JERSEY BREEDERS ORGANIZE IN SHELBY

To Promote the Jersey Breed of Cattle in Cleveland County — Show in the Fall.

At an enthusiastic meeting of Jersey breeders held in the court house Monday afternoon the Cleveland County Jersey Breeders association was perfected with the following officers: S. S. Ware, of Kings Mountain, president; George Blanton, Shelby, vice president, and R. M. Gidney, Shelby, secretary and treasurer.

Mr. J. A. Arey state dairyman was present and assisted in the organization.

It is the purpose of the organization to promote the Jersey breed of cattle in the county by assisting the farmers in securing pure bred cattle, stimulate interest in breeding associations, and hold sales of pure bred cattle when we get a surplus in the county.

A large number of farmers have already joined the association and it is the desire of the officers that every man in Cleveland county interested in seeing more and better Jerseys in the county join the association. The annual dues are $1.00 per year.

The association plans to hold a show of pure bred Jersey cattle in Shelby this fall.

ANCIENT SHINGLES SHOW UP WELL WITH NEW ONES

Rock Hill Herald.

G. R. Randall, of 118 Oakland avenue, who is building a residence in Cedar Crest, is putting on, as a curiosity, a dozen shingles taken from a home built by his great-grandfather, Isaac Randall, more than 130 years ago. The shingles, heart of the yellow pine of North Carolina, appear as solid as when they were hewn excepting that the exposed portion has been eroded by the rain. The shingles are a half inch thick at the bottom and an inch thick at the top. No nails were used, a hole being bored and a peg inserted. The peg was hung over the sheathing. The shingle had a six inch exposure and was about 20 inches long, the additional shingle placed on top holding each subsequent row firmly in place. The top row was nailed.

Mr. Randall has no means of knowing when the home from which the shingles were taken was built. However, his grandfathers eldest brother, John Randall, was born in the house October 2, 1795. The old house is still standing, but the north side has been recovered. The logs are dove-tailed and placed and the rafter are set with pins. The nails used were shop forged, with the head to one side.

The house is located in Cleveland county about 6 miles from Blacksburg.

CLOSING OF THE ELIZABETH SCHOOL

Special to The Star. The Elizabeth school closed Friday April 29th. It was a very successful year with Miss Attie Bostic, Miss Vertie Champion and Miss Tizzy Lee Randall as teachers. They were very much interested in their work.

In the afternoon the intermediate and primary departments gave an exercise. The patrons that attended seemed to enjoy it very much. After the exercise was given the treat was enjoyed by the pupils which the teachers were so nice to give.

The prizes were also appreciated by the winners who received the most headmarks in spelling and the nearest note books on geography.

The following Saturday night the two plays that were given April 23rd were repeated at the Union school house.

The teacher and characters in the plays were requested to take supper at the home of Miss Vertie Champion and was enjoyed by all. The proceeds of the plays will go for the benefit of the Elizabeth school.

Miss Allie Nooe of Charlotte spent the week end here as the charming guest of her sister, Mrs. J. T. Gardner.

BANKERS OUTLINE PROGRAM TO RELIEVE DEPRESSION

Repeal of Excess Profits Tax and Rail Rate Revision Urged—Seeks to End Robberies.

Pinehurst, May 5.—Specific recommendations for the solution of present pressing business problems were made in reports submitted today to the executive council of the American Bankers' association meeting here, by the economic policy committee and the committee on commerce and marines.

The influence of European business and financial conditions in the United States was discussed in a report by John R. McHugh, of New York, chairman of the commerce and marine committee, and a warning against "hasty measures of legislation designed to relieve the abnormal conditions at present existing in trade and industry" was sounded in a report of the economic policy committee, of which Paul M. Warburg is chairman.

The position taken by John S. Drum of San Francisco, president of the association, in an address urging the creation of instrumentalities for extension of credits to foreign buyers was supported by Mr. McHugh.

A report of the savings bank division opposed development of government organizations to the extent of creating competition with savings institutions. The council also decided to make a crusade against bank robbers because of the crime wave.

Approval of the McFadden bill, creating a new position to be known as the under-secretary of the treasury and abolishing the office of comptroller of the currency, was embraced in the report of the economic policy committee.

"We believe," the report says "that the governor of the federal reserve board should be elected by the board, instead of being named, with the vice governor, by the President, and that the governor, instead of the secretary of the treasury, should be the presiding officer. The latter, being rarely able to attend the meetings, cannot be closely in touch with pending business. On account of the imperative demands which the regular duties of the secretary of the treasury make upon the officials, we view with favor the suggestion that the position of under-secretary of the department of state, be created, and that this official represent the treasury on the board."

The report emphasized the necessity for the strictest economy in all branches of governmental affairs.

"We urge," it continued, that the estimates for the military and naval establishments be carefully considered, with a view to bringing about a reduction of the outlays wherever practicable and we trust that the influence of the United States will be exerted toward promoting an amicable arrangement among all nations for definitely limiting and reducing this class of expenditures in the future.

The repeal of the present tax upon excess profits was urged, while the present levies upon transportation, especially upon freight, were said to be harmful to business. In its consideration of the problems confronting the railroads of the country, the report said it was idle to seek a cure in government ownership and operation.

The Esch-Cummins law, it continued, has not had a fair test and there is good reason to believe that in normal times and with some modifications, it will prove itself capable of effectively meeting our railroad problems.

"From the economic point of view we have now reached the most critical point of the last seven years," says a concluding paragraph of the report, "for the basis on which the European situation will be settled, or unsettled, will decide the future economic development of the world."

LINCOLN COUNTY ITEMS.

Tearing Down the Old Court House—Talking Hard Roads.

Lincoln County News.

The work of dismantling the old court house has begun, and good headway is being made today getting the furniture and fixtures removed from the court room ready for a general tear down next week when the offices will move out to the new temporary court house on Main street.

The decision has been made by the county commissioner to sell lumber from the old court house, which is unfit for further use at $1.00 a load, and brick at $1.50 per load, to all who apply and move same away promptly. The slate, window frames, and stone has been sold to Charles Harrill.

Talking of the state highways as proposed through Lincoln county chairman Johnston of the county commissioners, states that the board and citizens generally seem agreed that the west road from Lincolnton should be the most central road, the old Morganton road leading to Beams in North Brook, where a direct road to Shelby could later be secured; and the east road adopted should be the old plank road to Lowesville. When this road is adopted as the highway, could then be tapped at the Camp ground on by the Graham place to Denver and to Statesville, another direct route to the Iredell county seat. From Lowesville the state road could be routed by Rozells Ferry into Mecklenburg. A direct connection with Charlotte, another county seat. The idea seems to be to adopt the most direct route from county seat to county seat at the same time placing all highways central in four directions, thus benefitting the largest number in the county.
