Mr. Hamrick III—Rev. G. P. Hamrick continues ill at his home on N. LaFayette street. His condition is quite serious at times and it is feared that he will never be able to be up and out again.

Buys Henry Place—C. T. Warren has purchase through Anthony and Anthony the Bob Henry place belonging to George A. Hoyle and located below Shelby. The price was $140 per acre for 60 acres.

In Winston—The Democratic campaign in Forsyth county was opened Monday night by a speech in Winston-Salem by Hon. Clyde R. Hoey of Shelby. Mr. Hoey's last campaign speech before the election will be to Guilford county folks in Greensboro on the night of November 3.

Interest in Wedding—From all inquiries the T. W. Hamrick company, jewelers, have had in regard to giving away the wedding ring to the couple that will marry in the grand stand at the fair ground this week, every indication points to a big wedding with many to witness it.

Sale Well Patronized—The Cyclone Auction company's sale of the Jarvis-Hamrick lots beyond Cleveland Springs on hard-surfaced highway No. 20 was well attended Saturday, the sale bringing $7,188. This makes five sales the Cyclone has conducted in Shelby during the past 15 months and every lot offered for sale was sold and confirmed.

No Kiwanis—There will be no meeting of the Kiwanis club Thursday evening of this week according to an announcement by the club secretary, the meeting being called off on account of Cleveland's inaugural fair, which is in progress. Kiwanians however are urged to attend the fair each day and help boost the county. The regular meeting will be held next week.

Mr. Lucas Improving—The many friends of Mr. Walter Lucas who lost his right arm above the elbow in a cotton gin at Mooresboro last Thursday, will be pleased to learn that he is improving rapidly in the Rutherford hospital. Mr. Lucas was short of help at the time of the accident and undertook to clean out some cotton which was jammed in the press when his overall sleeve caught and pulled his arm in the machinery.

Bee Causes Accident—While three ladies and a boy were coming to Shelby from Salisbury last week to visit friends and relatives in Shelby, a bee got into the car and the lady driver attempted to get it out while the car was in motion. Her attention was so absorbed in the bee that the car mounted an embankment and turned over, just beyond Kings Mountain. One of the ladies received a severe cut on the hand and the other occupants were bruised.

Great Sunday Crowd—Thousands of people motored to the fair ground Sunday to see the preparation that had been made for the fair which opens today. The highway was a solid mass of cars coming and going between Shelby. Coming from the fair ground last Sunday afternoon, a representative of The Star met exactly 100 cars in the few minutes it took to drive that distance. Indications are for fair weather and a mammoth attendance.

Real Estate—Transactions in real estate handled recently by J. B. Nolan, of Lawndale, include: Purchase of 87 1-2 acre farm by Mr. J. L. Mode, of Belwood R-1, from N. A. Smith for $7,000; the Julius H. Buff farm of 65 acres in No. 10 township was bought by Mr. Smith for $3,250. Another sale was a lot on the Cleveland Springs road opposite the Lineberger development from Odus Royster, of Lawndale, to Louis M. Hamrick for $2,000.

Scrubs Lose—The second eleven of the Shelby high school football squad was defeated Saturday by the Forest City highs at Forest City 12 to 6. The "scrubs" put up a good game but were unable to hold the Forest City boys. In Shelby's second team is some likely looking material for next year's regulars and such games as the one played Saturday are good training for the future hopefuls. A number of the first string players went to Charlotte Saturday for the Rockingham-Charlotte game, which was won by Charlotte.

At Mt. Vernon—Home coming day will be held at Mt. Vernon Church Saturday October 25, 1924, it is announced, 10 a. m.—Song service. 10:15 a. m.—Address of welcome by the pastor, Rev. S. C. Douthit. 10:25 a. m.—History of Mt. Vernon church by A. P. Bumgardner of Gastonia. 1 a. m.—Sermon by Rev. W. R. Bradshaw of Hickory. 12 m.—Dinner on the ground. 1 p. m.—Address by S. A. Strup of Columbus. 1:45 p. m.—Address by Rev. C. M. Roberson of Catawba. 2:30 p. m.—Addresses by visitors. Everybody requested to bring well filled baskets and enjoy the day.

To Havana—Relatives in Shelby have received notice of the appointment of Chas. C. Gidney, jr., to the consular service in Havana, Cuba, and of his leaving New York last week for that port. Mr. Gidney is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles C. Gidney of Plainview, Texas and on one or two occasions has visited his uncles, Messrs. R. M. and Lamar C. Gidney of East Marion street. He took his degree at the foreign service department of Georgetown university, Washington, D. C., last June, since which time he has been with the U. S. department of commerce in Washington.

H. T. Fulton and North Smith of Kings Mountain are to have charge of a mineral exhibit at the Cleveland County Fair to show the mineral products of Cleveland county.

Anyone having minerals that would be of interest to the people attending the fair are requested to bring them out to the fair Monday October 13th. No premiums will be offered but the exhibit is being put on to show the different minerals produced in Cleveland county.

Mr. Smith says two million dollars worth of gold has been mined from the old Catawba gold mine just east of Kings Mountain according to the records of the U. S. mint.

This booth should prove to be one of the most interesting booths at the county fair as Mr. Smith and Mr. Fulton are both enthusiastic mineralogists.

QUAKER OATS COMPANY FEEDING FAIR POULTRY

McKnight and company, local whole sale grocers and distributors of Quaker Oats products induced the factory to send its state representative, Mr. E. C. Elzemire and salesman Mr. Rogers to Shelby during the Cleveland County Fair, to demonstrate the product and give whatever information the public might ask on poultry raising. The Quaker Oat company has a booth at the county fair and any information on the feed and care of poultry will be gladly furnished to those who inquire.

This company has also agreed to furnish feed free for the poultry exhibited.

Special for this week 10 cent off on coats and all ladies ready-to-wear. Mrs. F. N. Wood, South Shelby, adv
