Supreme Court Is Defended By Hoey

Shelby Lawyer Speaks to Gastonia Club on Sacredness of the Constitution.

Gastonia, Sept. 11.—Speaking before a local service club here today, Clyde R. Hoey, of Shelby, made a stouff speech on the American constitution month over the country.

Presenting the constitution as the organic law of the United States, guaranteeing to every individual his personal and property rights, the speaker declared that one of the most distressing signs in our national life today is the fight being made on the federal supreme court, the only bulwark which stands between the people and their own guarantee of liberty, namely the constitution.

There is, declared Mr. Hoey a feeling on the part of a large part of our population that the constitution is a restraint instead of a guarantee to us of the very liberty that is ours. This feeling is one that should be eradicated.

There are now pending in congress, said the speaker 161 proposed amendments to the constitution, only one of which he thinks should be enacted. That is one which places the amending of the constitution in the hands of the people of the United States instead of in the hands of the legislators of the states.

The Englishman, determined not to be outdone began to tell a story of a man who swam from Liverpool to New York. "Did you see him yourself?" inquired the American. "Why, yes, of course. I was coming across the water and our vessel passed him a mile outside New York harbor."

America Wins Again.

The American was drawing the long bow. "On one occasion," he said, "I got 99 lions."

The Englishman, determined not to be outdone began to tell a story of a man who swam from Liverpool to New York.

"Did you see him yourself?" inquired the American. "Why, yes, of course. I was coming across the water and our vessel passed him a mile outside New York harbor."

"Well," was the retort, "I'm glad you saw him, stranger, because you're a witness that I did it. I was that swimmer."

A Scotchman's First Thought.

The old tradition concerning the Scotch canniness when there's a penny in sight receives a new boost by the following story: A sportsman who had been shooting on a high-land moor became lost in a sudden mist.

He tramped about hopefully until the light failed, and at last, when he was beginning to become really anxious, he heard the sound of footsteps near at hand. The sportsman shouted: "Hallo! Hallo, there! I'm lost."

For answer came a cautious voice out of the gloom: "Ay . . . but is there any reward for finding ye?"

THE FALL SEASON

Is fast approaching and cotton will soon be on the market. The extremely dry season appears now to have brought about an early cotton season and many think a short one, but perhaps it will be better than we think now.

THE HARVESTING OF COTTON

Means a great deal to the people of our county for it is the "money crop" of Cleveland county. Many will have money "when they sell their cotton" who have not had any for many months.

AND IT SHOULD BE A GREAT DEBT PAYING TIME.

Make your merchant, fertilizer dealer, landlord or banker, or whoever has been helping you feel good by first "paying up."

Here are some timely suggestions for the thrifty for this season:—

Pick your cotton as fast as it opens.

Don't leave it in the field at the mercy of the weather.

Market it as fast as possible until the debts are all paid.

Save all the feed stuff possible.

Sow rape and rye for the chickens.

Make your plans to sow oats and vetch.

PAY YOUR DEBTS if you have any, as fast as you sell your cotton.

SAVE ALL YOU CAN.

BANK ALL YOUR MONEY. Don't carry it around in your pocket or keep it at home.

Get close up with your farm work, so the whole family can take in the CLEVELAND COUNTY AGRICULTURAL FAIR, OCTOBER, 14, TO 18.

Since cotton will open up early, don't wait for note and account notices, but pay them as fast as you can and "clear the way" for new business.

WITH GREAT HOPES AND ASPIRATIONS FOR THE PEOPLE OF OUR GOOD COUNTY.
