Retired Minister Tells How He Keeps in Good Form With the Assistance of Black-Draught.

West Graham, Va.—The Rev. Lewis Evans, a well-known retired minister, now past 80, living here, has a high opinion of Black-Draught, which he says he has taken when needed, for 25 years.

"For years I had been suffering with my liver," he says. "Sometimes the pain would be very intense and my back would hurt all the time. Black-Draught was the first thing I found that would give me any relief."

"My liver has always been sluggish. Sometimes it gives me a lot of trouble. I have suffered a lot with it—pains in my side and back, and had headache, caused from extreme biliousness."

"After I found Black-Draught, I would begin to take it as soon as I felt a spell coming on and it relieved the cause at once. I can recommend it to anybody suffering from liver trouble. A dose or two now and then keeps me in good form."

Made from selected medicinal roots and herbs, and containing no dangerous mineral drugs, Black-Draught is nature's own remedy for a tired, lazy liver. NC-166

Get set! Things political is the next number on the program for Greater Shelby. Candidates are already being advanced by their supporters—and all the supporters are not of the Boston or Ivory variety.

Now, since the pot is boiling our candidate for mayor is — the one that will win. We'll announce him first thing day after the election. If you want to be conservative and on the right side just wait for the announcement.

Until then there's a lot of good advertising space in the Twinkler that might be used for boosting prospective candidates. It's a good way to put your man on the map. And Star advertising will do it. If you're inclined to doubt try losing a ten-dollar bill and advertising the fact in the Twinkler and see how many people will start looking for it—course they'd be looking so they could return it. But don't forget there are two departments of a newspaper—news and advertising. Just like pigs get to be hogs, news eventually at times graduates into advertising.

In referring to the search for the ten-dollar bill it came to us: If Diogenes, the guy who lugged around a lantern looking for an honest man, were living today perhaps he would confine his search to the electric light meter.

There is a town in upper Cleveland entitled Toluca, and it is spelled "T-O-L-U-C-A," or more generally so, yet on the business corner of Shelby's court square, just in front of the First National Bank, it is misspelled. An informing state highway marker has it "19 miles to TOLUKA." You've probably passed the sign 140 or more times. Have you ever noticed the misspelled word?

And along comes something that reminds us of the "20 Years Ago" column. It's a commonplace thing nowadays to see second-hand cars advertised and we had about reached the conclusion that shoes are never worn out anymore since everybody seems to be riding or flivvering. But, in the program of "In Wrong—So Long," local musical comedy, Sellers & Dayberry, well known Shelby Shu Fixers, announce that they have second hand shoes for sale. Now don't that jolt you? There must be some still walking—perhaps the not because of necessity, but to reduce.

There's not much difference in horses and automobiles anyway. In yе olden days when father came to town he drove the horse up to a post and hitched him with a rope and chain. The other day a typical son motored into Shelby, drove up to the curb in front of one of the Whiteway posts, scuttled a chain and lock out of the rear seat and "hitched up" to the light post. The only difference was that son had a lock.

Wouldn't the lively thud (if a thud can be lively) of horsehide rebounding from the polished wood of a Louisville Slugger sound rather tempting? It's just one of the feelings that come with early spring. And as a matter of interest baseball is being talked in Shelby. The talk, which was carried on at intervals through the winter, seems to center around a semi-pro or amateur league somewhat like the one in Eastern Carolina, or the Carolina circuit in South Carolina. The gossip has it that the league might be made up from the following towns: Hickory, Shelby, Castonia, York, Gaffney, Forest City, Morganton and perhaps others. Such a circuit apparently could be put over and would create much interest in the national pastime hereabouts. Anyone interested in starting something definite might let it be known around the American Legion club room or any of the drug stores.

A farmer coming to Shelby the other day had a wreck and on reaching his destination here is said to have remarked "That chickens in the than chickens in the road." He, however, did not have any chickens in his car, but the fellow he collided with did.

We noticed an editorial paragraph some time back that read: "The older they get the longer they primp—male and female alike." Which is easily explained—the older they get the more they need it.
