Gaffney Shows Interest in Bridge
Gaffney People Would Like to See Structure Erected Over Broad River at Ellis Ferry.

Gaffney Ledger.
Gaffney and Cherokee county people generally are much interested in the proposal now under consideration by the commissioners of Cleveland county to bridge Broad river at the site of the old Ellis ferry and thus open a way for a short route from Gaffney to Shelby. The Cleveland commissioners are scheduled to meet at the site Monday afternoon to definitely decide on the project, and it is likely that a number of Gaffney and Cherokee county people will attend the meeting.

A Gaffney man who is interested in the project yesterday declared that practically everybody between Gaffney and the river will be on hand for the occasion when the Shelby officials and Cleveland county people are expected to cross the river in bateaus at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Mayor R. A. Jones yesterday said he is heartily in favor of the construction of the bridge, but that he did not feel that it would be the proper thing for him to attempt to use his official position in influencing the officials of the North Carolina county in their decision. Under the circumstances, he will not attend the meeting at the proposed bridge site, he said, but he hopes that the structure will be erected.
R. S. Lipscomb, cashier of the Merchant and Planters National bank, stated that he is always in favor of opening up new roads and improving highway facilities. There need be no fear that the Cleveland county project, if carried to a successful conclusion, will hurt Gaffney in the least, he declared. The bridge will open up new trade territory for this city as well as for Shelby and Mr. Lipscomb said he feels certain Gaffney will get a reasonable share of this business.
Other local business men also endorsed the erection of the proposed bridge.
