FORBIDDING KISSING IN PUBLIC.

There has been more than one opinion about the healthfulness of kissing and a multitude of opinions about when, where, whom and how you should kiss.

Some days ago a young married couple stood on their steps in Boston waiting for a street car.

Two or three days ago there was another case in Philadelphia, the city of brotherly love.

But there appears to be a cruel and determined crusade against kissing in these two cities.

THE APPELLATE COURTS.

The United States Supreme Court is overwhelmed with work and litigants who carry cases to this court of last resort, cannot expect a hearing within three years.

The Supreme Court of the United States is, in many respects, the most important branch of the government.

LACKING INTELLECTUAL LIFE.

The Asheville Citizen, one of our favorite State exchanges quotes the words of General Davidson, of that city, and comments thereon.

This paragraph applies with equal truth to Charlotte. The city is intensely absorbed in its material growth, but it is doing very little for its intellectual life.

ty, but its atmosphere is absolutely unshaken by a literary breeze. We are doing nothing to encourage the presence of the scholar in our midsts.

A gentleman in approving of this suggestion writes us this short note: THE CHRONICLE has hit the very thing most needed in Charlotte, when it advises a lyceum.

But certainly the best opportunity Charlotte has for planting the foundation of a broad intellectual life is to secure the removal of Davidson College and a location for it and the South Atlantic University in this city.

FATHER MOLLINGER, the Pittsburg priest, who is reported to be performing all manner of divine miracles, such as healing the sick, restoring the blind to sight, making the lame walk and so on.

THE CHARLOTTE CHRONICLE is in favor of dress reform. It thinks ladies should wear pants. Well we don't care so much about pants as the editor of the CHRONICLE will take a look at the kind of hats the ladies are wearing this summer.

BIDDLE UNIVERSITY, which has been conducted by capable white men and which has made many a negro wiser and better, was on Wednesday put in charge of the negroes.

Battle Ground Ballets.

Our poetess, who writes such charming verses, has consented to produce a poem for the occasion.

The large posters are already printed and will be distributed along the lines of railroad at once.

More improvements are made this year than ever before and the money is needed to pay for them.

Work is being pushed vigorously on every hand, and by the last of next week everything will be in order for the fair.

The groves are being thoroughly shrubbed and all the trees trimmed up and will be more inviting than ever before.

A neat ribbon wire fence is being placed around the lodge and will add beauty as well as protection to the property enclosed.

Work is now going on on the new drives, and the big rock tank will soon be in the order; it is thirty-two feet wide and will be thoroughly rolled and made hard and smooth.

The masons at the Battle Ground are upon their half finished and is a little gem of architectural beauty.

A new feature this year will be plainly printed cards, tucked up on the ground, giving information to the people in regard to the Battle, and how and where to find all the prominent places on the Battle field.

The subscribers to the celebration fund, at the Battle Ground, are earnestly requested to pay their subscription at once as the money is needed to pay laboring men.

Hon. Kemp P. Battle, LL. D., orator of the occasion, is now the guest of Judge Schenck, and is spending the day on the Battle Ground.

SERIOUS CONSIDERATION.

WE SEE FROM THE CHARLOTTE CHRONICLE that the President of the United States has been most cordially invited to attend the Inter-State Exposition to be held at Raleigh in October and November next.

His Excellency was visited on by our most honorable and representative Southern men from various States, and he assures them that notwithstanding it being at a time when he thinks his presence most needed in the Congressional halls, that it will have his most serious consideration; and that he is profoundly appreciative of the impressiveness of the invitation.

GLORIOUS PATRIOTISM REIGN! Among men and women. We do not believe in woman's suffrage in some things, but the ladies have been most cordially invited to call and examine our vast and varied stock of Dry Goods and Novelties, and they not only have the right too, but have exercised the right of expressing themselves in the highest terms of appreciation of our Goods and Prices.
