

Owen High Lights

The Drama Club has gotten to a very good start this year. Already, they are rehearsing two OHenry one-act plays for presentation some time in October. They plan to sponsor a variety show this winter, and will produce a full-length senior play next spring. Mrs. Jones, the sponsor, is very pleased with the interest being shown in the club this year.

The Owen Music Department has undergone several changes, one of which is a new choral director, Mrs. Jean Edwards. She holds a Bachelor's Degree of Music Education, from the University of Tennessee and a Master's Degree from Western Carolina University. This year's chorus, containing 56 members, has performed recently at Black Mountain and Swannanoa folk festivals. Some members will be attending the Western Regional Clinic at UNC-A on October 21 and 22.

Everybody's talking 'bout being "born again!" Not only Jimmy Carter from the White House and Billy Graham in his new book, but also Owen High school students in their newly formed Bible Club. Thirty-five attended the first meeting on September 27. Guest speaker was Dan McLean, youth ministry leader at the Presbyterian Church of Black Mountain. The purpose of the group is to discover God's will for one's life by reading His Word, the Holy Bible. The next meeting has as its guest speaker, Mike Shotwell, a student from Montreat Anderson College. The club will meet each Friday during x-period. Sponsoring the group are Bruce Gasperson and Courtenay Stierwalt, teachers at Owen.

Mrs. Estapa's Home Economics classes recently took a very interesting field trip. In order to learn by doing, they went to a grocery store, where they practiced skills in comparative shopping, menu-planning, budgeting, and consumer buying. The homemakers thought this was a very worthwhile experience, because it helped them learn to plan good meals while saving money.

On Saturday, October 1, Owen High held its first dance. This dance was sponsored by the Student Council. Over 260 dollars was collected. The money will be used to add to our School Project Fund. Music was furnished by the Big Wise Sound Factory and everyone had a great time.

Each week the Owen Hi-Lites will introduce to you a new teacher that is at Owen. This week's teacher is Susan Kenerly Stevenson, a math teacher here at Owen. She attended UNC-Greensboro, obtained her B.A. degree in math education at UNC-Chapel Hill, and did her graduate work at WCU. Her hometown is Brevard, North Carolina and she has lived in Gastonia, and Greenville, S.C. Her husband, Mike, teaches at Country Day and she has three sons, Michael, Samuel and Andrew. Her field of math at Owen is General Math and Algebra I.

This year French and Spanish students are faced with the chance of a lifetime: an opportunity to spend nine days in France or Spain. The only problem is raising the nine hundred dollars required for the trip which will be this spring, March 24-April 2. These trips are being sponsored by the American Leadership Study Group (ALSG). On September 22 a representative from ALSG came to Owen to encourage parents and students to take advantage of this opportunity. We will keep you posted as plans progress.

Back to School Night at Owen

Back to School Night will be held at Owen High School Tuesday, October 18, 7 to 9 p.m.

The program will include a visit to the classrooms and teachers, refreshments, and a special presentation in the auditorium by the band, the choral ensemble, the clogging team, a tumbling group, the Drama Club, and various science groups from the science classes.

Parent representatives to the OHS Advisory Council will also be elected that night by all the parents present. All parents are invited to attend the fun night to meet the school faculty and other personnel, and see some of the school activities.
