

IKE'S TALE.

—Attractive Casar—

Dear Star Readers.

Sal sez tu narrate hit abroad over the land that Casar is a grate place in which to live and move and have your being. I told her that I wuz a fare hand to try to tell any thing; but she sez to do the best I could and then they could sorter make a guess at what I didn't get told.

Well the climate is fine, and the scenery is jist the best thar is in the United States this side of Polkville; and while the climate fails in dry weather the scenery goes on the whole year around and thar haint been but little change in hit for the last two hundred years. Carpenters Knob is a standing rite whar hit did when Sal wuz a little gal a begging her maw fur a dip of snuff. Every day jist a little bit before dark the sun sets rite due west from the center of Casar; and thar is sum advantage in that, for we know rite whar we air at when night comes. Lots of smart school teachers have been here, but not one of 'em has been able to explain why the sun goes down in the west from Casar.

Ben's Knob stands cose to Casar, a little west of north and shuts us off from Burke county with all hit crazy doings.

Away tu the south of Casar is Lawndale in all hit glory, and on still further south is Shelby, whar me and Sal has both been two times apiece. Thar is a big train passes up by Shelby, a little train comes tu Lawndale, but Casar has tu put up with a truck that runs by gasoline and is out of fix most of the time. We have the best kind of water up here close to the mountains, but then nobody don't seem to care nothing about drinking any of hit only the preachers, and they don't drink much of hit only when they think somebody is a eavesdropping them. But the main reason why everybody likes Casar so good is because of the folks that live thar.

They air divided into two classes, those that do as they pleas and those that do as they have tu do. Me and Sal is a sort of a cross betwixt the two classes with rite smart of durn fool thrown in fur good measure.

All of us chaws haccer and spits jist about as vigorous as our grate granddies did, but when hit comes tu cussing and telling lies we have beat the record of all that have ever gone on before?

Away back yonder long ago they say that Sal's people use tu be purty well-to-do sort o' folks, but they have cussed and told lies till they have jist about run through with all they ever owned; but Sal don't want nothing sed about hit or they mite git mad and take a notion to disinherit me and her in the final wind up, and we air calculatin' on gittin' both of them thar hound pups when the estate is divided up. Now with these few things that we've said about Casar, and we didn't tell hit half like hit ought tu be told, if you think you'd like tu live up here jist come rite on fur we want more folks jist like the ones we've already got.

While we air up tu date and a little ahead in a few things; yit we will own up that in sum things we air away behind the rest of the world.

We air slow tu hear the news of what is going on around us, like fur instance you mite take the case of that cold freezing spell of weather that come on Jan 5 and 6 of this year, well I'll be confound if thar wasn't more than half of the folks at Casar never heard a thing about hit till way after groundhog day. IKE.
