Mrs. Harvey O. Mierke of Cleveland, Ohio, and Billy Edd Wheeler of Swannanoa. They will serve for three-year terms.

Dr. William Faulds of Ardmore, Pa., was re-elected president of the board. R.

Taylor Supports Bill To Control Criminals

Congressman Roy A. Taylor of Black Mountain voted for the crime control bill which passed the House on Oct. 7.

"This important new Administration-backed legislation will give the Federal Government broad new powers to crack down on organized crime and violent bombings," declared Taylor.

He said the crime control bill and also the drug control bill passed by the House two weeks ago should soon be on the President's desk for signature.

Commenting on both bills, the Congressman said:

Tickets will cost $1.50 and will include dessert, bridge, fashion show and a chance to win a door prize. These may be purchased from any club member. Money derived from ticket sales will be used by the club for projects locally and project. This year the theme is "Better Environment", with special emphasis on ecology.

Coordinators for the fashion show are Mrs. Billy Ed Wheeler and Mrs. John Bolton. It will be narrated by Mildred Pegg of Pegg's Fashions.

Models will be Mrs. M. J.

Wyrick, Mrs. C. S. Prosser, Mrs. Wayne Mahaffey, Mrs. Wiley Rice, Mrs. O. B. Smith, Mrs. Billy Ed Wheeler, Miss Susie Proffitt, Miss Carmen Smathers and Miss Ann Knight. They will model holiday fashions, sportswear, streetwear and lingerie.

Mrs. Stephen Roberts, chairman, and her committee are preparing gourmet treats for the dessert course.

This promises to be one of the bright events of the year for the women of the area. Buy your ticket, join your friends and have a ball while aiding a worthwhile group.

This includes renovation of Carson Hall for use of the education department, construction of a new humanities building, in addition to the Ogg administration building, completion of the renovation of Sunderland hall and completion of the new physical education building. Approximately $800,000 will be needed to finish this construction program.

President Arthur M. Bannerman pointed out that the college must obtain substantial additional operating funds especially since support from the United Presbyterian Board of National Missions will be terminated in 1973. He asked the trustees to seek direct gifts from churches and individuals to Warren Wilson to offset loss of support from the board.

The trustees set up an endowment committee with James A. Edgar of New York City as chairman. The goal of this committee will be to increase Warren Wilson's endowment to a minimum of $5 million over the next five years.

The group decided to devote the income from the recently announced $200,000 grant from the William R. Kenan Jr. Charitable Trust to the support of a Kenan professorship at Warren Wilson.

"I stated at that time that the people whom I represent are demanding action on crime control measures.

"Organized crime strikes at the basic roots of our society. Illegal drug traffic is a prime contributor to the nation's alarming crime rate.

"In my opinion, reducing crime in our nation is the domestic problem to which we should give first priority."
