

Miss Virginia Kay Coleman Is Bride Of Charles L. Gwaltney, Jr.

The marriage of Miss Virginia Kay Coleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Lynwood Coleman of South Hill, Virginia, to Charles Leslie Gwaltney Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leslie Gwaltney Sr., of Swannanoa, took place Saturday, November 27 at 2:00 p.m. in the Hampton, Virginia New Covenant Church.

The Rev. James H. Parker of Williamsburg performed the double ring ceremony. A program of wedding music was presented by Robert E. Sears of Norfolk, organist and Mrs. Chuck Wynings of Newport News, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white organza with a high ruffled neckline and sheer yoke. Petite Venetian lace encircled the empire bodice lavishly applied with motifs. A capelet, etched with petite lace bordered the long sleeves. The ruffled hemline encircled with Venetian lace swept to a chapel train. Her chapel length mantilla bordered with petite lace fell from a lace Camelot cap. She carried a cascade bouquet of snowflake mums with baby's breath.

Mrs. John Clayton Knopp of Staunton, Virginia was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a coral formal length gown of Qiana nylon with hand embroidered flowers on an empire waist.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. James Michael Coleman of Blackstone, Virginia, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Susan Elaine Gwaltney of Montreat, sister of the groom and Mrs. Chuck Wynings of Newport News. They wore coral gowns identical to the matron of honor. They carried white baskets of daisy mums with baby's breath.

Paul Thomas Gwaltney of Atlanta, Georgia was his brother's best man. Ushers were Phillip Edwin and Timothy Michael Gwaltney, brothers of the groom, of Swannanoa, Dr. James Michael Coleman of Blackstone, Virginia, brother of the bride, John Clayton Knopp of Staunton, Virginia, brother-in-law of the bride and Dean Scott Williams of Williamsburg, Virginia.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Coleman chose a floor length gown of apricot and peach chiffon. Mrs. Gwaltney wore a floor length gown of mint green woven polyester and chiffon.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Hampton Baptist Church. Miss Wendy Williams registered the guests at the door. Miss Donna Cox and Miss Susan Stowers of Williamsburg presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Bob Harmon served the wedding cake.

After a wedding trip to the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia, the couple will make their home in Williamsburg.

Mrs. Gwaltney is a graduate of the College of William and Mary and teaches at Saint Andrews School in Newport News. Mr. Gwaltney is a graduate of Appalachian State University and is employed by ARA Food Services at Riverside Hospital in Newport News.

Following the rehearsal on Friday evening, the groom's parents entertained the wedding party and families at a buffet dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wynings of Newport News.

Miss Jean Elizabeth Wall Bride Of Cecil Thomas Williams, Jr.

The First Baptist Church of Wilson, N. C., was the setting for the wedding Saturday afternoon, Sept. 25., of Miss Jean Elizabeth Wall to Cecil Thomas Williams Jr. The Rev. William Howard Edwards officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wall Jr. of Wilson. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Thomas Williams of Rt. 1, Wilson are parents of the bridegroom.

The Walls are former residents of Black Mountain during which time he was Associate Chaplain at WNC Hospital. Friends here will remember Jean Elizabeth as "Buffy".

William Clyde Patterson presented a program of organ music prior to the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown with chapel train of sata mist and lace etched with seed pearls. The empire bodice featured a yoke neckline outlined with a lace ruffle and long tapered lace sleeves. Peau d'ange lace motifs graced the skirt and train and a deep sata mist flounce bordered the hemline. For her headpiece she chose a chapel mantilla with an illusion blusher applied with lace and attached to a lace Camelot cap etched with seed pearls. She carried a nosegay of white daisies, snowdrift pompons, pixie carnations and gypsophila.

Mrs. Vernon E. Wall III of Monroe, sister-in-law of the bride and matron of honor, wore a long bittersweet knit gown styled with a sleeveless V-neck bodice topped with a doubler layered cape with rolled collar. Her shoulder-length veil illusion was attached to a matching bittersweet cap and she carried a long-stemmed Sonja rose with Baker's fern.

Bridesmaids were Miss Sandra Williams and Miss Cynthia Williams, sisters of the bridegroom, and Miss Patricia Lewis of Wilson. They were dressed like the honor attendant.

Mr. Williams was his son's best man.

Ushers were Vernon Wall III of Monroe and Mark Hill Wall of Wilson, brothers of the bride, and David Williams, brother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Wall was graduated from Ralph Fike High School and is employed in the Pathology Department of Nash General Hospital, Rocky Mount. Her husband was graduated from Southern Nash High School, attended North Carolina State University and is self-employed.

Upon their return from a wedding trip, the couple will live at 1105 Park Ave.

RECEPTION
Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception in the social hall of the church.

Dr. and Mrs. Herman Eason greeted the guests.

The bride's table was covered with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of mixed fall flowers in a silver wine cooler flanked by five-branch candelabra holding yellow tapers.

Assisting in serving were Miss Emily Hill of Greensboro, aunt of the bride, Mrs. David Odum, Mrs. Murphy Judd, Mrs. Bruce Martin, Mrs. A. L. Pate, Mrs. Charles Peele, Mrs. James Glasgow and Mrs. Clyde Patterson.

Others assisting at the reception were Miss Lynne Harrell of Greensboro, great-aunt of the bride, and the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Dolphus Ferrell of Rocky Mount.

Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle Little of Stanfield, uncle and aunt of the bride.

WEDDING BREAKFAST
The bridegroom's parents hosted a wedding breakfast Saturday morning in the Rib Room Restaurant for members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests.

REHEARSAL DINNER
A rehearsal dinner honoring the bridal couple was given by the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Eugene Greene of Monroe, Friday night in the Rib Room Restaurant.

Tables were centered with long low arrangements of yellow roses, pompons, asters, snapdragons and gypsophila flanked by yellow tapers in silver holders. The bride's place was marked with a flower for her hair and a gift of silver. Handpainted place cards and yellow miniature rice bags marked the places of other guests.

A three-course dinner was served to 40.

BRIDESMAIDS LUNCHEON
Miss Jean Elizabeth Wall, bride-elect, and her attendants were honored at a bridesmaids' luncheon at the Wilson Country Club.

Hostesses were Mrs. Murphy Judd, Mrs. Bruce Martin, Mrs. A. L. Pate, Mrs. B. R. Parker and Mrs. Charles Peele.

An arrangement of fall flowers and foliage graced the luncheon table.

Upon arrival the hostesses presented Miss Wall a corsage and during the occasion also remembered her with a gift. Miss Wall presented gifts to her attendants.

Guests included the bridesmaids, mothers and grandmothers of the bridal couple-elect.

Miss Mary Campbell Bride Of George Boswell

Marriage vows were exchanged by Miss Mary E. Campbell and George C. Boswell before a candle lit altar banked with greenery in the Heights Baptist Church, Pensacola, Fla., at three in the afternoon, October 2, 1976. The double ring ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Fred Martin.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Thomas H. Campbell of Pensacola and the late Mr. Campbell. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Boswell, Wilson, N.C.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle Jack Diamond, wore a formal Empire of Peau de Soie, featuring a scoop neckline outlined in Venice lace with long fitted sleeves of matching lace. The A-line skirt fell in soft gathers from the Empire waistline. Her full length veil of imported silk illusion was entirely edged in Venice lace and sprinkled with appliques. It was caught to a profile hat covered with sata peau, Venice lace and pearls. The bridal bouquet was an arm cascade of yellow rose buds, baby's breath, white carnations and greenery.

Miss Patti Ortigo was maid of honor. She wore a formal Empire gown of yellow Ouiana with a V neckline, cap sleeves and a softly gathered skirt. Her bouquet was a cascade of green and white carnations centered with yellow rose buds.

Bridesmaids were Miss Angie English and Miss Cindy Russ. Their attire was like that of the honor attendants. Their bouquets were the same minus the yellow rose buds.

David Riddle was best man and groomsmen were Eddie Jenkins and David West. Bill Capelland and David Diamond were ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Roswell are both employed at Ridgecrest Baptist Conference Center. He is the staff program coordinator at the year-round religious retreat, and she is working as a receptionist in the business office.

Mr. Boswell, was graduated with honors from Atlantic Christian College, Wilson, N.C., and has done graduate work at Christopher Newport College and the College of William and Mary in guidance and counseling.

Mrs. Boswell is a graduate of William Carey College, Hattiesburg, Miss., and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky.

The couple are making their home in the Black Mountain area.
