DOLLAR DAY SUCCESSFUL.

Mrs. Rosalind A. Redfearn home demonstration agent is directing her talents in the right direction in her efforts to get the country people enlisted on the subject of community fairs and the beautification of home sites and making their yards and environs more attractive. These surroundings trifling as they seem to some are the more important because they are constant forces in molding character. Anything that tends to the cultivation of the taste for the beautiful and the ornate and the ideal tends to the ennoblement of life. Mrs. Rosalind Redfcarn is one of the most intelligent women in the county and as home demonstration agent she has demonstrated her ability and resourcefulness. Her letters in The M. & I. are words of wisdom. The dedication of the new church t Forrestville Sunday was largely attended by friends from Richmond county and Rockingham, Maxton, Lilesville, Wadesboro and South Carolina. The dedicatory exercises were conducted by Dr. J. B. Craven of Charlotte assisted by Rev. D. F. Carver and Rev. T. B. Huneycutt. Our friends from Wadesboro who are always interested in church work were present and their grand pastor and preacher Rev. J. H. Armbrust and Mrs. Armbrust accompanied them. Our people would be delighted to have him occupy the pulpit at Forrestville church at some date in the near future. Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Tiddy and little daughter of Monroe spent Tuesday with Mrs. E. P. Liles. Mr. Herbert Youngblood of Charlotte was the guest of Mr. Nelson Liles Sunday. Rev. and Mrs. T. B. Huneycutt, Mrs. H. T. Spencer and Mrs. John Spencer attended the district stewards meeting in Charlotte last week. Mrs John Spencer was recently elected district steward of Lilesville circuit. Mrs. Smith Henry and little daughter will leave Thursday for Richmond, Va., to visit her sister and mother. Mr. Furman Rogers of Spartanburg, S. C., was the guest of his sister Mrs. J. D. Morton recently.

POLKTON LOCALS.

The Polkton fair was a decided success. The attendance was large and the spirit fine. The exhibits were far beyond expectation, and included samples of every thing grown in and around Polkton. In handiwork of every kind the display was fine. While the crops are undoubtedly short, yet long faces and doleful voices were conspicuous only by their absence. Mr. Broome, county agent of Union, Dr. Newman, member of editorial staff of the Progressive Farmer and Mr. James of Washington, D. C. were present and made interesting and very practical addresses. Of Anson's own, Prof. R. W. Allen, Mr. J. W. Cameron and Mrs. Redfearn spoke hopefully and in touch with this progressive age. In the amusement line the "ground hog" and "red bats" caused many smiles to linger and eyes to sparkle as the never ending procession passed by their "cages." The success of the fair was due to the united efforts of the people, ably seconded by the united energies of Prof. McColl and his corps of able assistants. Blue ribbon prizes were abundant and were highly appreciated by all recipients. A list of these will appear in the M. & I. later.

Mrs. W. R. Little is spending a part of this week with friends in Charlotte.

The children will meet in the Baptist church next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for the purpose of reorganizing the Sunbeams. Mrs. C. B. Ledbetter will act as leader and Miss Anabel Martin as assistant.

Mrs. C. D. Maske of Beaufort, who has been visiting her parents in Monroe, is spending this week with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Maske, of Polkton.

Failure to Vaccinate Children Not Sufficient Reason for Keeping Them Out of School, Supreme Court Finds.

NO ERROR IN JOHNSON CASE.

Among the decisions handed down by the supreme court yesterday was one affirming the judgment of Anson superior court in the case of the state vs. T. C. Johnson, of McFarlan. It will be remembered that Mr. Johnson was tried on a charge of keeping his children out of school, and was convicted being sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and the costs. He appealed, and has now lost his appeal. There are several other cases of the same kind now in court, the Johnson case being tried first for a test.

It will be remembered that last year the Anson board of health ordered that all children attending school be vaccinated. Those whose parents refused to let them be vaccinated were excluded from school, and finally those parents who persisted in their refusal were indicted for not complying with the compulsory attendance law. When the Johnson case was tried it attracted much interest, and the court was crowded all during its progress.

JAILOR OF ALBEMARLE IS FEELING RATHER SERIOUS.

Another Jailor Convicted of Allowing Prisoners to Escape Escapes From Him.

Albemarle, Nov. 19 .- Deputy Sheriff Math Barbee may not have fallen down and cried out "What must I do to be saved" as did the Phillippian jailor before Paul when the earthquake turned out the prisoners, but he has good cause to feel almost as serious as did that ancient official. Yes, he has reason to see visions of himself wearing the uniform of a working man who draws no wages or salary for his services, for he today saw done to another just what he possibly may expect done to him for the very same offense.

Stanly's jailor was this morning sentenced to 90 days on the chain gang by Judge Henry P. Lane, for allowing prisoners to escape from the Stanly jail recently. The said jailor was turned over into the custody of Deputy Sheriff Barbee and bless goodness, Homer got away from him. So Barbee having seen one official sentenced to 90 days on the roads for allowing a prisoner to escape, has some grounds for suspecting that the same may happen to him, for the jailor made his escape and up to late this afternoon Barbee has not seen hide nor hair of him.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY AGENTS MEET HERE.

Mr. C. E. preparing to attend a Hallowe'en Mott, of Charlotte, district, manager, party last week. She daubed it with and about 25 agents were present. Matters of interest to the agents were discussed, and a good time was had by all. Mr. Mott commented on the impression of aliveness and upand-doing which Wadesboro gives, and said the paved streets add greatheld here, but the agents liked the town so well they will return for another gathering later, when agents in the entire territory from Charlotte to Wilmington will be present. .

It is understood that the Standard expects to open a handsome filling station of the Salisbury road in the near future.

LONDON HAS 'RAT WEEK'; KILLS OFF 3,000,000

Moonlight Piccadilly Frolics by The Rodents Are Told in Press.

London, Nov. 15 (By Associated Press.)-Rats which infest old London houses, office buildings, restaurants, sewers and subways-and cost the city 1,000,000 pounds annually in damsge-had a hard time of it during "Rat Week," just ended.

It was estimated that more than 3, 000,000 rodents met death at the hand of professional rat catchers, school boys and girls and private citizens who hunted the pests out with every conceivable means. One vermin-chasing company alone was reported to have accounted for 800,000.

The press took up the campaign, and one enthusiastic writer asserted that he had seen, on moonlight nights, whole companies of rats frolicking through Piccadilly. One hospital manager declared he had discovered tightrope walking brown-coats entering the hospital along electric light wires stretched from the roof across the street.

London sanitation officials do not want the war on the rodents to end with the mere annilation of 3,000,000, and they urge that the campaign be kept up until the body of London's Museum.

LIPSTICK POISON FATAL.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 7 .- Use of lipsticks to cover traces of a small pimple on her face caused the death of Georgia Knickerbocker, 14-yearold Jamesville girl, in a hospital here today. With a big hardware store at the corner of Morgan and Washington streets, the new post office at the corner of Morgan and Rutherford streets, and a furniture store on Morgan street, the business district is considerably enlarged, with much vacant land which may now be developed profitably.

Three Baby Elephants Cause Near Panic at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Nov. 14 .- Three baby elephants, part of a vaudeville act at a local theater, today scored such a smashing hit in private life that their owner, Don Darrah, of New York, was held in $300 bail pending repairs to certain parts of the north-east section of Philadelphia.

The trio confined at night in a garage took offense early today at sounds from a balky motor car. They snapped their chains and sallied forth with the car owner leading the procession at a hot pace.

Fragrant whiffs of breakfast being prepared by Mrs. Anna Dammore in her kitchen halted the elephants and one of the trio uprooted the Dammore fence. Mrs. Dammore glanced out her window, and then with three young Dammores, sought the roof. The elephants entered through the back door, taking it with them.

"Bale," one of the runaways, burned his trunk on the stove, seized that article by its underpinning and upset it. The other elephant wrecked the ice box and splintered the furniture. "Babe" then headed an exodus from the Dammore home.

Police, meanwhile, summoned Darrah, who returned his charges to the theater yard where they were fastened to heavy stakes. But shortly after noon they once more broke loose and for a brief period they roamed about until rounded up again and securely anchored.

When a man quits advertising the public forgets him. The case of Douglas, the shoe man, is a good illustration of the point. In former years one could not pick up a paper in any part of the United States that did not carry his picture, the principal features of which were a rather bald pate, a fringe of hair and short "burnsiders." After awhile Douglas made the mistake of going into poltics and was elected Governor of Massachusetts. Then his face was gradually eliminated from the newspapers and the personality of Mr. Douglass lapsed into forgetfulness. He is now recalled to public notice by information of his death, while many people had believed him dead long ago. To all practical purposes he did die when he quit advertising, and all are welcome to the moral they may find in this short story.
