

OTHER PASTORS AND CHURCHES JOIN IN APPEAL FOR SABBATH RESPECT

First Baptist, Elizabeth Baptist and Methodist Protestant Pastors Denounce Sunday Desecration. Resolutions Are Passed

The movement for more reverence for the Sabbath day in this section gained added impetus Sunday when other churches, pastors and congregations in Shelby and over the county joined in asking a more strict observance for Sunday.

At the union service at the First Baptist church Sunday evening Dr. Albert L. Lemons spoke strongly on the present day desecration of the Lord's day and touched upon modern immorality in general, while at the central Methodist Rev. A. L. Stansfield used again as his subject "Sabbath Observance." At the Elizabeth Baptist church, of which Rev. H. E. Waldrop is pastor, following the service the church congregation united in resolutions supporting the stand taken on the preceding Sunday by Rev. Mr. Stanford in pleading for more respect for the Sabbath day.

To Create Sentiment.
At the Shelby Methodist Protestant church the pastor, Rev. C. B. Day, used as his subject for his Sunday morning sermon "The Proper Respect for the Seventh Day," and following the sermon the following resolutions unanimously were passed by the congregation:

1.—That we endorse the movement recently inaugurated in Shelby for a more strict observance of the Christian Sabbath.

2.—That we heartily unite our efforts to help create a sentiment in favor of closing public swimming pools, golf links and stores (except for the sale of medicines,) on the Christian Sabbath.

3.—We deplore the tendency of many people to hold birthday celebrations on Sunday, with their attendant crowds of people and the indulgence of pleasure, resulting in most cases the neglect of Divine worship.

4.—We unitedly pledge our moral support to the movement which has been launched for the strict observance of the Sabbath Day in Shelby and Cleveland county.

5.—We urge the people to cease from all things that desecrate the Sabbath and further urge a strict observance of the Lord's Day in the keeping of the laws of God and the laws of the state.

Australia Hears

This is Constance Talmadge. She is talking over the radio at Hollywood at 3 a. m. Her voice is carried immediately to Australia. But folks over there hear the voice at 9 p. m. in an autumn month. Difference in time and seasons is the explanation.

Today one may not be lucky to be alive, but Knox Hardin says if one be a pedestrian it proves one is agile, at least.

He Ought to Know.

Foley: What makes you so sure that you cannot afford to own a car?

Bowles: Because I have one.

Some blowouts make a lot of noise, says W. K. Misenheimer and others are held on the quiet.

"How long did it take your wife to learn how to drive an automobile?" "It will be ten years in September."

The motorist of yesteryear spent a lot of time under the car, but he wasn't pinned there.

Bam!

The saddest we know is the noise we hear when tires let go.

A spendthrift, according to some people, is a man who buys a home when he hasn't a single auto.

Katie: Say Jack, how did you get that red on your lip?
Jack: That's my tag for parking too long in one place.

With everyone seemingly buying on time payment, says Mel Hopper, the average motor car might as well be known as a covered wagon.

The coast-to-coast tourist surveyed his car in disgust—dead as the mah jongg craze and no tool kit to fix it with.

He turned to the crowd.
"Has anyone here got a monkey wrench?"

"Naw," came the chorus, "we raise cattle out here; it's too darned cold for a monkey ranch."

Noah certainly stored a lot of trouble when he allowed those two Fords to get aboard the ark with the other animals.

Never mind! When every one else owns an auto, you will be able to get a seat in the street car.

Rents wouldn't be unfairly high, thinks Will Metcalf if the landlord would deduct the time we are out in the car.

The confirmed city man is anxious to get near to nature but he wishes to do so in a closed car and a steam heated cabin.

Speaking of auto suggestion, says Max Washburn, the man driving the family car usually gets more than enough from the rear seat.

Breakers ahead for motor car manufacturers are sighted. "We notice," says J. C. McNeely "that the brilliant colors worn by women this spring have a tendency to make them walk instead of driving the car. Car manufacturers probably will start a movement to get them back to the old blacks and blues."

Fable: Once there was a taxicab driver who carefully washed his license plates before starting out each morning.

"Now I want a very careful chauffeur—one who does not take the slightest risks," warned the would-be employer.

"I'm your man, sir" answered the applicant. "Can I have my salary in advance?"

There was a man under the car away back in 1900; but it was the driver, not a pedestrian.

One objection to grade crossings is that express trains won't wait.

Stameys To Put On Sale at Polkville

The Stamey company advertises in this issue of The Star a big ten-day sale at their store at Polkville, recently purchased from A. B. C. DeWitt. The sale starts Saturday July 18, and will be featured by a balloon ascension in the morning.

The merchandise which will be placed on sale includes the entire DeWitt stock together with a lot of new and up-to-date merchandise purchased especially for this sale, all to be sold at reduced prices during the 10 days, the purpose being to clear up the stock for the new fall lines.

The Newspaper Game.

The list of veteran newspaper men—men who have been at the helm continuously for 25 years or more—grows. Last week the number reached seven and now are added the names of Thomas R. Daring, editor of the Charleston Evening Post and A. M. Grist, of the Yorkville Enquirer. Mr. Grist, who succeeded his brother, the lamented W. D. Grist who died last March, has been in the game 38 years. There are approximately 150 active newspaper writers in the state and only 10 out of the 150 have seen 25 years of continuous service. The newspaper is the most exacting of taskmasters and the man who lacks the courage to stick would do well to stay out of the game.—Dillon Herald.
