Gray Eagle 4-H hosts talent show

Gray Eagles 4-H of Black Mountain had fun being the host group for the annual Talent Show of the Buncombe County 4-H Clubs. Our members were greeters, stagehands, decorators and clean-up crew.

Since our theme was "4-H is Taking Off," we decorated with hundreds of balloons and pictures of hot-air ones. The loud popping of balloons thrown from the balcony at the end was a fitting finale to the fine show.

We want to give our sincere thanks to: Mr. Dellinger, Black Mountain Middle School Principal, for making the gym available; Ken Kindley, Mary Robinson and Irene Ruff, our 4-H Extension Agents, who worked hard to help us; our judges, Miss Shirley McIntosh and Mr. Chester Bullman; our leaders, Mrs. Kathy Harman, Mrs. H.E. Allen and Mrs. Sarah Bullman. Mrs. Barbara Wright who kept the building open for us; Jeff Kaplan, our member-magician, for his delightful act; and all the fine participants for their originality, hard work and talent.

Many thanks to all for helping 4-H to "Take Off!"

Members of the Builder's Club at the Black Mountain Middle School honored the school's secretary, Mrs. Vivian Clements during National Secretary Week with flowers and a giant poster that said, "Builders Club says Mrs. Clements is No. 1 at BMMS." The youngsters also gave her money to go out to dinner with her husband and two boys even offered to babysit for her!

Kiwanians hear about emergency medical care

The guest speaker for the Thursday, May 12, meeting of the Black Mountain Swannanoa Kiwanians was Mr. Jerry VeHaun, who is the Buncombe County Director of Civil Preparedness and the Emergency Medical Services.

VeHaun stated that Buncombe County now has six Paramedic Units in operation, one of which is stationed in Black Mountain at the Fire Department. He also told that Buncombe County currently has seven Emergency Care Facilities that can be used in time of county disaster.

VeHaun went on to explain the procedures used in connection with Paramedic Units. Standard procedures include radio contact with a doctor at the hospital. Paramedics are qualified to fibulate a heart patient and to administer medication.

Black Mountain will soon get a new Modular Ambulance. He also stated that Buncombe County has a Search Team, a Rescue Team, and the latest equipment used in rescue work.

Four from Valley to be Woodmen delegates

Dianne Stacy of Black Mountain and Della Morrow and Charles and Alma Cooper, all of Swannanoa, will be delegates to the Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Society's 35th biennial North Carolina Jurisdiction Convention, Friday through Sunday, May 20-22, at the Royal Villa Hotel and Convention Center, Raleigh.

Della Morrow, secretary of the local Woodmen Lodge, says that more than 770 delegates and officers, representing more than 107,000 North Carolina Woodmen members, will take part in the convention.

A Friday evening dinner will honor Woodmen National President Nick T. Newberry. Special guest will be Lt. Governor Jimmy Green.

Other convention activities will include a memorial service to honor deceased members, an audiovisual report by President Newberry, a banquet, and the installation of new national officers.

Girl Scouts to offer free fingerprinting

The Pisgah Girl Scout Council will offer free fingerprinting booths on Saturday, May 28. The booths will be open from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. in the Ingle's Shopping Centers in Black Mountain and Swannanoa.

In view of the recent rash of kidnapping of infants and young children, the Pisgah Council is providing fingerprinting of children as a service to the community.

The fingerprinting is not designed to prevent the kidnapping, but would be most helpful in the identification process. These fingerprints will be given directly to the parents for safe keeping and no copies will be kept.

Girl Scouts will be offering this service to all communities in the 16 counties Pisgah Council serves.
