Reynolds signs with Spartanburg Methodist

Greg Reynolds, Owen senior, signed for a full basketball scholarship with Spartanburg Methodist College at his home on Thursday, May 5. Present for the signing were family members and friends. Also present were Greg's High School coach Bill Burrows, and James Johnson, who will coach Greg at Spartanburg. Coach Burrows said that although Greg has only been playing basketball for several years, he feels that he has become a good player, but one whose potential is yet untapped.

Coach Johnson said that he learned of Greg from Coach Burrows. He invited Greg to visit the college and he liked the way that Greg plays. He says that Greg is a good shooter from the field and has good play inside at the basket. Coach Johnson says that two years of college play will see him at top form. Greg chose Spartanburg because he liked the school, its program, and the coach. He feels that the junior college experience will allow him time to develop. Greg, who has played center at Owen, will probably continue in that position. One thing that he particularly liked about Coach Johnson's strategy is that he plays ten men every game. "Most coaches only play 6 or 7, so this will give me a real chance to get some experience. Then I'll be ready to transfer." Greg is looking forward to enrolling in September. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Reynolds of Swannanoa. Coach Burrows said a highly complimentary thing about Greg when he said that, "We have a lot of good athletes at Owen and Greg has worked extremely hard to develop himself. But the best thing about Greg is that he is a good young man. And that's what really counts."

Warren Wilson Owls have hard week

The Warren Wilson baseball team came out of the final full week of competition with a 1-4 record, bringing their overall record to 14-16. The Owls faced losses to Furman University and Piedmont College, and split games against Bristol College. The week's first game was at home against Furman on Wednesday, May 4. Furman had a five hit shut-out. Hobbie Dunkelberg pitched the 5 hitter in eight innings. Next, WWC traveled to Bristol College to play the Monarchs on Wednesday, April 6. Dunkelberg had 2 hits in the first game. The Owls drove in four runs in the fifth inning to gain a 7-2 lead, but Bristol fought back with four runs in the bottom of the inning. Ryan Garrett gained the win with the relief help of Greg Garvin who scattered three hits over two and two-thirds innings to get the save. Young had two hits and a walk. In the second game Young hit a two run homer to pace the Owls to a 2-0 first inning lead, while Skip Martin hit a solo homer in the third for a 3-0 Owl advantage. The Monarchs rallied in the seventh and a wild throw from first baseman, Dunkelberg, gave Bristol the winning run. The final score was 5-4. In their last home games of the season the Owls had difficulties with Piedmont College on Saturday, May 7. Piedmont scored three runs in the seventh inning of the first game and six runs in the first inning of the nightcap to ice the two wins. For Wilson, Rick Sanley had two hits and 2 RBI in the second game and Young had a solo homer and three hits. The scores of the games were 8-3 and 10-2.

Tips for Fisherfolk

This is the time of year when fishing fever casts its spell across the land. Young boys, grown men, working mothers, retirees, and almost anyone else can be hit by this spring-time illness. Later in the summer, some folks might feel guilty about succumbing to the temptation to "waste" a few hours beside the shining waters of a pond or stream... but in the spring it seems to be a whole lot easier to justify giving in to the urge! And, of course, this piscatorial pastime can also provide some of the most delicious food to ever land on your plate. To help you have a successful session at your favorite mountain stream, here is some helpful information about equipment and technique for catching rainbow trout:

How-to: spinning, spin-casting, casting, or fly rod and line... in small, clear streams where a quiet approach to the water and a gentle lure presentation are needed. Try casting or still-fishing with a very small slip sinker. Bait: worms, minnows, packaged salmon eggs, grasshoppers on tiny No. 12 to No. 14 hooks, small spinners, or artificial flies. Most stocked trout are less than 12 inches long. If you have a larger fish in your area, use larger hooks. Trolling is a good technique to catch the bigger specimens in lakes and reservoirs. Times and places: spring, early summer, fall, and winter (through the ice). Fish the edge of moving water, under stream banks, and near rocks or brush.

Renew your boat registration locally

Are you itching to put your boat in the water? Don't forget to register it first with the N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission. For greater convenience, boat-registration renewals may be handled through local boat-registration agents. Most marine dealers offer this service. "Boat Registrations may also be renewed by mail through the Wildlife Commission offices in Raleigh," said Helen Gourmas, supervisor of the Wildlife Commission's Motorboat Registration Section. "However, the mails are always swamped with registrations and renewals in the spring and early summer, and processing these often takes several weeks. It's far more convenient for boaters to handle renewals through local boat-registration agents." The Wildlife Commission has a toll-free boat-registration hotline which offers boaters information on the registration agents in their area. Simply call 1-800-662-7350 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Ducks lay eggs only in the morning.
