GROVER TAKES IN BIG COUNTY FAIR

(Special to The Star.) Grover, Oct. 14.—Everybody in Grover this morning seems to be headed toward the Cleveland County Fair. Cotton is coming in to the gins much more rapidly for the last few days. In most of the fields the crop seems to be nearly all open and the farmers are clamoring for help to get it out.

Mrs. J. I. Hardin, who was confined to her home for several days by sickness is able to be out again. Plans are developing to place electric light in the school building in the next few days. It is hoped to have them in for the first Lyceum attraction, which will be given next Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mullinax of Asheville were visiting in Grover during the week-end. The local damask mill is running full time under rush orders now. It seems almost impossible to keep up with the demand for the goods they are turning out. Miss Katherine Foster, the teacher of music in the Grover high school returned Sunday from a stay of several weeks with home folks at Roebuck, S. C. Miss Foster was forced to return home just after she began here work on account of her health. We are glad she is able to be back again.

Mr. M. B. Crisp and his son Mr. M. L. Crisp were recent visitors in the home of Mrs. S. A. Crisp, Mr. M. L. Crisp returned to his home at Mountville, S. C., while his father will extend his visit through several days. Mr. Charles Gettys, who is a student in Spartanburg, S. C., visited his mother Mrs. Jennie Gettys in Grover last week. Miss Ruby Ellis of Limestone college is visiting homefolks. Mrs. R. E. Hambright returned last week from a visit to her parents at Murphy. She was accompanied home by her father Mr. R. M. Fane who is spending some time in the community. Mr. W. T. Hartness of Sharon, S. C., is visiting relatives in Grover this week. Dr. L. G. Ellis of Chillicothe, Ohio, is spending some days with relatives in Grover. The first attraction of the Piedmont Lyceum course for the winter will be given at the school auditorium next Monday night.

BIG INCREASE IN WACO HIGH SCHOOL

58 Per Cent Increase in Attendance Over Last Year. Students Are Discussing Port Bill. (Special to The Star.)

Waco, October 8.—A tabulation of the monthly attendance report of the Waco school for the first month of this year shows an enrollment 58 per cent greater than for the first month last year. The enrollment for the first month last year was 120. This year it was 189. Two factors have brought this about. First, patrons of the school are realizing that if their children are to get the most out of school they must begin at the first of the session and be regular in attendance. Heretofore has gone both to Buffalo and St. Paul, is being transported to Waco on a truck. Much interest is being shown in the literary society work of the high school now. The 60 high school students are divided into two societies—the Edgar Allan Poe and the Sidney Lanier. Interest at present is centering in a public debate between these societies on the evening of October 31st on perhaps the most stirring question in North Carolina at present: Resolved That the N. C. Port Bill should be adopted.

Misses Viva Parker and Clara Hord will represent the Sidney Lanier society and debate the affirmative side of the question, while Misses Elva Sneed and Rena Hord represent the Poe society and uphold the negative. Viva Parker of the Ladies' society and Middleton Rhyme of the Postscript society were reported as being best prepared in their respective societies last Friday afternoon. The paper of Miss Parker was a "prophecy" that of Miss Rhyme a "journal." On Wednesday evening of last week I. J. Kellum, jr., was host to his teacher, Miss Fay Black, the occasion being his sixth birthday.

OCEAN TUG SAVES 86 PASSENGERS OF BOAT

New York, Oct. 6.—The ocean-going tug Marie Olson rescued 86 passengers, 22 of them women, from the fishing boat Mistletoe which was destroyed by fire off Ambrose Light-ship Sunday afternoon. The Mistletoe was returning from the fishing banks when flames began to sweep the aft hold. The fire soon was beyond control and as the boat had no wireless with which to call for help, some of the women aboard became panic-stricken. Shortly after the passengers had been taken off the fishing boat.

REPORTED WITHDRAWAL OF FORD OFFER IS SHOCK. If Henry Ford has withdrawn his bid for Muscle Shoals, as indicated by an interview published in Collier's Weekly, he has failed thus far to advise officials in Washington of his decision, says a dispatch from that city. Neither the White House nor the war department, to which the bid originally was submitted, has heard anything that would change the status of the proposal, and none of the congressional leaders now in the capital has received any recent word from Detroit. Attention in Washington was attracted as much to the magazine's quotation of Ford's endorsement of President Coolidge's suggestion that an impartial commission be appointed to dispose of Muscle Shoals, as to the report of the withdrawal of the Ford offer itself. The magazine story came as a shock to supporters of Ford's offer, who had succeeded in having the Muscle Shoals question placed on the senate calendar as the first order of business for the December session of congress. They were prepared to wage a bitter fight on the senate floor.

Thousands Of Birds Know This Man's Voice

Toronto, Canada.—Thousand of wild birds know Jack Minor's voice and return to him yearly at his home in Kingsville, Canada, a haven of rest. Minor, once a hunter for profit, made this statement Tuesday at the fifty-eighth annual convention of the American Humane association. "There were twelve of us in our family," said Minor, "and a dollar bill looked like a horse blanket; so my eldest brother and I took to hunting for the market. We became expert shots, and left a bloody trail behind us. However, we soon outgrew that cold-blooded practice. Market hunting is not sport, but murder in the first degree." Minor told this bit of life history. "I had positive proof that the wildest of these creatures knew us as their deadliest enemies. Finally the thought came to me that surely they would know a friend if they had one. That love message is now a reality, for I have thousands of these feathered witnesses that actually know my voice and at times will come down when I call them. "I have learned a few notes of the wild goose language, so that you may be blindfold me and I will tell you a small percentage of their actions. "I now have tags returned to me off the wild geese from North Carolina to Baffin Bay and 41 from Hudson bay. I have tags returned from 33 different states and provinces, covering an area of about 2,000 miles square, or four million square miles. But about the most encouraging fact I can give you is that fully 40 per cent of the birds I tag in the fall return to me the following spring. "It took me several years to get the birds coming, or in other words it took years to convince them that they really had a friend on earth. Finally a small bunch came. They apparently told others until their little flock grew into a small cloud. In fact I have seen the wild geese rise up so thick you could scarcely see through them, and their honking could be heard for over a mile. "The last six or seven years I have fed them during March and April from 1,000 to 3,200 bushels of corn each year. Thousand of people came to see them. These so-called wild birds know they are safe and sit within 50 feet of the visitors. "To see one of my pets return to me year after year for food and protection after she has evidently shied out around and outwitted thousands of hunters who are hid in ambush for her, and to see the wild geese come home bleeding and with legs broken, yes, and to even see them die in my presence really, it gives me a personal taste of His feeling when He said: 'How oft would I have gathered you as a hen gathers her chickens under her wings.' Failure is what happens to a man when he achieves success and then sits down to enjoy it.
