SOLEMN AND IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES MARK ARMISTICE CELEBRATION HERE

Trees Are Planted In Sunset Cemetery For 31 Men Who Made The Supreme Sacrifice—Citations For Bravery Of Champion, Gold and Turner.

Solemn and impressive ceremonies were held in Shelby Friday in observance of Armistice Day, exercises being carried out in the Court House at a community prayer meeting and in the Graded School auditorium by the school children. Youngsters of the town had a Fourth of July spirit in their bones and gave vent to their feelings by noisy pistols, automobile horns, etc. but older heads sent up prayers for the Disarmament Conference in the City of Washington which met Saturday with representatives from nine of the leading powers of the earth present to discuss a limitation or reduction of implements of war.

Trees for Deceased Soldiers

At the cemetery Friday morning 31 pretty sugar maple trees were planted in honor of the 31 young men who paid the supreme sacrifice and at the foot of each tree will be placed a granite marker with the name of the soldier the tree represents, together with the unit to which he belonged. Each year the relatives and friends will place flowers at the foot of these trees to memorialize the boys who died in the service of their country. The Civic Department of the Woman's Club deserves the thanks of the whole community in thus honoring the dead. They have been at considerable expense in buying trees and markers so contributions to the fund will be cheerfully received by Mrs. L. A. Blanton and Mrs. O. Max Gardner. The following is a list of the 31 soldiers, trees on the right as one enters the Sunset Cemetery through the main gate representing those who were killed in action and trees on the left representing soldiers who died in service:

Killed in action: Warren F. Hoyle, Robert P. Falls, Odus D. Green, C. A. McCraw, Wm. Barrett, O. Pratt Street, Lawson J. Owens, Joseph W. Runyans, Frank Haynes, B. C. McSwain, John Garver, George W. Hastings, Butler Hord.

Died in service: Ira A. Crabtree, S. J. Randall, Ralph O. Rhyne, E. O. Cabaniss, Reid Morris, Roy Lettmore, Ed Price, Joseph L. Spangler, Broadus V. Doty, Wm. B. Weathers, Forrest A. Rippy, G. B. McIntyre, Harvey N. Allen, Fred Weathers, J. H. Ratteree, Calvin Cook, Summy Powell, Henry Withrow, (col.)

Resolutions Adopted

In the Court House promptly at 11:30 o'clock before an audience that filled the large auditorium, Rev. W. A. Murray acting as master of ceremonies read President Harding's proclamation which reads as follows: "I, Warren G. Harding, President of the United States of America, do hereby call upon all devout and patriotic citizens of the United States to pause from their accustomed occupations and labors on Friday the 11 day of November from 12 o'clock noon to two minutes past that hour for a period of silent prayer and thanks to the Giver of all good."

Rev. Dr. J. M. Kester offered a beautiful prayer in keeping with the occasion, after which the Men's Gospel Chorus led in several hymns. Mayor J. T. Gardner read the following resolutions which were adopted by a rising vote and transmitted by wire to the head of the American Delegation of the disarmament conference in Washington:

"Whereas the Nations of the World are surfeited with war and whereas at the call of the President of the United States a conference of nine of the leading powers meets Saturday Nov. 12th in the City of Washington to consider the question of reduction and limitation of armament, therefore be it resolved by this body of American citizens assembled in the Court House at Shelby, North Carolina in the county of Cleveland on Armistice Day, November 11th, 1921, that we urge upon the representatives of the American Government in the aforesaid conference, proper attitude and action which will insure the greatest possible reduction of armament compatible with the peace of the World and the welfare of our common humanity.

"Resolved second that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the head of the American Delegation on limitation of armament. Unanimously adopted: W. A. Murray, chairman, W. H. Jennings, J. T. Gardner, resolutions committee; Lee B. Weathers, secretary.

One of the most appropriate and unique, as well as enjoyable social meetings that has been the good fortune of the Chicora Club to enjoy for some time was that of last Friday when Mrs. Frank Jenkins was a charming hostess at her home on S. Washington street.

The house, which lends itself beautifully to decorative effects, carried out in detail the color note of red and white and a most inspiring and attractive program apropos of the sentiment of the day—Nov. 11 was carried out with pleasing effect. Each club member as she arrived was given a card upon which to express her sentiments and feelings in behalf of the peace conference which is now being held in the city of Washington these cards on being read aloud seemed to voice with one accord the sincere prayer for "Peace on Earth and Good Will Toward Men." This was followed by an instructive reading on Armistice Day, by Mrs. R. L. Ryburn. A number of patriotic songs and instrumental solos added zest to the occasion.

At the conclusion of the program a tempting and elaborate collation consisting of chicken salad, sandwiches, ices and cheese balls in which the color note of red and white was still further emphasized, was served in faultless style.

The sixteen guests including the bridal party, and the immediate relatives of the bride and groom, found their places by dainty handpainted place cards, and as a souvenir, each guest was a dainty little handmade chrysanthemum basket, into which was placed at each progression, a nut as a tally. Miss Blanton at the conclusion of the game, presented the honoree a lovely silver nut set.

Delicious ice cream, coconut cake, and candies were served by the hostess, Mrs. Blanton and Mrs. Charlie Doggett and Mrs. Zeb Mauney.

MR. HOEY SPEAKS ON DISARMAMENT

AT MONROE ARMISTICE DAY EVENT

Fresh Hope is Kindled for World Peace—Abhors Policy of Isolation from Needy World

Union county united in a county-wide celebration of Armistice day in Monroe Friday. Extensive arrangements had been made for the proper celebration of the day and an interesting program arranged. The exercises were featured by an address by Clyde R. Hoey, former congressman from the ninth district, and in the course of his address he discussed the disarmament conference and in this connection said:

"The observance of Armistice day awakens feelings of pride and penitence. Pride in our common country, our heroic sons, our sacrifices and service in war, and the assistance we rendered our allies in crushing the advancing German army and bringing to a gloriously victorious conclusion the long existing hostilities, which had already drenched the world in blood. Penitence that we as a nation have failed to meet the responsibilities of peace and to make good our pledge to our sacred dead that their sacrifices should be translated into an unbroken covenant to make future wars impossible.

"The assembling of the disarmament conference kindles fresh hope. Let the people of this nation determine that the economic slavery of war shall cease and that America shall stand in this conference for such a reduction of armament as shall lift the burdens of war from the back of business and the fear of bloody carnage from the hearts of the mothers of men. Our duty is plain and imperative.

"I covet for America an understanding heart, an open mind, a willing hand and a free spirit. I would have her stand in the vanguard of the nations leading the way along the dimly lighted path to the attainment of the exalted purposes of free government among all peoples. I would have her shirk no responsibility, evade no duty, neglect no opportunity for service to humanity. I abhor the selfishness of a policy of isolation in the presence of a world in need.

"I believe in the spirit of an America dominant with hope, triumphant in service, embodied by her past successes and ready for continued conquests along the peaceful lines of moral and spiritual leadership and free and unstinted contribution to the common good of the world. She saved her soul in the recent war by her offering in blood and treasure upon the altar of world freedom, and while the sweet incense of the sacrifice is yet ascending to high Heaven, she should not quench the fires, extinguish the flames and abandon the altar.

"The need of the world is at once an invitation and a challenge to America. I would have her accept both and pledge her boundless resources, her limitless wealth, her unconquered spirit, her imperial will and her unsullied soul to the task of restoring and preserving the peace of the world and hastening the dawning of that day for which the fathers and mothers of the world have looked with longing hearts through the centuries."

Miss Alva Eskridge who holds a splendid position as stenographer in Gastonia spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Miller Eskridge.
