

LITTLE STARS

COTTON (Fallston) ----- 24c
COTTON SEED ----- 52 1-2c

Birth—Born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Dail Laughinghouse at Greenville, this state, a son, Mrs. Laughinghouse before marriage was Miss Margaret Jenkins, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. J. Frank Jenkins of Shelby.

At Carpenter's Grove—There will be preaching at Carpenter's Grove next Sunday Nov. 16th at 2:30 o'clock by Rev. Mr. Barton of Hickory. Music will be furnished by musicians from Hickory and the Hebron quartet.

Wins at Baby Show—Master Bobby Elliott, the 15-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle Elliott of Forest City won first prize at the baby show held there on Tuesday of this week. Mrs. Elliott before marriage was Miss Alma Stroup of Shelby.

To Organize Poultrymen—Rev. John W. Suttle issues a call to all poultry breeders to meet in the court house Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of organizing the Cleveland County Poultry Breeders association. Cleveland is rapidly taking the lead as a poultry county and Mr. Suttle hopes that all breeders will be on hand at this meeting.

A Winter Garden—At the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Elliott three miles south of Shelby there is a garden with seven vegetables, any of which can be gathered any day. The vegetables are ripe tomatoes, lettuce, onions, green beans, okra and green beans peppers. This shows how the climate of Cleveland is adapted to fall growing.

Mr. Jonas Dead—Rev. Beverly Wilson was called to Lincoln county Tuesday of this week to conduct the funeral of Cephus A. Jonas, father of Hon. C. A. Jonas, assistant district attorney of Western North Carolina. Mr. Jonas, deceased, was 74 years of age and one of the leading Methodists of Lincoln county. He was buried at Bethel church in Lincoln county.

Preacher and Chickens—The proverbial saying that a preacher "loves" chicken is further demonstrated in the fact that Rev. W. E. Lowe of Blacksburg, S. C., who is pastor of several rural Baptist churches, has purchased eight acres of land from Jack Palmer at $500 per acre and will raise chickens as a sideline to his ministry. Rev. Mr. Lowe will build a home on the tract which lies on the Cleveland Springs road between the golf course and the Fair ground.

Glee Club Coming—The Wake Forest Glee club and orchestra has made an engagement to give a concert in the graded school auditorium Saturday night December 6th. This musical organization composed of about 28 talented young college boys, comes under the auspices of the Men's Bible class of the First Baptist church with Prof. Hubert Potet, leader. Mr. Potet is one of the most gifted musicians in North Carolina. He has appeared here several times before.

Sells 5,000 Bushels—Senator Sam C. Lattimore, one of the largest cotton farmers in this section, on Wednesday sold 5,000 bushels of seed to a prominent South Carolina farmer to be used for planting in that state. The seed sold were of the Cleveland Big Bell variety, which has made this county a leader in cotton production. This is the fourth year that Mr. Lattimore has sold this man the majority of his seed, which is proof enough that the quality meets with the approval of the South Carolina farmers.

Flames, said to have originated in a kitchen flue, destroyed the Seaboard hotel at Bostic Monday night, says the Forest City Courier. The fire was discovered between 12 and 1 o'clock, and had gained such headway that the hotel and contents were practically a total loss. The hotel was the property of Mr. J. T. Withrow and was operated by Mrs. Frank Kendrick. The loss will prove a heavy one, as only $2,150 in insurance was carried.

Flames spread to the residence of Mr. R. S. Stout, which was a loss with only a few household goods being saved. Only a small amount of insurance was carried by Mr. Stout.

Florida Votes To Prohibit Income Tax

There were a great many questions local to various communities which were decided at the polls on Tuesday, which merit more than the circumscribed attention they would naturally receive.

One of the outstanding of these was the referendum to the people of Florida of the question of state taxation and the result of that referendum was that hereafter residents of that balmy community will be rid of all inheritance taxes and state impositions on income.

What this means to Florida is likely to be promptly reflected by the men and women from other states who will take advantage of their annual winter visits to the southland to establish such residence there as will allow them to avail themselves of the generous provisions which the vote of the state has provided.

Florida, far from being the loser by any reduction of income, is in a position to profit largely from this further addition to the already great attractions offered to visitors within her boundaries.

The people as a whole on Tuesday gave their endorsement to the principle of less and lower taxes. Florida sets an early example of the definite application of that popular principle.—New York Telegram-Mail.

Around Our Town
—SHELBY SIDELIGHTS—

"The meeting this week will be in charge of the Program Committee"—being the opening sentence of the regular weekly letter issued to Kiwanians by the secretary. What we're wondering Charlie is who generally has charge of the meetings?

The scene that perhaps attracted the attention of more people here Armistice Day was not at the Fair Grounds, nor at the theatre. It was in the LaFayette street window of Gilmer's Department store. The window pushed back six years and brought an understanding of the anniversary with a defter touch than the bursting bombs at the Fair Grounds or the thrilling film at the Princess. It was a scene we should remember, though the memories be not so pleasant. Arranged with an artistic hand the window portrayed a miniature French war cemetery—row on row of little white crosses, ready reminders of the golden stars that bring back in thousands of American homes memories of other days. As a background there fluttered "Old Glory," the starred and striped symbol of the ideal of the boys resting under the white crosses.

To the side of the flag was a striking portrait of "Black Jack"—Gen John J. Pershing—the idol of the American soldier. And last there was Cleveland county's "Roll of Honor," the names of the home boys who gave their all. The scene was the idea and handiwork of Archie Galloway, decorator for the big chain store. Those who saw it realized his ability.

Oui! Oui! Indian summer has visited Shelby. Have not the trees on the "court square" been scalped?

That Joe C. Smith, the passing of whom is related on the front page, was a friend of a generation in Shelby younger than his own is a story that was told in the recent photograph of his first automobile. Way back when automobiles were wonders, things that would attract crowds on a street corner, Mr. Smith brought his Cadillac to Shelby. One day he pulled up to the curb and covered the queer looking vehicle with eager-eyed boys—their first ride on an automobile. One of the youngsters was Attorney Pat McBrayer and from that day on Pat would walk a block out of the way just to speak to Mr. Smith. Practically every boy that took his first spin on that car owns an automobile of his own today, but they'll never forget their first ride and the man who interpreted the desire in their eyes as he chugged down street. Meaning Joe Smith had other qualities than business ability that were appreciated by the people among whom he lived.

We who live in the hustle and bustle of a business town can hardly imagine that there are those who live remotely and find peace and happiness in their years, yet there are. Up in the county there died last week an aged lady, of the type that helped bring the Southland from ruins into the limelight of prosperity, and in her 86 years of living she never glimpsed a locomotive, and Shelby to her was the town of our "29 Years Ago" clum—her last visit here was 30 years past.

Last Saturday a little blue forget-me-not greeted the world from the coat lapel of practically every Shelby man. Every one of the little tokens meant a "smoke or two," or actual necessities of life to the "boys" who gave a leg or an arm or were otherwise rendered useless for the remainder of their lives because they fought for us. This Saturday you will be called on for one dollar that will probably mean as much as two forget-me-nots. Those who attended the war film, "Flashes of Action" at the Princess theatre saw the Red Cross stretcher bearers go out under the bursting shells and shrapnel and amid the hail of steel and give first aid to the wounded. The same workers are doing just as much, or more, for a supposedly peace-loving world. More-over one-half of your dollar will remain to help those in need in this county. A dollar well spent—the one you give in the Red Cross roll call Saturday.

Shelby continues to get in the head lines. Last week a Shelby man—J. M. Shannonhouse—furnished the best title to the Charlotte Observer's picture contest. His title was a clever one, and, by the way, it's cleverness that keeps Shelby before the reading eye of the state, for it's cleverness in one form or another that makes good farmers, football players, statesmen and business men. And it is by these that Shelby and Cleveland are known to North Carolina.

WHY

HAS THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF SHELBY THOUSANDS OF ACCOUNTS AND RESOURCES OF OVER FOUR AND A HALF MILLION DOLLARS?

BECAUSE—

For more than twenty years it has been the friend of Cleveland county.

BECAUSE—

Every officer and clerk has the fact constantly in mind that the customer is the most important individual connected with the bank. They know the bank is not operated just to pay salaries, but to give a definite service.

BECAUSE—

This bank has to offer every line of legitimate banking service from making change to securing Foreign Exchange.

BECAUSE—

It is essentially a Shelby and Cleveland County institution, having the confidence and trust of the public over a long period. In fact over three generations.

FINALLY—

The big outstanding reason why this bank has thousands of depositors is because it has wanted them and worked unceasingly for them! No account has ever been too small to receive careful attention. We appreciate small accounts! Every customer means another ardent supporter. The money value of an account has always been subordinate to the useful service able to be rendered to the public.
